NEW TAX LAW WILL ENFORCE WAR ECONOMY

Measure Is Aimed at Waste "Akin to Treason."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—Taxes on luxuries and not a few necessities for the double barreled purpose of filling the national war chest and enforcing wartime economy and thrift are proposed in a list of taxation suggestions submitted by the treasury department to the ways and means committee of the house today.

Pronouncing extravagance and waste "akin to treason," the department proposes war taxes on the higher priced grades of men's, women's, and children's clothing, furniture, toilet articles, hotel bills, gasoline, purses, and handbags.

Hits Autos and Jewelry.

A high tax on the employment of non-household servants and more than one female servant is one of the new features of the anti-extravagance program sketched by the treasury.

Greatly increased taxes on automobiles, jewelry, musical instruments, telephone and telegraph messages, soft drinks, liquors, and tobacco are also proposed.

The treasury recommends two classes of taxes. In one class would be taxes paid by the consumer on articles purchased at retail. In the other would be taxes paid by the manufacturer or wholesaler and paid indirectly by the consumer in the shape of higher prices.

Wearing Apparel Taxes.

Here are the taxes suggested by the treasury, which are to be paid by the buyer.

Fifty percent on the retail price of jewelry, including watches and clocks, except those sold to army officers.

Twenty per cent on automobiles, trailers, and truck units, motorcycles, bicycles, tires, and musical instruments.

A tax on all men's suits selling for more than $30, hats costing over $4, coats over $2, pajamas over $2, hosiery over 25 cents, shoes over $5, gloves over $2, underwear more than $3, and all neckwear and canes.

Taxes on women's suits costing more than $40, coats more than $30, ready made dresses more than $25, skirts over $8, hats over $10, shoes over $6, hosiery over $5, corsets over $5, silk clothing over $1.50 a yard, cotton over 8 cents a yard, and wools over $2 a yard. All furs, boas, and fans.

All Café Bills Included.

Taxes on children's clothing, including suits costing over $15, cotton dresses over $3, linen dresses over $5, silk and wool dresses over $8, hats over $4, shoes over $4, and gloves over $2.

Taxes on house furnishings, including ornamental lamps and fixtures, all bath linen, cutlery, silverware, china, and cut glass, all furniture in sets for which more than $5 is paid for each piece; curtains costing over $2 per yard and on tapestries, rugs, and carpets costing over $5 per square yard.

Taxes on all purses, pocketbooks, handbags, brushes, combs, toilet articles, and all mirrors costing over $2.

Ten per cent on the collections from the sales of vending machines.

Ten per cent on all hotel bills amounting to more than $2.50 a room and on more than $5 a day per person, American plan.

The present tax of 10 per cent on theater bills would be extended to the entire restaurant or café bills.

Double Telephone Taxes.

Following are the taxes to be paid by the manufacturer, producer, or dealer: Ten cents a gallon on all gasoline to be paid by the wholesale dealer.

Double the present tax on telephone and telegraph messages costing more than 15 cents. A 10 per cent tax on leased wires.

Higher Movie Payments.

Quadruple the present levies on soft drinks. Syrups and extracts now taxed 8 cents a gallon would be taxed 20 cents; those paying 8 cents to be increased to 32 cents; those paying 10 cents to be increased to 40 cents, and those paying 30 cents to be raised to 60 cents. Mineral waters now paying 1 cent a gallon would be taxed 16 cents. Chewing gum now taxed 2 per cent of the selling price to pay 1 cent on each 5 cent package.

With regard to motion picture taxes the treasury department suggested the

FRENCH VICTORS AT VITAL POINT ON BATTLE LINE

(By the Associated Press.)

While waiting for the German high command to begin its assault, the allied forces on the western front are giving the enemy little opportunity to perfect his arrangements. From the Lys sector, on the north, to the Champagne front, in eastern France, there has been thrusts at the German lines, at least one of which has made considerable ground.

This particular blow was struck by the French west of the Oise and north of the Matz river, on the battlefield where the Germans were stopped short in their attempt to hew their way through to Compeigne early in June.

The French advanced along the Compeigne road northwest of Antheuil and occupied the Loge and Porte farms on each side of the highway. The ground they have taken is important from a defensive standpoint.

The French and Italians are making rapid strides on the Albanian coast since their assaults were launched north of Aviona on July 6. Strong Austrian positions have been stormed, and it appears that the allies have been successful in turning the Austrian right wing.

An official statement from Rome says that Italian cavalry have gained the Austrian rear and destroyed bridges across the Semini river, which parallels the Voyusa, where the attack was begun. This marks an advance of about fifteen miles.

Gen. Pershing's official statement of operations along the sectors held by Americans makes especial mention of heavy German troop movements near Mulhouse, in Alsace.

'SACRIFICED MAGYAR ARMY ON THE PIAVE'

Accuse Austria of Plan to Wipe Out Hungarians.

BY AUSTIN WEST.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1918.]

MILAN, July 9.—Important confessions about the frightful Hungarian losses in the battle of the Piave are published in the parliamentary reports of a batch of Budapest journals to hand here today. The speeches in question have been forbidden in the Vienna press through the action of the Austrian censor. Deputy Abraham said:

"The losses sustained by the Hungarian element this time have been enormous. Trustworthy information shows the Hungarians constituted 68 per cent of our forces on the Italian front, whereas their due proportion should have been only 20 per cent. The behavior of our command during the war proves it has always aimed at the complete destruction of the Hungarian units.

"In the districts inhabited by the Szeklers race, similar to the Hungarians in Transylvania, no males are now to be found under 60. Our war ought to have been defensive, and we should have avoided adventurous attacks that culminated in disaster."

Hungarians "Utterly Annihilated."

Deputy Fennys declared:

"Whatever devices the minister of national defense may take to belittle the facts, it is now demonstrated that during the Piave fighting numerous Hungarian regiments underwent colossal losses, where, forsooth, they were not utterly annihilated. The truth is very different from what official communiqués would fain make us believe.

"The railways are transporting the wounded by thousands to the hospitals beyond the Danube, and even those of the capital are overcrowded with patients. Officers and soldiers arriving from the Piave, who have no interest in lying, affirm without hesitation that the Thirty-second, Thirty-ninth, Forty-fourth, Forty-sixth, and Sixty-ninth infantry regiments were completely destroyed.

"Those who were not dead were abandoned wounded on the battlefield or were hemmed in by the river and deprived of munitions and victuals, and Vienna must be well aware that the Hungarian race is fast disappearing. Males are now to be found only in towns, for the villages are quite deserted."

Generals Sacrifice Men.

Speaking also of the earlier phase of the war, Deputy Abraham remarked:

"The Duberdo plateau, Mount San Michele, and Ursaek, were all hells for the Hungarians. Several generals commanding divisions even went so far as to bet heavily on the eventual losses of their corps, boasting openly that they wished to sacrifice the greatest possible number of men. Hungarian reinforcements departed for the front incessantly, as though Hungary were a bottomless well. We have always been the barracks of the monarchy.

Demand Equal Distribution.

"At Serdac, in Certhia, over half the soldiers of the Semogy regiments were abandoned on the field. Through the fault of the military commander our troops in Galicia had hardly stepped from the trains when they were riddled by the enemy artillery, and during the battle of Lusk the Eighty-first Transylvania infantry regiment was wiped out."

Both deputies insisted that the premier, Count Wekerle, should take urgent measures to insure the distribution of Hungarians in the first lines in proportion to the total population of the Magyar nationality.

HUNGER GAINS IN AUSTRIA

PARIS, July 9.—The food shortage in Austria is growing more acute, according to Herbert Mayer of Chicago, secretary of Charles J. Vopicka of Chicago, American minister to Roumania. Mr. Mayer has just returned from Jassy, by way of Austria and Switzerland, under safe conduct.

At Vienna the train on which he traveled stopped in the railroad yard and a crowd of hungry and ragged men

Hintze to Be Hun Foreign Secretary

COPENHAGEN, July 9.—Emperor William has consented to the resignation of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, the Wolff news bureau of Berlin says it is reliably reported.

Von Hintze Successor?

PARIS, July 9.—The German emperor has accepted the resignation of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, according to a Basel dispatch to the Havas agency. It is expected that Admiral von Hintze, the German minister at Christiania and formerly minister to Mexico, will succeed him.

"Hintze Notorious Intriguer."

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1918.]

LONDON, July 9.—The Chronicle, dealing with the career of Admiral von Hintze, who is mentioned as the probable successor to Von Kuehlmann, says Von Hintze is perhaps the most notorious intriguer in the German diplomatic service. China has been the scene of much of his activity, and there he hobnobbed not only with the Germanophile mandarins but also with the robber bands and spies.

So scandalous indeed was his behavior that he was recalled for a while and at the outbreak of the war he was in Mexico. In the guise of an Englishman he managed to return to Germany by way of the United States, England, and Holland, and in 1915 was sent back to China as minister.

He traveled once more by the way of America and despite the close watch for him which was kept by the Japanese he managed to get across the Pacific as a supercargo in a Sandinavian tramp steamer.

WRECKED BY SPEECH.

Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann became foreign minister Aug. 6, 1917, succeeding Dr. Alfred F. M. Zimmermann, whose retirement closely followed the exposure of his plot to involve the United States in war with Mexico and Japan in the event that this country showed any inclination to join the entente allies. Dr. von Kuhlmann's conduct of the foreign office appeared to be more than usually successful until June 25 last, when he appeared before the reichstag to discuss the political aspects of the situation facing Germany. During his address he said:

"In view of the magnitude of this war, and the number of powers, including those from overseas, that are engaged, its end can hardly be expected through purely military decisions alone and without recourse to diplomatic negotiations."

This statement, which flatly contradicted speeches by the German emperor, who only a short time before had referred to peace being won by "the strong German sword," was received with consternation in the reichstag and with sharp criticism by the country. It was later reported that Dr. von Kuehlmann's words had been approved by Gen. Ludendorff, the German commander on the western front.

Friction with Crown Prince.

This brought to notice rumors of friction between Ludendorff and the German crown prince and his coterie, who comprise the radical pan-Germanic elements in official circles.

Soon after the address in the reichstag it became common knowledge that Dr. von Kuehlmann's retirement from office would be forthcoming. Some reports were to the effect that his address was intended to inform the German people that their armies could not win the war, and was delivered with the cognizance of the emperor, who, when he saw what a storm had been stirred up, resolved to make Von Kuehlmann the scapegoat.

WILSON LAYS RUSSIA PLAN BEFORE JAPAN

War Council Decides Czecho-Slavs Must Be Helped.

BULLETIN.

AMSTERDAM, July 10.—Simultaneously with the establishment of the White sea republic, according to advices from Moscow, another state was created in the north of Russia under the name of the Vologdaczhe republic. It comprises all of northeastern Russia, from the White sea to the Asiatic frontier. The Vologdaczhe republic is said to be in sympathy with the aims of the entente allies.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—Further evidence that President Wilson is maturing a policy covering intervention in Russia to drive out the Germans was furnished today, when it was learned that he invited Viscount Ishii, the Japanese ambassador, to the White House for a conference on the question.

Although the utmost secrecy prevails in regard to the conference, it is known that the Russian situation was the subject of discussion and it is assumed in diplomatic circles that the president laid before the ambassador the conclusions reached at the White House meeting last Saturday.

Tells U. S. Attitude?

It is surmised in some diplomatic quarters that President Wilson requested Ambassador Ishii to acquaint his government with the fact that the United States favors the principle of military assistance to Russia.

It is believed the president also wants to obtain from Tokio the Japanese government's views of the immediate military action that is practicable on the part of Japan, including the number of troops which might be engaged in an expedition into Siberia, the distance it might penetrate, the extent of Chinese coöperation, and what collaboration by the American government is desirable.

Czechs Need Quick Help.

The situation of the 50,000 Czecho-Slovak troops in Russia, who are at the present time holding Vladivostok, Irkutsk, and Samara, shortly will become critical, it was learned on the highest authority, unless relief is instantly given to them.

It is understood that the plight of the Czecho-Slovaks, disassociated from the political phases of the Russian question, was recently the subject of study before the allied supreme war council at Versailles, which was attended, among others, by the premiers of France, England, and Italy, and Gen. Foch, and that the opinion of the council was that unless the Czecho-Slovaks should be rescued by the allies they would be slaughtered.

Japan Has Necessary Army.

Japan is in a position to act with force to save the Czecho-Slovak troops, who already control one-half of Siberia with a handful of soldiers, half organized and not fully armed. Japan is able immediately to throw into Siberia a sufficient number of troops to create a front behind which the proally and loyal Russians might organize and equip an army.

It is believed, therefore, that President Wilson has decided that the present moment is propitious for carrying into execution both projects, the relief of the Czecho-Slovaks and the creation of a new Russian front. It was recalled today that in the representations made previously to Japan concerning the Russian situation the United States maintained that the moment then was not propitious and indicated this government's fear that intervention at that time would have been of benefit to the central powers.

QUICK ACTION, PARIS SAYS

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1918.]

PARIS, July 9.—Actual military intervention in Russia will follow quickly upon political agreements by the allies that it should be undertaken, and agreement as to the desired objects. There will be no delay in organizing the expeditionary force.

There are two phases to the question. One is the much talked of intervention by way of Siberia to provide a medium for allied troops, around which the

SUICIDE JACKIE'S EPITAPH A PLEA FOR OLD GLORY

Laurence L. Schwab, a storekeeper at the Great Lakes station, who took poison in the Hotel La Salle the night of July 4, died last night in the Marine hospital.

After he had swallowed the poison Schwab apparently swung out his arm and knocked the phone receiver off the hook. The hotel operator could not get an answer to the signal and sent the house detective to Schwab's room. In this manner the suicide was discovered.

Young Schwab left several notes, one to the authorities saying he wished all his personal effects to go to his parents, Louis C. and Carrie M. Schwab. Another note said he was "doing this last act in his natural life of his own free will," and counseled his shipmates to "keep Old Glory at the top." The note addressed to the "boys at Great Lakes" is dated 10:10 p. m., July 4, and reads as follows:

"Boys, I am going into a battle that none of you have ever faced and am going into it for the best, and you boys, brother shipmates, go into your battle with our common foes, the Germans, with the one thought in mind and that is to keep Old Glory on top. Good luck to you all and that you may return safe and victorious.

"LAURENCE L. SCHWAB.

"P. S. I was true American. I am dying brave and without fear."

Schwab enlisted on Dec. 21, 1917, from 5208 South Park avenue.

Air Mail Carrier Flies 90 Miles in 47 Minutes

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—The lane followed by planes in the air mail service between Belmont park and Philadelphia is ninety miles in length. Lieut. Torrey H. Webb flew the distance in 47 minutes today in bringing the mail from Philadelphia. His speed averaged more than 114 miles an hour.

Worth Bagley Daniels Now at Naval Academy

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—Worth Bagley Daniels, second son of the secretary of the navy, was admitted to the naval academy at Annapolis today. Young Daniels, who is 18 years old, was appointed by Senator Overman of North Carolina.

Billy Sunday at Rochester to Undergo an Operation

Rochester, Minn., July 9.—Billy Sunday, the evangelist, came here today to undergo an operation at a hospital. It was learned that Sunday has been suffering from hernia. Mrs. Sunday accompanies her husband.

BERNHARD BREWS NEW BRAND OF GERMAN PEACE

COPENHAGEN, July 9.—While claiming no official sanction and even admitting that their realization would encounter strong opposition from the German government and people, George Bernhard, political editor of the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, submits the following peace conditions:

France and Italy to discuss with Germany and Austria their future frontiers without the intervention of third parties.

All the German colonies to be returned.

Belgium to be restored completely and as an independent state.

All merchants of the central powers who have been deprived of their property overseas to be restored to their former rights of possession.

Great Britain to evacuate unconditionally all parts of the Turkish empire and Persia.

The situation before the war to be restored in Egypt.

The Dardanelles, on the basis of a treaty applying to the states bordering the Black sea, to be free for the passage of Russian ships.

Bernhard says the time is now ripe to discuss peace.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes Renews "Profiteer" Talk

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, who is here on bail, spoke at a meeting tonight reaffirming what she had written for the Kansas City Star. Especially did she state that "no government which was for the people could be for the profiteers; that no government which was for the profiteers could be for the people; and that this government was for the profiteers."

"I would be happier spending my days in jail," Mrs. Stokes declared, "than be on the side of a government that could find it in its heart to put 4,000 lovers of humanity in prison. The press said I went to Kansas City with the express purpose of spreading sedition and tearing down the morale of the army and navy; I went to uplift it."

Boy Shot by Policeman June 13 Dies of Wounds

Joseph Kenny, 17 years old, of 941 Orleans street, died last night at the Alexian Brothers hospital from wounds. He was shot by Lincoln Park Policeman Harry G. Morley following a row over a decision made in a baseball game at Seward park. The policeman charged that Kenny twice attacked him.

$7,500 DIAMONDS STOLEN IN STORE

Fifteen unset diamonds valued at $7,500 were stolen yesterday by a man and woman from H. C. Kionka & Co., diamond dealers, 29 East Monroe street, out of a box containing diamonds valued at $75,000.

The two entered the company's rooms shortly after noon and said they wished to buy an unset diamond for a ring. The clerk took a tin box containing unset diamonds valued at $75,000 from the vault and put it on a showcase before the prospective customers.

They said they did not like the diamonds they were looking at and the clerk went to get another box. It was not until half an hour after the two had left that it was discovered the diamonds had been stolen.

Glimpse of U. S. Troops Cheers Lloyd George

LONDON, July 9.—At a complimentary dinner to the Rev. Dr. J. H. Jowett, former pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church of New York, given at the house of commons tonight, Premier Lloyd George expressed greater confidence than ever in the issue of the war. The premier added "I am confident for reasons which it would not be relevant to enter upon. But one of the latest reasons is the impression made upon me by the American troops I saw in France."

DUNKIRK NOW NO PLACE FOR NEURASTHENICS

DUNKIRK, France, July 9.—This city on the North sea coast of France holds the record for having been bombarded from land, sea and air. It has received bombs from airplanes, aerial torpedoes from dirigibles, shells from German destroyers, and projectiles from 14 inch guns.

The number of alarms up to July 4 totaled 400. They consisted of alarms without projectiles reaching the city, 211; alarms followed by air bombardment, 159; land bombardments, 25; sea bombardments, 4, and dirigible bombardment, 1.

Paris Bombarded 39 Days.

PARIS, July 9.—The Temps in a summary of the aerial and long range bombardments carried out by the Germans on Paris and suburbs, says the first successful raid of importance took place on the night of Jan. 30-31 last, when fifty-five persons were killed and 203 were wounded. Up to June 30, 1918, there were twenty raids by Gothas and the bombardment by the long range guns comprised thirty-nine days.

In the period from Jan. 1 to June 30, the killed numbered 141 and the wounded 432, according to the official statements. These totals, however, did not include persons who subsequently died from wounds nor the sixty-six persons who were crushed to death in a panic during a raid March 11.

Maj. Waldorf Astor Slated for Food Secretaryship

LONDON, July 10.—Maj. the Hon. Waldorf Astor, son of Viscount Astor of Hever castle (William Waldorf Astor), the morning newspapers forecast, will succeed J. R. Clynes as parliamentary secretary to the food ministry. Clynes has been appointed to succeed the late Baron Rhondda as food controller.

Maj. Waldorf Astor was born in the United States in 1879 and his wife was the former Miss Nancy Langhorne of Virginia. He became a British citizen at about the same time as his father, in 1899. He was elected to parliament from Plymouth in December, 1910, as a Unionist, and has sat for that constituency since. In January, 1917, Maj. Astor became one of the secretaries of Prime Minister Lloyd George.

Merchant Ship News Now Prohibited in Spain

MADRID, July 9.—Publication of any news of the movement of merchantmen is prohibited beginning today. This is the first application of the new anti-spy law.

Russians themselves may reorganize to fight the Germans and get rid of the Bolsheviki. But no less interesting and significant is the extreme likelihood of sending allied troops to the Murman coast to prevent the Germans from getting the Arctic port of St. Catherine.

This is Finnish territory, and German operations in Finland with the connivance of the reactionary element in that country are daily becoming more menacing. The enemy's purpose is to get not only St. Catherine on the Murman coast, but Archangel itself, and the shores of the White sea. This would give the enemy a new submarine base and cut off all communications by the Arctic between Russia and the allies.

Have Invited Intervention.

The people of northern Finland, who are not pro-German, have already asked the allies to save them from enemy invasion and to prevent the capture of the St. Catherine port; so no question is involved in the Arctic phase of intervention as to what the desire of the native population may be.

Furthermore, preparations have been made for a Murman coast expedition participated in by all the allies, so there can be no doubt in any quarter as to the political safety of the enterprise for the country to be rescued from further German invasion.

The most significant fact concerning the Arctic ocean phase is the permitted publication in Paris today of a dispatch from Copenhagen stating that supplies from the United States already have arrived on the Murman coast.

Alexander Kerensky appeared before the parliamentary committee on action abroad today and explained the situation in Russia. The former Russian premier suggested immediate intervention by the allies. M. Franklin-Bouillon, president of the committee, said all parties wished to continue considering Russia as an ally.

Socialists Issue Appeal.

Albert Thomas issued an urgent appeal today in behalf of the Socialists of France and Russia to the allies to intervene in Russia immediately. He took the assassination of Count Mirbach as a text and not only justified but praised the killing of the ambassador at Moscow.

"If the Brest-Litovsk treaty had been recognized by the Russian people," he said, "or even if Germany had respected the terms of that treaty, the killing of Mirbach would have been difficult to justify. But instead Germany imposes a régime of brutality. I interpret the assassination as proof that there are in Russia strong men determined to save the country from German domination and to save the revolution.

"If formerly the allies could justify their own inactivity in Russia by the inactivity of the Russians themselves they can do so no longer. Russia is acting and now the allies should act with her.

Must Follow Wilson's Plan.

"But, above all, the allies must fix clearly the conditions of intervention. President Wilson has declared himself for a régime of democracy and liberty in Russia. No innovation that might have as a hidden object the reëstablishment of former Russian conditions of force and domination could have Mr. Wilson's support.

"But, having decided on the character of intervention satisfactory to Mr. Wilson and ourselves, having determined the composition of the expeditionary troops, having agreed that intervention is only to drive out the Germans and reëstablish an eastern front, and not to interfere in Russian interior politics, we should act quickly. Help Russia now."

NEED 300,000 ALLIED TROOPS

LONDON, July 10.—"With 1,000,000 men, of whom 300,000 only need be allied troops, it would be possible to reconstruct the eastern front on a line running through the Ural mountains," according to Lieut. Gen. Horvath, vice president and general manager of the Chinese Eastern railway, says a dispatch to the Mail from Harbin under date of June 29. Gen. Horvath, who, as chief director of the Chinese Eastern railway in 1904, was responsible for transporting Russian armies over the Siberian railway to the battlefields of the Russo-Japanese war, continued:

"Intervention is unavoidable. The actions of the German and Austrian prisoners are undoubtedly a part of the German scheme to possess the whole of Russia, especially western Siberia with its important resources. They are acting in collusion with the Bolsheviki, one-tenth of whom are fools and the rest knaves.

"Japan must supply the bulk of the allied troops for intervention. The other allies must supply money, locomotives, and material, the latter presumably being the part expected of the Americans. Harbin and Vladivostok would be the two bases. Any American or even British divisions, supposing such would be sent, would come to Vladivostok.

Would Welcome Intervention.

"The people of Russia are longing for order. Allied intervention would be welcomed everywhere. It is quite possible that if a decision is delayed much longer the Russians, tired of Bolshevik excesses, may in despair appeal to the Germans to save them from anarchy."

Gen. Horvath calculates a formidable army could be placed in the Urals in four months, and, as order is restored, Siberian volunteers and other Russians would flock to join the colors, until the requisite million is reached. He believes it quite possible for an allied army to live upon the country.

"If a less ambitious allied expedition, only as far as Irkutsk, is proposed," he said, "it would yield valuable results and have an immense moral effect on the Russian people, encouraging them to reconstitute a military force themselves."

42 DRAFT AGE MEN 'FIRED' FROM CREEL'S BUREAU

Washington, D. C., July 9.—George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information, announced tonight that as the result of the reduction by congress of the amount of the appropriation requested by the committee he has abolished the divisions of women's war work and of syndicate features.

Mr. Creel also made it known that forty-two men of draft age employed by the committee have been dismissed because congress stipulated that none of the funds should be used to pay men of draft age unless they had been disqualified for military service because of physical disability.

The majority of the men affected, the chairman said, were in deferred classification by reason of dependents. Only in three instances, Mr. Creel said, had deferred classification been requested.

CZECHO-SLAVS TAKE SIBERIAN NAVAL STATION

Seize Port on Amur River and Also Capture Two Towns on Volga.

SHANGHAI, July 9.—[By Associated Press.]—After disarming the Bolshevik forces at Vladivostok, says a dispatch from Vladivostok dated July 5, the Czecho-Slovaks advanced to the westward, defeated a mixed force of Bolsheviki and Austro-German prisoners, and occupied Nikolayevsk, a naval station on the Amur river.

Capture Bolshevik Supplies.

TOKIO, July 9.—[By United Press.]—Czecho-Slovak troops, advancing toward Nikolayevsk and Havarovsk, have clashed with the Red Guards, says an official statement issued by the Japanese war office. The Czechs have been materially strengthened by the capture of the bulk of Bolshevik provisions and munitions in Siberia, the statement adds.

Take Towns Near Volga.

AMSTERDAM, July 9.—[By United Press.]—Czech forces have occupied Syzran and Mosslim, a Berlin dispatch announced today.

[Syzran and Mosslim are near the Volga river, about 300 miles southeast of Nijni-Novgorod.]

80,000 Czechs in Russia.

TOKIO, Thursday, July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—Col. Vladimir Hurban, a member of the national Czecho-Slovak council, has arrived in Tokio from Vladivostok. He will leave shortly for the United States to discuss the Siberian situation with the Washington government.

Col. Hurban told the correspondent that the action taken by the Czecho-Slovaks in assuming control at Vladivostok was the inevitable result of unjustified attacks by the Bolsheviki and the deliberate attempts of the latter to aid Austro-German prisoner forces in preventing the Czecho-Slovaks from moving toward Vladivostok.

The number of Czecho-Slovaks was estimated by Col. Hurban as 80,000, of whom 15,000 were in Vladivostok. The colonel considers that it will be necessary to occupy the Transsiberian railway line from the Volga to Vladivostok together with the town of Irkutsk, for an indefinite period until allied assistance can be sent or a responsible government organized.

The American and Japanese Red Cross organizations here have received an urgent call for help from the Czecho-Slovaks in Siberia. Dr. Rudolph Tensler and Mrs. Tensler have left hurriedly for Vladivostok to investigate conditions in response to the call.

Led by French General.

LONDON, July 9.—Statements attributed by the Cologne Gazette to a German described as holding for many years a distinguished position in the far east and who lately traveled from China to Germany across Siberia are printed in the Times. The German is very contemptuous of Gen. Semenoff's Cossacks, but writes with great respect of the Czecho-Slovaks, who, he says, are not destined for the French front, but are to be used exclusively against the Russian Bolsheviki.

The German says he saw 10,000 Czecho-Slovaks on the Amur railway and was told there were nearly 50,000 Czecho-Slovaks altogether in Siberia. He describes the 10,000 whom he met as splendid material, well fed and well clothed, but not armed. No arms, at any event, were visible even among the officers. He was informed the whole force was commanded by a French general. The subsequent occupation of Omsk showed, says the writer, that more Czecho-Slovaks had arrived since he passed through Siberia.

Arrest Kerensky Ministers.

PARIS, July 9.—[Havas Agency.]—Several prominent members of the Kerensky cabinet were among the alleged leaders of the revolt in Moscow arrested by the Bolsheviki, according to dispatches received by Paris newspapers. The men taken included M. Tseretelli, former minister of the interior; M. Tchernoff, former minister of agriculture; M. Skobeleff, former minister of labor, and Gen. Savinkoff, former war minister.

Dispatches of German origin report the receipt of a Russian wireless communication announcing that a state of siege had been declared in Moscow, but adding that the Bolsheviki were in complete control of the situation.

The message declared the object of the revolutionists was to bring about the abrogation of the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty. The social revolutionists, it was added, tried to induce the railway workers to strike, but failed.

GERMANS STRIVE TO MAKE FRIENDS OF ROUMANIANS

PARIS, July 9.—There has been an influx of German commercial agents and business men into Jassy, the little Moldavian capital. Five new moving picture theaters have been opened and many retail establishments reopened, but with extremely slender stocks.

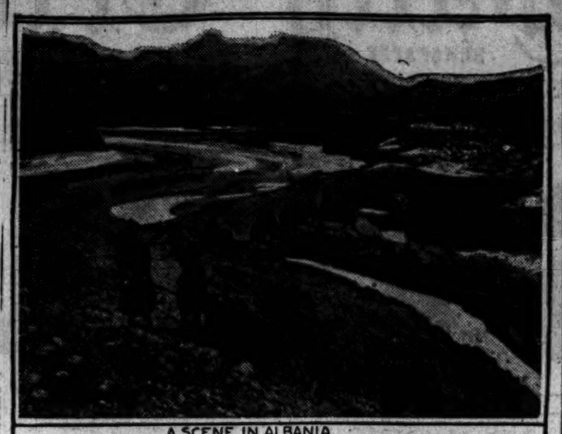
There are forty to fifty German military officers in Jassy, seeing that the Roumanian army is properly demobilized, and they are gradually preparing the people for complete German domination. The German officers are losing no chance to create a friendly feeling among the Roumanian military, German majors and even colonels invariably saluting Roumanian officers oftimes when the latter are merely sub-lieutenants.

The Roumanian queen has shown an intense dislike of the Germans and has repeatedly refused to grant an audience to any of them. She, the king, and the royal family are living in virtual seclusion at a little village in the Carpathian mountains, seventy-five miles from Jassy.

After the American Red Cross and other allied missions left Roumania there was a period of intense depression in Jassy. The queen kept to her bed three days.

"Am I a traitor? Do I deserve this?" she repeatedly cried, as she thought of the bitter fate that had befallen her brave little country.

SCENE OF ALLIED VICTORY



A SCENE IN ALBANIA

(A)—The allies' offensive in Albania is continuing, Rome announces. It is attracting unusual attention because it seems to be developing a real blow at the central empires in a new point. The large map shows the general Balkan front, and the small insert the scene of the recent action.

(1)—British monitors on the Adriatic coast are giving valuable aid to the land forces.

(2)—Italian cavalry worked around the Malacastra ridge between the mountains and the sea, took the enemy in the rear, and by destroying the bridges over the Semini river, forced the Austrians out of the town of Fieri.

(3)—Vienna admits reverses to the Austrian troops. There is reported to be fighting southwest of the important city of Berat.

(4)—Allied forces have captured important heights south of Mount Timor, in central Albania.

GERMAN PAPERS USE SATIRE TO KEEP UP SPIRITS

Scoff at Americans and Part They Play in Big War.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1918.]

THE HAGUE, July 9.—"Yankee Doodle" is the title given to an article in the Weiser Zeitung on the celebration of Independence day. Under the shrill cries of Yankee Doodle, the paper says, the free but unenlightened people of America talk themselves into a feverish war enthusiasm or are persuaded to.

"In the western districts, where they are not fond of words and prefer daring deeds, those fond of the sport of lynching are having a good time," it continues. "There is a short report made to the ladies and gentlemen that Neighbor Smith spoke German to Neighbor Muller. This is sufficient and the unfortunate citizens are forced to kiss the flag and buy a few hundred dollars' worth of the loan."

Says Troops Will Not Go.

Another article, entitled "Uncle Sam's Birthday," is by Col. Herwarth, former military attaché at Washington, who points out that it is difficult to understand how a practical people which produce a self-made man who strives for independence in private life should be suddenly blind to its own interests and should forget George Washington's creed.

The writer points out that oceans are nothing when it is a question of commerce and communication. "Our modern gray ships cross in a few days," he says, "but, militarily, the whole American continent from Hudson Bay to Cape Horn remains as isolated and unreachable as ever." He argues that Washington was right in speaking of "the detached, distant, peculiar" position of the United States.

If Americans are celebrating Independence day they are lying to themselves, "and as the burnt rockets fall about Washington monument and the White House garden, so the Americans will one day say of Wilson: 'He went up like a rocket, and came down like a stick! He promised everything and kept no promise. His words were big, but his horizon limited.'"

Sees Big "American Bluff."

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Publication in Swiss papers of the text of Secretary Baker's letter to President Wilson giving the American troop movements to Europe by months caused German authorities to permit its publication in Germany, according to a dispatch received from Berne.

The Kolnische Zeitung published the letter under the heading, "American Bluff," the dispatch says, and commented as follows:

"Mr. Baker thinks he will be able to dissipate all doubts about exactitude of his figures with his recitations. It is, however, only the usual American bluff. We know from reliable sources that the figures in question are inordinately exaggerated and in no way correspond with the truth."

Board of Trade Expels Old Member as Enemy

Albert F. Weinberger, a member of the Board of Trade for over forty years, was expelled yesterday under the alien enemy act. He came to America from Germany fifty years ago. He returned to Germany in 1914.

FOE SEAPLANES KILL 5 BRITONS ON SUBMARINE

LONDON, July 9.—A British submarine was slightly damaged and one officer and five men killed when the craft was attacked by German seaplanes off the east coast of England July 6, according to an admiralty statement issued today.

Clash at Mouth of Thames.

AMSTERDAM, July 9.—Two British submarines were badly damaged by bombs and machine gun fire during an encounter with German seaplanes on Saturday afternoon off the mouth of the Thames, according to an official statement issued at Berlin. The statement reads:

"Two squadrons of seaplanes severely damaged British submarines C-35 and C-51 by bombs and machine gun fire off the mouth of the Thames Saturday afternoon. Enemy destroyers endeavored to tow in the submarines, but the C-35, when last seen, was in a sinking condition."

DOWLING CALLS NO WITNESSES; DELAY VERDICT

LONDON, July 9.—The court martial of Corporal Joseph Dowling, who was seized by the British authorities on the Irish coast after landing in a German collapsible boat, was concluded today. The verdict will be promulgated later.

Corporal Dowling did not give any evidence in his own behalf or call any witnesses. His attorney, however, argued that the inducement the corporal offered to his men to join the Irish brigade while in Germany was to get out of Germany and to help his fellow countrymen to fight against Germany.

There was no evidence, the attorney said, that the prisoner endeavored to get into communication with any one after he had landed in Ireland. Dowling's army record, he pointed out, showed that he had served fourteen years and had never been convicted of any offense.

Registered Men May Not Choose Volunteer Service

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Instructions have been sent by Provost Marshal General Crowder to all local draft boards ordering the cessation of the privilege hitherto granted registered men of selecting the arm of the service in which they desire to enlist when volunteering.

It was learned officially, however, that no action has been taken to stop the voluntary enlistment in the navy of men of class 1.

Secretary Baker said today he had conferred with Maj. Gen. Crowder regarding this loss of draft men to the army, but that no decision had been reached to withdraw permission for such enlistments.

Round Up 1,000 Cleveland Youths as Slackers

Cleveland, O., July 9.—About 300 American Protective league operatives searched downtown Cleveland tonight for slackers. More than 1,000 youths between 21 and 31 were haled before the examining board. All poolrooms, saloons, and grills were temporarily put out of business by the raids.

ALLIES FLANK AUSTRIANS; TAKE ALBANIAN TOWN

Destroy Bridges Behind Enemy; Capture 1,300 Prisoners.

ROME, July 9.—The allied offensive in Albania is continuing, the war office announced today. New progress has been made along the left wing, on the Adriatic coast, the land forces being assisted by British monitors.

The Italian infantry captured the town of Fieri and took important heights. More than 1,300 prisoners were taken in the advance.

Italian cavalry flanked the Malacastro ridge, north of the lower Voyusa, between the western slopes of the ridge and the Adriatic, and getting around into the Austrian rear, destroyed bridges over the Semini river to the north.

The Official Story.

The statement says:

"The action in Albania is continuing. On the left wing, after artillery preparation in which monitors of the British navy took an effective part, the infantry, starting from the Lower Voyusa, carried after a bitter struggle the heights between Lavani and the Monastery of Pohani."

"Italian cavalry, passing between the wesetrn slopes of the Malacastro and the sea, daringly attacked the enemy rear and destroyed bridges over the Semini at Metali. Fieri (about eighteen miles north of Avlona, the Italian base on the Adriatic) has fallen into our hands. Very strong positions in Cafa Grava and Corocop, strenuously defended by the enemy, are in our possession.

"At the head of the Tomorica we have carried the contested heights of Cafa Devris. Our own and British airplanes lent aid during the fighting. The number of prisoners has risen to more than 1,300. The capture of guns, airplanes, and machine guns, numbers not specified, and a large quantity of booty is reported."

French Capture Heights.

PARIS, July 9.—French troops operating in Albania have captured all of Bofnia crest, the war office announced tonight. Attempts of the enemy to create a diversion on the Macedonian front were crushed. The official statement follows:

"Eastern theater, July 8—In the region included between the Devoli river and the Tomorica our troops completed their success, capturing after bitter fighting all of the Bofnia crest between Cafa Becit and Mali Gjarperit. We took 130 prisoners. On the left, Italian troops, operating in conjunction with ours, captured the heights of Cafa Devris and continue to advance on the left bank of the Tomorica."

"The enemy infantry and artillery displayed great activity on the Macedonian front, especially at the Cerna bend, where five groups of assaulting troops attempted to penetrate our lines, but were completely checked and suffered serious losses."

Austria Admits Losing Ground.

VIENNA, via London, July 9.—The entente pressure against the Austrian lines in Albania is being continued by forces advancing across the River Voyusa, according to today's war office announcement. A gain of ground by the French along the upper Devoli is reported. Fighting also is taking place in the interior southwest of Berat.

The statement reads:

"In Albania the pressure of the enemy's forces advancing across the Voyusa is continuing. There has been fighting southwest of Berat. The French gained ground on the upper Devoli."

RUSSIAN GRAND DUKE IN CRIMEA TELLS OF ESCAPE

AMSTERDAM, July 9.—Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, brother-in-law of the former Russian emperor, has been interviewed in Aitodor, in the Crimea, by a correspondent.

Relating his experiences after the abdication of the Romanoffs, the grand duke said: "We were for days at Dulbar (near Aitodor), at the house of Peter Nicolaievitch. We owe our lives solely to that good and intelligent man. My six sons and myself scarcely hoped to escape with our lives. They took our money and property. Our house in Petrograd was razed. Fortunately I have a property with a vineyard in Aitodor on the produce of which we can live."

The correspondent remarking that Russia might again have a monarchical constitution, the grand duke was skeptical. The correspondent added that Emperor Nicholas, however, would not again come to the throne, and the grand duke remarked with vivacity:

"Certainly not. He is vividly of the old system."

BATTLE STATEMENTS

PARIS REPORT

PARIS, July 9.—The war office announcement tonight says:

South of the Aisne an enemy counter attack against the positions taken by us in the region of Chavigny farm failed.

The number of prisoners captured in the attack this morning west of Antheuil is 530; we also took about thirty machine guns.

Between Montdidier and the River Oise the French at 5:30 o'clock this morning carried out a local operation west of Antheuil on a front of four kilometers. The French troops, supported by tanks, penetrated the German lines, captured Ferme Porte and the Ferme des Loges, and realized an advance of 1,800 meters at certain points.

A counter attack at the Ferme des Loges was repulsed, the French maintaining all their gains.

South of the Aisne the artillery duel continued active throughout the night in the vicinity of Chavigny farm. The French increased their advance at this point, taking twenty prisoners, including one officer.

The artillery on both sides was active west and north of Chateau Thierry, notably in the vicinity of hill 204.

Patrols took prisoners in the Champagne, in the sector of Marquises, and in the direction of Butte Couain.

There was nothing to report on the remainder of the front.

In the Longpont region east of the Retz forest the French increased their gains of yesterday and took additional prisoners.

A German counter attack upon the French lines at the Loges farm in the area of this advance was repulsed, the French entirely maintaining their gains. Prisoners were taken to the number of 450, including fourteen officers.

BERLIN REPORT

BERLIN, via London, July 9.—South of La Bassee canal repeated partial attacks were repulsed and on the north bank of the Somme strong enemy attacks broke down. On this sector the artillery duel continued lively and in the evening increased intermittently to great violence.

West of Antheuil local attacks were launched by the enemy this morning after violent artillery preparation. At the forest of Villers-Cotterets partial attacks by the French broke down in our fighting zone.

Eighteen enemy airplanes were shot down yesterday.

ROME REPORT.

ROME, July 9.—Austrian troops yesterday again attacked the Italian positions at Corone, between the Frenzela valley and the Brenta, and again met with a repulse. There was artillery fighting and activity by the Italian patrols at various points along the remainder of the front.

LONDON REPORT

LONDON, July 9.—During the night London troops carried out a successful raid east of Arras, capturing a few prisoners and a machine gun.

The enemy's artillery has been active against the positions recently captured by us south of the Somme.

"MAGYAR TROOPS SACRIFICED IN PIAVE BATTLE"

Austrians Accused of Attempt to Wipe Out Race.

and women employed in the yard scrambled aboard and begged for food. All looked emaciated and underfed. When the passengers threw out scraps of food the Austrians made a rush and devoured it ravenously. They declared that the government was giving them only enough food to keep them from actual starvaton.

Mr. Mayer and Dr. Breckenridge Baine of Washington were the only Americans among the 175 passengers from Roumania. The others included the Italian and Serbian ministers and Roumanian officers and civilians. The journey from Jassy to Berne occupied four days. No hostility was shown by Austrians or Germans, and there were no demonstrations.

All Stations Guarded.

The train was in charge of a German colonel, and the passengers were permitted to leave the cars at various stations, where always an Austrian armed guard was present. No attempt was made to draw the blinds in the passenger cars or curtail the customary privileges of travelers.

The Americans were most impressed by the almost complete absence of workers in the fields and on the farms in Austria. At a station between Orsova and Budapest a mob of about a hundred Austrian soldiers and civilians attempted to board the train and was only put off at the point of a pstol. Some of them were endeavoring to reach home, others were trying to reach points where food was more plentiful.

A German major at one station told the Americans that the Germans were not taking America's entry into the war seriously, because they knew that not more than 20,000 American soldiers were in France.

"The United States is not sufficiently interested in the war to send over a greater number," he said.

TREASON IS HINTED

[SPECIAL CABLE TO CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 9.—According to information reaching here from inside sources, disorganization and disaffection caused in Austria by the failure of the offensive against Italy are such that a violent campaign is in progress against the emperor and empress. It is alleged that the German element in Austria goes to such lengths in its bitterness as to suspect them of treason.

The empress is openly accused by this element of having prevented the use of gas against the Italians and thus compromised plans made by the head command. Other charges made are that she intervened in favor of Italian prisoners and that she has brothers in the allied armies. The emperor's connection with the letter to Prince Sixtus of Bourbon is again brought forward to discredit him.

German extremists in Austria demand that the emperor and empress be literally sequestered and take their orders wholly from Berlin.

Refuse a Generalissimo.

ROME, July 9.—Austria has refused to accept a German generalissimo to direct operations on the Italian front, according to advices received here today.

[Recent reports said that in the general shakeup of the Austrian command, Gen. von Below, who directed the former Austrian offensive, had been made commander in chief of the Austrian armies. Later it was said that Gen. Ludendorff had hurried to Austrian headquarters, evidently to make Von Below's appointment effective.]

Austria Facing Crisis.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Austria faces another internal crisis as a result of German attempts to assume the supreme command on the Italian front, cables from Rome to the Italian embassy today reported.

Vienna newspapers are declared to have published vigorous denials of any change in the Austrian command.

The Austrian people are being assured, through the press, that reports of the Germanization of the Austrian general headquarters and divisional staff are entirely false.

ENEMY BEATEN BACK FOR MILE ON TWO MILE FRONT

Gen. Petain's Forces Win First Big Battle Since June Drive.

PARIS, July 9.—In the first infantry operation of note since the German offensive was crushed on the Matz in June, French troops, with the aid of tanks, advanced more than a mile on a front of two and one-half miles northwest of Compeigne this morning.

Two farms were captured and a counter attack against one of them was repulsed. Prisoners numbered 150 and thirty machine guns were taken.

Rail Junction Protected.

Gen. Petain chose the area just south of the Matz river, northwest of the Compiegne forest, on the front between Montdidier and the Oise, for the blow. It was here that the point of the German wedge projected, and the French drove in just to the west of the Antheuil neighborhood, taking valuable territory on both sides of the Compiegne road.

The success of the new advance serves to still further protect the important railway junction at Estrees St. Denis, seven miles southwest of Antheuil.

New Offensive Forecast.

Additional ground also was gained on the Marne front, east of the Retz forest. The Germans were driven back farther in the vicinity of the Chavigny farm.

Raiding operations were conducted by the British and enemy guns bombarded the British front actively last night in the Amiens area south of the Somme, indicating that they are contemplating an effort to regain the ground recently taken by the Australians with the assistance of Americans.

Considerable activity also is reported to the west and north of Chateau Thierry on the Marne front, where the Americans are holding several miles of lines.

5,400 Prisoners in Three Weeks.

Since the last German offensive, notwithstanding the absence of actions on a large scale, says a semi-official statement, the French troops have harassed the enemy by minor operations, improved their positions, and captured numerous prisoners.

Since June 15 the number of prisoners taken, with the coöperation of the Americans, who especially distinguished themselves at Belleau wood and Vaux, is 5,400, including sixty officers.

AMSTERDAM, July 9.—The Telegraaf learns that Jonkheer J. Loudon, minister of foreign affairs, is soon to be appointed minister at Washington.

Jonkheer Loudon, minister of foreign affairs of the Netherlands, was minister to the United States in 1908-'12. He also served as minister to Japan. His wife was Miss Eustis, niece of J. D. Eustis, former American ambassador to France.

GEN. PERSHING REPORTS 'QUIET ON ALL SECTORS'

Enemy Airmen Active on July 4, Says Communique.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Gen. Pershing's communiqué for Monday, received today, said there was nothing important to report from sections of the front occupied by American troops. The communiqué follows:

"Headquarters American Expeditionary Forces, July 8, 1918.

"Section A—There have been no fresh developments at the points occupied by our troops.

"Section B—In the sector occupied by our troops in Picardy there was some brisk artillery fighting July 4 to 6. Our batteries shelled L'Alval wood with gas early in the night and the enemy retaliated by firing on our front lines from the Fontaine wood to Grivesnes and on some of our positions in the rear. The German artillery was particularly active between 10 p. m. and midnight, but it was noted that their fire slackened or ceased whenever our artillery started counter preparation. Most of the German shells fell to the north of our sector.

Foe Flyers Active July 4.

"The enemy's trench mortars frequently came into action just prior to the commencement of concentrated fire by his artillery. His machine guns delivered heavy bursts of fire in the morning on the right of our sector. His airplanes were not usually active except in the dropping of bombs, a small number of which fell on our positions before daybreak. At two points in the German rear areas fire, smoke, and explosions indicated the destruction of German ammunition dumps.

"In the Marne sector which our troops are holding the activity of the German aerial forces was the most significant feature of July 4 to 5. There was a slight increase in the artillery fire, but it is still much less than ours and not of great volume. Most of the shells used were of small and medium caliber. The fire was for harassing and destructive purposes.

Normal on the Marne.

"About half of the machine gun fire was directed against our planes. The enemy's air forces were entirely abnormal in their activity, some group fights being observed in which eight or ten planes participated. There was an increase in the movement of traffic in the rear areas. During the entire night white and green flares were seen. These and rockets were in larger numbers than usual. Two searchlights played intermittently from one part of the enemy's sector.

"In this same sector conditions July 5 and 6 were in all respects so normal as to offer nothing of interest.

"In the Colmar sector July 5 activity of the German artillery showed some increase on portions of our front, but did not become notably heavy at any point. His airplanes also distributed their activity over the sector, dropping a few bombs at one point. More German patrols than usual were observed, one throwing a few grenades at our positions and another cutting some of our wire. During the night the German positions were lighted up to a greater extent than usual, mainly by a liberal use of red and white flares.

Quiet at Mulhouse.

"All along our front our own patrols reconnoitered the hostile positions, but in spite of their number and activity encountered no enemy parties and drew no enemy fire.

"In the Mulhouse sector July 5 German airplanes showed an activity which is unusual in this region. They circled constantly over their advanced positions and sometimes over ours. Our anti-aircraft batteries and a number of allied planes drove them back on numerous occasions. The enemy's artillery fire was slight and widely distributed.

"Behind the German lines, in addition to the usual movements of pedestrians, horsemen and vehicles, a considerable number of infantry in a body was observed on the march during the afternoon. A number of small balloons, probably containing propaganda, were sent up.

"In Lorraine July 4 to 5, nothing except the activities of our own patrols called for especial mention. Our patrolling parties did much valuable reconnaissance work inspecting the enemy's defense positions and returned safely, although one of them came under the enemy's fire.

Small Attacks Repulsed.

"Artillery firing was very moderate, our own batteries showing much greater activity than those of the enemy. Our anti-aircraft guns brought down a German plane in the region of La Chapelle. Both pilot and observer were killed. The German machine guns were somewhat more active than usual.

"In a sector in the Vosges recently occupied by our troops conditions were normal July 5. During the night preceding German troops made two small attacks which were easily repulsed."

Washington, D. C., July 9.—A senate bill granting pensions of $12 a month to widows of soldiers and sailors of the Spanish war or Philippine insurrection, where the income of the widow does not exceed $250 a year, was passed today by the house and sent to conference.

Proposes U. S. Observance of Big French Holiday

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Observance of July 14, the French national day, by the United States as a legal public holiday, is proposed in a resolution offered in the house today by Representative Siegel of New York.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—An additional credit of $10,000,000 was granted to Italy today by the treasury department, making a total of $460,000,000 for Italy and of $6,091,590,000 loaned to the allies to date.

HOP ALONG TO MARKET WITH YOUR BASKET ON YOUR ARM

Fresh vegetables with the dew still sparkling on them and farm products only hours old were purchased eagerly yesterday by the residents in the vicinity of Elston and Central Park avenues at the opening of the Irving Park Public market.

The venture was started under the auspices of neighborhood residents and business men to further the conservation plans of the federal and state food administrations.

Dedicatory exercises started at 4 o'clock. When the speaking program closed thrifty housewives made a rush for the wagons and trucks piled high with crisp good things to eat.

The Irving Park Public Market association was not organized for profit, but for the public good, according to its sponsors. They are Charles Ziegler, president; Robert Witte, vice president; L. H. Thomsen, secretary, and K. S. Blank, treasurer. Aldermen from the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh wards were present.

CANADA HEROES LEAVE TRENCHES FOR HAY FIELDS

Forget War's Horrors in Romps with the French Children.

BY PHILIP GIBBS.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1918.]

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, July 9.—A heavy rain today rejoiced the hearts of the French farmers, who pity the thirst of their earth after months of drought, but today the sun is shining and between the woolly white clouds the sky is blue. The birds of France are singing in the woods more cheerily because of the freshening of the air, which was heavy and thunderous yesterday and the glisten of raindrops on the leaves.

It has been good haymaking weather and many of our men have been helping the French farmers and their women to make haycocks, finding this work and the warm sweat of it better than the fatigues of war.

Behind the lines, where the troops are in reserve ready to move up quickly if the enemy makes trouble, there are jolly children to play with in the hay and it gives scenes of homeliness to the men who have been long exiled from the normal ways of life in the monastery of the trenches.

Good to See Children.

"It is good to see kids again," a Canadian officer back from the trenches said, and he laughed at the sight of a padre who was down on his knees in the grass building a nest of the hay for a little boy who sat in the middle of it while four small sisters jumped around.

There was a good garden at this battalion's headquarters filled with the scent of sweet williams and hollyhocks and roses, and outside the house, where the Canadian officers have their mess, two girls were sitting demurely doing needlework, with motherly eyes on the children.

"I wish I were more handy with the French language," said one of the officers, glancing toward the girls; "that little black eyed one has a daring disposition. Yesterday she went to the top of that cherry tree like a bird."

Peace Amid War.

In the village beyond the garden a Canadian band was playing a selection from an Italian opera with the musical dignity of performers who had just won a prize in the corps competition, and lying on the ground around were a number of Canadian officers and men with the warm sun on them and spirit of peace in their eyes.

In neighboring farm houses, where their billets and messes were, some other Canadians sat in shirt sleeves drinking copious draughts of lemonade, joshing each other amid roars of laughter and discussing the details of personal adventures in the front line when they had gone out raiding.

Kaiser's Draft Threat Reopens Stock Exchanges

AMSTERDAM, July 8.—[Delayed.]—As a result of the threat of the German military commandants to call up those exempted from military service unless the stock exchange strike in Germany was stopped, says the Frankfurter Zeitung, the stock exchanges at Frankfort and Bremen have decided to resume business immediately.

[The German government recently proposed to increase the stamp duty on stock exchange transactions from 30 pfennigs to 2 marks, with an additional war duty of 2 marks on every thousand marks. As a protest against the contemplated new duties, all the stock exchanges in Germany last week decided to abstain from business until the question was settled.]

BOHEMIAN CHIEF IN FRANCE.

A cablegram received yesterday at the offices of the Bohemian National Alliance of Chicago brought information that Dr. Ludwig Fisher, president of the organization, has arrived safely in France. He left the city secretly several weeks ago on a mission connected with the Bohemian revolutionary activities, which are supporting the allied arms.

Allies Expect Foe to Make Marne Scene of Next Drive

BY WALTER DURANTY.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1918.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, July 9.—The idea that the German attack may come on the Marne seems to be gaining ground. A French officer with whom I talked today advanced it spontaneously as an explanation of the delay—otherwise inexplicable in view of the fact that time is so precious for Germany—in recommencing the offensive. He said:

"I thought it possible 'the Spanish grip' had affected the troops holding the firing line under difficult conditions. I cannot believe it has caused such serious ravages among well fed, healthy men of the storm divisions as definitely to interfere with Hindenburg's plans.

Expects Surprise Blow.

"Surely it is more reasonable to suppose the enemy is still busy preparing the ground gained in the recent advance—between the Aisne and the Marne, for instance—where light railroads must be constructed, telephone wires installed, roads improved and a vast quantity of stores and munitions amassed. By working at nightfall or under the cover of the woods, which are very dense in the whole region, the enemy hope to avoid the allied air observations and launch a surprise blow in a sector apparently calm."

A study of the map justifies the officer's words and helps to strengthen the theory. The country north of the Marne is particularly well screened from observation, so that transportation thither of allied reserves would be less easy than to such fronts as Arras, Amiens, Compiegne or Chateau Thierry. Despite all talk about grippe and the Germans having to wait for the return of the March wounded to refill the ranks, the fact still remains that the enemy possesses the strategic superiority of effectives.

Facing the Facts.

Unpleasant facts don't cease to exist because one refuses to face them. Hindenburg still has enough divisions available to strike out the central battle area that runs from the sea to the Marne, while maintaining there a sufficient force to render it unwise for the allies to move away troops. He might decide that an extension of the battle front would not therefore be to his disadvantage and the line of the Marne is a sector where an initially successful extension might profit him most.

True, he knows every moment improves the tactical fighting qualities of the American army and therefore he must attack soon, but at the present moment the number of American divisions capable of taking part in the battle of today—the utmost technical skill is required of every one from commander to private, where physical superiority counts for little since real hand to hand fighting is nothing more than an occasional and rare incident—is not yet great enough to redress the total balance in the allies' favor.

Danger in Optimism.

For us Americans to imagine that because a million of our men are in France the allies have no further cause for anxiety is to court a grave and dangerous disillusion in the near future.

That Foch is competent to handle the situation or that the French, American, and British forces at his disposal are sufficient to repel the ménace, no one in the French army doubts. But it would be worse than foolish to indulge in unthinking optimism, whose inevitable reaction would be depression and doubt in the leaders at the very moment when Germany is on the verge of a final gigantic effort beside which all previous struggles of this tremendous war may pale into insignificance.

ADMITS YANKEE STRENGTH

PARIS, July 9.—Resumption of the German offensive is necessary, but its result is doubtful, Herr Stroebel, an independent Socialist, admitted in the Prussian landstag, according to a Zurich dispatch to the Matin today.

Stroebel declared that in the spring drives the German losses were more than 100,000 in killed alone. The losses in the next phase of the drive, he said, probably would be even higher.

About 900,000 Americans are in France, Stroebel said, which about balances the allies' losses and the German gain in man power through new drafts and release of men from the eastern front.

"Several millions more will come unless we Germans rid the government of the war politicians," Stroebel said.

HURRY! WIN WAR! WE WANT TO GO TO U. S.! HUN PLEA

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN ITALY, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Austrian prisoners who have been taken lately by the Italians appear not to be informed of the part the United States is playing in the war.

When an automobile carrying members of the United States military mission halted this afternoon in front of a line of prisoners, one called out in English to the chauffeur: "Say, what are you doing out there?"

When informed that the United States was in the war, he expressed surprise and said:

"Well, I hope the Americans keep on coming strong enough to win the war. Then we can get out of this mess and I can go back to America."

Evanston Thrift House to Handle Home Salvage

While thrift is not an unknown attribute in Evanston, the north shore city has devised a new way to promote it. "The Thrift House" at 1505 Chicago avenue will be opened to the public this afternoon at 3 o'clock, where patriotic citizens may bring articles salvaged from their households and donate them to the cause of war charity. Tea and cake will also be served. The project is under the auspices of the Drama club, of which Mrs. W. H. Atwater is president.

Cardinal Gibbons' Life Periled in Auto Crash

Baltimore, Md., July 9.—[Special.]—Cardinal Gibbons and Bishop O'Connell of Richmond, Va., narrowly escaped a serious accident several days ago, when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by another machine. Neither the cardinal nor the bishop was injured.

GEN. LUDENDORFF TRYING TO CATCH ALLIES NAPPING

Believe Germans Hope to Win by a New Surprise.

BY G. H. PERRIS.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1918.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, July 9.—The abnormally dry summer days are passing and Gen. Ludendorff still does not move his legions. There is a reason for this inactivity besides the main factors of the decline of power of the enemy.

Numerical and moral surprise is his only hope, and the best chance of obtaining a surprise is to lull the allies into a state of optimistic sleepiness. It is a danger never to be lost sight of.

Time is working steadily for us. It is not Von Below and a few German regiments that will be able to put the Austrian Humpty Dumpty up again. Russia is recovering and with a new peril rising in the far east, Berlin sees her work of intrigue in Moscow and Petrograd falling to ruin.

Forces Now Equal.

In the west the balance of forces is now practically level, and every day several new American battalions are ready for the field, but the promise of developments and of Foch's Fabian strategy can only be realized on one condition—an unceasing vigilance.

A single great surprise may cancel the value of an army. We must not be surprised. This does not mean only that sentinels and outposts must not go to sleep, but that observatories and advanced command posts must watch for the slightest signs of suspicious moves.

Daring and scientific extension of German espionage has compelled the allies gradually to improve their information sources, and doubtless there is room for further improvement. Naturally, I cannot speak of what has been done in this direction; but there is a minor German invention of recent date that can be spoken of, and that will suggest to the lay reader the kind of efforts each army makes to tear from the other the crowning advantage of the factor of surprise.

Scout Troops Active.

After "Stosstruppen," or storm troops, come "Spaehtruppen," or scout troops.

Their business is to bring in prisoners by means of raids and by surprising patrols and outposts. The men enrolled in these special detachments must be particularly energetic and resourceful, keen as Indians in strategy and in familiarity with the ground.

They study minutely the habits of their adversaries, the hours at which they carry on such and such work, the position of sentinels, and so on. When this study is complete a raid is organized.

SIXTEEN ENEMY PLANES BEATEN OFF BY BRITISH

Direct Bomb Hits Scored at Several German Points.

LONDON, July 9.—British naval airplanes in the period between July 4 and July 7 dropped six tons of explosives on German works at Ostend, Zeebrugge and Bruges. Direct hits were observed on buildings and vessels. Five German airplanes were destroyed and three others were driven down out of control. All the British machines returned.

The official statement outlining the operations of the aerial service reads:

"During the period of July 4-7 air force contingents with the navy bombed the Ostend docks and Zeebrugge and Bruges with six tons of explosives. At Bruges direct hits were obtained on a submarine shelter, on the railway and on merchant ships. Near Zeebrugge four torpedo boat destroyers and four torpedo boats were attacked.

"Sixteen hostile machines attacked one of our formations. Three enemy machines were destroyed and three were driven from out of control. All our machines returned.

"Seven hostile machines attacked three of our large seaplanes. In an engagement lasting fifty-five minutes two hostile airplanes were destroyed. Our machines returned safely, though damaged."

Enemy Activity Slight.

Aerial operations are described in the official communication issued tonight as follows:

"In spite of low clouds in the morning of July 8 and thunderstorms later in the day, our airplanes accomplished a good deal of photographic, observation and reconnaissance work during the intervals of fine weather. The enemy activity in the air was slight.

"Seven German machines were destroyed and six driven down out of control. Four of our machines are missing.

"Nineteen tons of bombs were dropped, principally on railway connections at Roulers, Tournai, and Wavrin, and on dumps at Warneton and Bac St. Maur. Practically no flying was possible at night."

Allies Show Superiority.

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS [by the Associated Press], July 8.—[Delayed.]—The air superiority of the entente allies on the Austro-Italian front is indicated by the figures made public today dealing with the ten days' offensive of the Austro-Hungarians last June.

The allies, including American pilots, operated 120 chaser planes and destroyed 107 Austrian airplanes and seven observation balloons. The allies' losses were seven airplanes brought down in the enemy lines and three balloons. Three allies pilots were killed, six were wounded and seven are missing.

Three thousand observation photographs were taken and 5,000 bombs, weighing seventy tons, were dropped by allied airmen. Italian observation balloons signaled nearly 4,000 positions of enemy artillery and directed the fire of nearly 1,000 guns.

Brings Hope from America.

PARIS, July 9.—Hopes founded on American aerial aid to the allies soon will be realized, says Capt. Herteaux, the famous French aviator, who has just returned from a visit to the United States, in a statement to the Associated Press. Both American pilots and American machines are coming overseas in large numbers. The captain's statement follows:

"We have not sufficient chaser planes to mount all these pilots, but the machines are being manufactured more quickly than the pilots can complete their training. It is certain that America alone within a few months will be able to more than supply all its aviators with machines.

"America still has something to learn in the construction of chaser planes, but progress is being shown every day. The Liberty motor now is ready and machines fitted with it are being turned out rapidly. The American bombardment airplanes are of the finest quality and they are reaching the front regularly."

O'LEARY LAWYER CALLS FEDERAL CASE "FRAMEUP"

New York, July 9.—Clashes between attorneys marked the trial in federal court here today of John J. O'Leary, charged with having aided his brother, Jeremiah A. O'Leary, the Sinn Fein leader, to escape just before he was to be tried for publication of alleged seditious articles.

Thomas B. Felder called the case against his client a "frameup" and denounced Assistant United States District Attorney Barnes for having, as he charged, raided Jeremiah O'Leary's office.

To Mr. Barnes' assertions that this was a "false statement," Mr. Felder replied curtly:

"You are a liar!"

After Mme. Marie K. de Victorica, indicted with O'Leary, had been identified by Jeremiah's office boy as a woman who had called twice on his employer, Mr. Felder, notwithstanding his vigorous objections, was called as a witness.

He said half the inhabitants are destitute, crops have been destroyed and much material damage done. Steps have been taken to feed the destitute.

U. S. FINISHES 23 SHIPS IN FIRST WEEK OF JULY

5,000,000 Ton a Year Pace Set; 92 Transports Ordered.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Completion of twenty-three ships of 122,771 deadweight tons in the first week of July made a total of 223 new vessels built under the direction of the shipping board. Their aggregate tonnage is 1,415,022.

Of the new fleet 218 vessels already are in actual service.

The July production is at the rate of more than 2,000,000 tons for the remainder of the year, and if this pace is maintained by the rapidly expanding shipyards, the year's output will be close to 5,000,000 deadweight tons.

Nineteen New Steel Vessels.

The first week's total in July comprised fourteen requisitioned steel vessels and five contract steel vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 108,271, and four wooden ships of 14,500 tons.

A total of 124 wooden ships have been launched to date. Twenty-four steel ships have been built on contract, the remainder being requisitioned vessels.

Order Ninety-two New Transports.

Chairman Hurley, after a visit to the White House today, announced that the shipping board has let contracts for ninety-two army transports. After the war the transports will be put into the passenger carrying trade.

Deliveries will be made before Dec. 31, 1919. A number of the transports are being built on the Pacific coast.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

BELFAST, Ireland, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Workman, Clark & Co., local shipbuilders, have achieved a world's record in completing an 8,000 ton standard ship in fifteen days after it was launched. The vessel was launched at 9 o'clock in the morning. By 8 o'clock the same evening all its engines and boilers were in position.

Shows Ship Losses Small.

LONDON, July 9.—Speaking in the house of commons today, Sir Leo Money, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of shipping, said the percentage of ships lost while homeward bound to the United Kingdom since Jan. 1, 1918, was rather more than 1 per cent. The losses of food ships for the same period was less than 1.4 per cent.

The result of the convoy system, Sir Leo said, continued to improve. Since January, 1917, when the system was put into effect, 42,000,000 gross tons had been convoyed to British and French ports with a loss up to June 29 of 1.29 per cent. This included loss by the dispersal of convoys through bad weather.

SCHOOL CHUMS DIE TOGETHER ON VALOR FIELD

Two Oak Park Lads in List of Six Chicago Sector Heroes.

Names of five more Chicagoans who have passed adown the path of glory to their last bivouac came over the wires yesterday in the marine casualty list. Private Allyn Anderson, son of E. W. Anderson, 753 Twelfth street, Wilmette, is reported dead of wounds. A former student of the Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan and attending the commerce school of Northwestern university when he enlisted, a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, and prominent in all the college activities, he was a typical college boy. In April of last year he enlisted in the marines and crossed to France last spring. His mother died last winter while he was home on a furlough and the father now lives alone. Anderson was wounded in the leg on June 16.

Pals in Death.

A sad modernization of the romantic compact of Damon and Pythias is revealed in the deaths of Corporal David L. Thor and Private Gunner Dahl. Both worked their way through the Oak Park High school, graduated together in the class of 1916, enlisted in April a year ago, and died fighting together with the gallant marines.

Corporal David L. Thor, among the four killed in action, was the son of Charles Thor, 324 Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. He was 21 years old and gave up his position with Lee, Higginson & Co., bankers, 209 South La Salle street, to enlist with the marines. He sailed for France in October and was soon followed by his brother, Elmer.

Private Gunner Dahl was the son of Harold Dahl of 130 North Ridgeway avenue, Oak Park. He was but 18 years old when he enlisted, was sent to Port Royal, S. C., then to Quantico, Va., and went to France in October. Before enlisting he was employed by the Jones and Laughlin Steel company. He and young Thor were members of the Seventy-third company, Sixth regiment.

Commission in Prospect.

His last letter, written on May 27, said, "I was in the trenches on Mother's day and we could not write because the postoffice was closed and being moved. I have been recommended for a commission and am soon to be sent to an officers' school." Both of his parents were born in Sweden.

Private Layerne T. Perrottet, another marine killed in action, was the only son of A. L. Perrottet of Wheaton. Twenty-one years old in May, 1917, he forsook a bookkeeper's desk and left to fight for his country and the land of his forebears. He was graduated from the Wheaton High school in 1915 and later attended East Lansing college, Mich. He held a position with Butler Brothers at the time of his enlistment.

Since the enlistment of her son Mrs. Perrottet has been active in Red Cross work. She is now chairman of the Wheaton chapter. Mr. Perrottet is a former mayor of Wheaton.

Death Withheld from Mother.

Private William Prchal, a member of the Seventy-sixth company, Sixth regiment, marines, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prchal, 2012 South Throop street. The news of his being killed in action was withheld from his mother, as she was taken to a hospital yesterday for an operation. Prchal was 24 years old and enlisted in the marines immediately after war was declared a year ago. He formerly worked in a trunk factory here.

Corporal Alan Newton Ash, aviator in the Lafayette escadrille, was killed in action on May 31 near Oulchyle chateau, while flying a Brequet plane against superior numbers. His machine came down in flames.

Quits His Farm to Fight.

He was born in Chicago Dec. 6, 1890, the son of the late Isaac N. Ash, and grandson of Henry W. Tenney, formerly of the Chicago bar. In May, 1917, he gave up his farm near McNabb, Ill., and sailed for France, where he joined the Lafayette escadrille, and went through the aviation school at Avord. The only Chicago relatives of the aviator are Mr. Tenney and L. Homer Ash, a member of the board of trade.

Peter Felliciti, 839 South Wabash avenue, a private in the National army, died at Camp Jackson, Fla., Sunday after an operation for appendicitis. He was drafted three weeks ago.

Maj. John P. Lucas, killed in action, was commander of the field signal battalion of the Prairie division, the first man of the division to be killed. He was a graduate of West Point and had been in the cavalry. He was not a Chicagoan, but was widely known among Chicago soldiers of the Prairie division.

Private Arthur Parzych, dead of wounds, was listed from La Salle, Ill., but last night no one could be found there who knew of him.

Flannagan Died of Wounds.

Official announcement from Maj. Gen. George Barnett of the marine corps that Private Joseph M. Flanagan of Bellwood died of wounds incurred in action has been received by the young man's mother, Mrs. Mary Flanagan. The first report in the casualty list carried July 5 gave disease as the cause of death, but this proved to be an error, probably due to confusion in transmitting the report, and Gen. Barnett's message offering condolence discloses that Flanagan fell on the field of battle. He was 20 years old the 17th of March last. He enlisted in the marines in May, 1917, and went to France last November. Flanagan was a graduate of Bellwood, Sacred Heart, and Proviso High schools, and was employed by the Indiana Belt Line railroad.

U. S. FOOD CHIEFS SEIZE 26 BARRELS AUCTION SUGAR

Order Dealer Not to Sell and Eye Department Stores.

A campaign for strict enforcement of regulations governing sales of sugar was put into effect by the United States food administration yesterday. A large amount of sugar to have been sold at auction was seized, a retailer was ordered to make no more sales of sugar, and a plan was adopted for checking purchases at department stores.

The seizure was made at 761 West Adams street, where the Reval Mercantile company undertook to have an auction sale without observing the customary restrictions which govern sales of sugar. By order of Charles Stevenson, head of the sugar division of the food administration, twenty-six barrels of lump sugar, thirty-five bags of granulated sugar, and fifty-two bags of flour were seized.

H. Stein, a retail grocer at 719 South Western avenue, was ordered to stop selling sugar. The order came from A. S. Adams of the bureau of enforcements of the food administration. Stein was charged with selling sugar in 100 pound lots.

Cannot Tolerate Violations.

"We cannot tolerate any violation of the regulations regarding sales of sugar," said Mr. Adams. "The sugar situation is critical, and we shall deal summarily with those who neglect to observe the rulings, the purpose of which is to insure a fair distribution of our supply. There are so many cases against dealers that we will have three men to hear them. Every one found guilty of violating the rulings will be stopped from making any further sales of sugar, even if he escape more severe punishment.

Department Stores Eyed.

"Sales of sugar are to be registered in department stores hereafter. Customers have been able to buy sugar and come back as often as they wished. They will now have to sign their names in a book and certify that they have not more than two pounds of sugar on hand. If they get too much sugar they will have to commit perjury."

MARINES

Campaign for 600 Recruits a Month Opens in Chicago.

SIX HUNDRED recruits a month until a total of 2,600 men have enlisted will be the goal of the Chicago marine recruiting office and a committee of citizens, who will start a determined effort this morning to bring this city's percentage up to that of the rest of the country.

The drive will be financed by Chicago men, as the marine corps has no fund for the purpose. So large a percentage of fighters who wear the globe and anchor are in active service that there are not enough uniformed men to take charge of the recruiting stations, and patriotic citizens have volunteered to help in the clerical work.

Five recruiting stations have been opened in the loop. They are at 224 South Clark street, 108 South Dearborn steet. 4 East Jackson boulevard., at Dearborn and Randolph streets, and at 140 West Jackson boulevard. Owners of empty storerooms in all parts of the city have been asked to donate the use of their property until the object of the drive has been achieved.

Noonday rallies, parades, night meetings, boxing and wrestling matches will be features of the campaign, which will be under the auspices of a committee appointed by the State Council of Defense. Volnnteer workers will distribute educational literature. Every member of the Illinois Bar association has volunteered as an aid and all postmasters will act as recruiting agents.

Any others who may desire to assist are asked to telephone Col. Charles R. Vincent, head of the marine recruiting offices in Chicago, or to call at the committee headquarters, 224 South Clark street.

"We are going to wake up Chicago to a realization of its failure to support the marine corps with recruits," Col. Vincent said.

MEN OF RAINBOW DIVISION TRAIN NEW OFFICERS

Assigned as Instructors for New School at Camp Grant.

Camp Grant, Ill., July 9.—[Special.]—Five hundred soldiers of the fourth officers' training camp will complete their course for commissions here under an entirely new corps of instructors, while officers of the camp's present instructing staff return to their original posts in regiments of the Eighty-sixth division.

Plans for the change were made today. Instructors of the training camp were notified to hold themselves in readiness to rejoin their regiments at a moment's notice. Five junior officers, detailed from the Rainbow division, France, have already reported for duty as instructors, and will remain with the candidates until their studies are completed.

The western front veterans include Lieuts. W. H. Sellers, E. T. Lane, R. W. Smith, J. S. Parker, and L. G. Whitehead.

Another indication of early departure came today in an order issued by Gen. Martin advising the auditing of all regimental and battalion mess accounts to be completed not later than July 20.

Wins Rapid Promotion.

Few rookies in the national army are privileged to enjoy the novelty of commanding a squad on their first day in ranks, but the Chicago brigade set a precedent today when Joseph H. Kobussen, a raw recruit from Little Chute, Wis., shot perfect scores over the one and two hundred yard ranges and marked nine bull's eyes out or ten shots on the three hundred yard course in his first work with an Enfield rifle. When the brigade was assembled for the march back to camp tonight after expending thousands of cartridges in rapid fire during the day Col. Charles R. Howland called Kobussen from ranks, complimented him on his wonderful shooting, named him a corporal in the Three Hundred and Forty-third infantry, and gave him a squad to march to barracks.

Objectors Are Hazed.

Earnest Reichmann, Mark L. Hotter, Maurice Tinsky, C. W. Leighton, and a score more of Camp Grant's conscientious objectors still at large were given the protection of barracks in camp today after they had experienced an old time hazing at the hands of soldiers of the division.

HONOR ROLL IDEA WINS PRAISE OF GENERAL BARRY

Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Barry yesterday gave his enthusiastic indorsement to Chicago's honor roll project, which is in the hands of the city council committee on home defense and a committee of citizens headed by Mrs. Heaton Owsley, originator of the idea.

Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, chairman of the council committee, received a letter from Gen. Barry expressing the latter's approval of the plan. In addition he offered a practical, though depressing, piece of advice.

"He told us," Ald. Kostner said, "that the roll would have to be so constructed that the names can be changed at intervals, as no place probably can be built large enough to carry the full list of casualties."

Mrs. Owsley's view is that the cost of teh temporary memorial on which the lists of the city's dead shall be placed week by week should not be large. She deems the suggested cost of $10,000 greatly excessive, and would put the greater part of such a sum, if available, to war relief uses. Her idea is to get an artistic but simple design from one or more of the Chicago sculptors.

A joint session of the home defense committee and Mrs. Owsley's committee will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the city hall.

No Danger of Sugar Famine, Food Body Says

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Definite assurances that there is no danger of a sugar famine were given by the food administration today, and the food situation generally was declared to be better than at any time since America undertook the feeding of the allied world.

The American public, however, will be expected to observe closely the new regulations limiting the household per capita consumption of sugar to three pounds monthly.

NEW NATIONAL ARMY DIVISIONS FOR CAMP GRANT

War Department Putting Final Touches on New Training Plans.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—New national army divisions will be organized at Camp Grant and twenty-three other army camps and cantonments as soon as the divisions now in training there are sent to France.

The war department has completed plans for the training of all draft soldiers summoned in future calls and will make a formal announcement soon.

These plans provide for the training of new combatant divisions at all the national army and national guard camps except seven, which have been designated as replacement camps, and one, Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., which has been turned over to the air service and is now being used as a concentration camp for flying recruits and training school for airplane motor mechanics.

Steps to Be Gradual.

Infantry replacement units for use as reservoirs for troops already in France are to be formed and trained at Camps Lee and Gordon, Pike and McArthur. Field artillery replacement troops will be schooled at Camps Taylor and Jackson. Machine gun instruction will be given at Camp Hancock to conscripts who eventually will be used to fill the ranks of machine gun organizations in France.

At these replacement camps provision also has been made to give training to officer candidates, Lee, Gordon, and Pike being points where infantry officers will be made and the huge field artillery facilities at Camp Taylor will be utilised to school officers for this branch of the service.

The organization of the twenty-three new divisions will be brought about gradually as the camps are vacated by divisions now in training, but the department is not yet ready to announce just what states will be drawn on to fill the second Camp Grant division and the others to be filled by future draft levies.

New Division Plans.

The fact that most of the camps to be utilized are in the south and that there will be an overflow of northern and western states' men in camps in those sections to be sent south will necessitate a new plan of distribution. Widespread promotion of officers now in the service to procure officers for the higher commands will result from organization of the new divisions.

WIRES CONTROL PROPOSAL FIRED BACK AT SENATE

Committee Hears One Witness and Reports Measure Again.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—After a stormy session the senate interstate commerce committee by a vote of 7 to 5 decided today to report again the resolution empowering the president to take over the telegraph and telephone wires.

Although it was rebuked by the senate yesterday for refusing to hold hearings on the resolution, the committee acted today after hearing only one witness—President Carlton of the Western Union Telegraph company. He gave his testimony to the committee behind closed doors. Immediately upon his leaving the stand the committee voted down all motions to summon other witnesses and abruptly closed the hearings.

Another bitter fight in the senate when the committee makes its report tomorrow was promised tonight. It is probable that a motion to recommit the resolution will be made at once. Senators opposing hasty action on the measure denounced the action of the committee in the most vigorous language again tonight and insisted that further hearings should be demanded.

Seek to Stop Leaks.

Senators who have been in conference with President Wilson during the last few days confided to their colleagues today that the real purpose behind the taking over of the wires was to establish a more rigid censorship over telegraph and telephone messages. The danger of a strike had been only an incidental reason, they explained.

"Within a few days there may be a development which will convince the people of this country that the administration acted properly in asking congress for power to take over the wires," said Senator Ed Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee. The mystery was not illuminated further, but there were hints of spy plots, over which the government had no control as long as the wires remained in the hands of private interests.

Seek Curb on the Press?

Many senators were inclined to regard this reason as groundless and openly declared the main purpose behind the resolution was to add further to Postmaster General Burleson's censorship over the press. By placing him in charge of all press wires, it was pointed out, he could exercise a still greater restraining hand on press dispatches.

This assertion promised to form the pivot of the opposition to the resolution. Senator Lewis of Illinois has laid before the president a bill to create a separate government department to take charge of communications. This measure would place both wires and railroads under a central direction. It is understood that it does not meet with the postmaster general's favor. Its chief effect would be to keep the control of the wires out of his hands. Senator Lewis said today that the president was giving the measure careful consideration. L

President Carlton's Views.

President Carlton did not vigorously oppose the proposal to take over the Western Union lines, but expressed doubt as to its advisability. He laid before the committee tables of figures showing the company's capitalization, bonded debt, and earnings.

In discussing the labor situation, Mr. Carlton, it was reported, declared the Western Union company was not opposed to the principle of unionizing employes, but opposed to "outside influences." He insisted that the threatened strike would not have caused more than a mere handful of operators to quit work.

After Mr. Carlton had left the committee room a series of motions favoring further hearings were voted down in rapid succession. Senator Gore wanted to call representatives of the operators. He and Senators Pomerene and Kellogg voted against the resolution to close the hearings.

Expects Senate Approval.

Senator Smith said he would report the resolution as soon as the senate convenes tomorrow. He expects to have it adopted by the senate within a week or ten days. He pointed out that the resolution merely empowers the president to take over the wires if the emergency requires and that there should be no objection to giving him the authority to act if military necessity demanded. At the same time, he admitted he had no doubt the president would take advantage of the authority given him in the resolution and take over the wires at an early date.

NEW TAX BILL AIMED TO FORCE WAR ECONOMIES

Autos, Clothing, and Gasoline to Be Included.

abolishment of the present film tax and doubling the rate of admission tax. A 5 per cent tax on the rental received by the movie producers was also proposed. Alcoholic beverage taxes would be doubled. Whisky now taxed $3.20 a gallon would be taxed $6.40 a gallon.

Double Club Memberships.

All tobacco and cigaret taxes would be doubled.

A license tax on automobiles, graduated according to horsepower, would be levied in the following manner:

Twenty-three horse power, $15; twenty-four to thirty horse power, $25; thirty-one to forty horse power, $40; over forty horse power, $50.

Club membership dues would be doubled.

Male household servants, including chauffeurs, would be taxed 25 per cent of the wages of one servant up to 100 per cent of the combined wages of four or more. Each family would be allowed one female servant exempt from taxation, but all additional female servants would be taxed, beginning at 10 per cent of the wages of one and running up as high as 100 per cent on more than four.

Opposition Is Expected.

The ways and means committee, which is now framing the war revenue bill, will give extended consideration to the taxation scheme proposed by the treasury department.

It is expected that the country will evince considerable opposition to some of these proposed taxes, particularly that of 10 cents a gallon on gasoline. Such a tax would prove a great burden to business concerns using motor trucks and to individuals employing automobiles in their occupations.

If the tax could be applied to gasoline used for pleasure driving only there would be little, if any, objection, it is anticipated.

Members of the war industries board who hint darkly at a shortage of gasoline are inclined to favor a tax on such fuel oil, but members of the trade committee deny that there is any shortage of gasoline and charge that a scare has been manufactured to justify the unwarrantably high price maintained by the oil companies.

PERSHING SENDS CABLE GREETING TO BROTHER ELKS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 9.—Gen. Pershing, who heads the list of 30,000 members of the order of Elks in the military service of the country, today cabled a message of greeting to the 500,000 members of the order.

The message was read at today's session of the Elks' convention and is as follows:

"I send greetings and express my full confidence in the loyalty and patriotism of all members of the order of Elks and their undivided and hearty support of our president in this crisis of our nation's history."

Bruce A. Campbell of Illinois was elected grand exalted ruler, and the administration made a clean sweep today in the contested offices. In close fights Fred C. Robinson, Dubuque, Ia., and Charles White, Chicago, won over James Richardson, Cincinnati, and J. F. Brennan, Dennison, Tex., respectively, for grand secretary and grand treasurer.

A second million dollar fund was voted by the delegates for war relief work. The money is to be under the care of a commission headed by John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania.

SOUTH CHICAGO HONORS DRAFTED

South Chicago is going to give a royal sendoff to 120 men who leave today for Camp Gordon, Ga., to join the national army.

The National Army Escort of South Chicago, an organization of business men, which taxes itself to aid drafted men, has planned the celebration.

This includes an automobile parade of 200 cars through South Chicago, and thence, over the south side boulevard system, downtown to the loop, where, led by two bands, the occupants of the cars, consisting of the recruits and their relatives, friends, and well wishers, will traverse the downtown section afoot, winding up at Dearborn station, where the men will entrain for Camp Gordon at 5:40 in the afternoon.

The men are from districts 19 and 20. The automobiles, of which Supt. P. A. Newton of the South Chicago works of the Illinois Steel company has provided seventy-five, the others coming from steel company bosses and business men, will gather at 3 o'clock at the South Chicago federal building, and start.

Forest Fires General in Northwestern States

Olympia, Wash., July 9.—Forest fires are general throughout the northwest. Fifty soldiers from Camp Lewis are fighting the big Cispus fire in the Rainier national reserve, and Gov. Lister is contemplating calling out the national guard to patrol forests.

A half a score of fires are burning in the Klamath and other forests of northern California.

In Montana the Rocky Ridge fire has broken control lines in the Clearwater and Sulway forests, and lightning has started new fires in the Missoula district.

WOOL DEALERS HELD ON CHARGE OF TAX FRAUDS

Boston, Mass., July 9.—William A. English and John H. O'Brien, members of the firm of English & O'Brien, Boston wool merchants, were arrested today on a federal indictment charging conspiracy to defraud the government of income taxes.

The indictment alleged that the shortage through improper accounting amounted to $250,000. Both pleaded not guilty and were held in bonds of $25,000 each. Federal officials said it was the first case of the kind to be brought to the attention of the grand jury.

With the arrest of English and O'Brien it became known that the government yesterday instituted a civil suit against them for the recovery of $2,000,000 damages to cover the amounts alleged to have been held back on income tax payments.

Sentence Oleo Merchants.

New York, July 9.—Frank W. Tillinghast, president of the Vermont Manufacturing company, and L. W. Barber, general manager of the company, were sentenced in the federal court today each to serve one year and one day in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta and pay a fine of $500 after they had pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government out of a tax of 10 cents a pound on oleomargarine. The government claimed the defendants evaded payment of taxes amounting to $500,000.

JUNK DEALERS AID IN WOMEN'S SALVAGE WORK

The junk dealers of Chicago have joined forces with the salvage bureau of the Red Cross in its effort to aid dependent families of soldiers and sailors. At a meeting yesterday in the city hall, over which Judge Harry M. Fisher presided, the Junk Dealers' Red Cross Waste Materials association was formed and plans were laid for clearing out thousands of garrets and converting their contents into cash.

The housewife who allows the junk dealer to cart away a lot of odds and ends will receive coupons in place of cash. The dealers will buy these books from the Red Cross officials. Dealers belonging to the organization will wear a badge bearing the Red Cross emblem.

Plans for supplying the 1,700 junk dealers of Chicago with the coupon books are to be worked out this morning.

Walkout of 500 Wire Men in Canada Due Today

Over five hundred telegraphers, members of the Canadian branch of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, will strike today, according to S. J. Konenkamp, president of the latter organization. The discharge of two men and the refusal of the employers to reinstate them is the cause of the walkout, he said.

HURLS CARNAGE FROM THE AIR; PAINTS SCENE

Lt. Farre, French Artist-Aviator, Here to Show His Pictures.

Lieut. Henri Farre, sky fighter and official war painter of France, standing six feet high, covered with medals won in deadly cloud combats, arrived in Chicago yesterday for the exhibition of his aviation pictures, which are to be shown at the Art institute from July 12 to 21. The exhibition is for the benefit of children of aviators killed in the war and for the work of the American fund for French wounded.

"Ah, the American spirit! It is marvelous!" said M. Farre. "The difference between New York and Paris? Bah! There is no difference except for the bombs. The war spirit is the same. In New York they can still make engagements for the evening. In Paris we do not do so, because all the lights must be out by 9 o'clock and we have always to think of the bombs."

Scenes Limned on His Brain.

Lieut. Farre, who is one of the most distinguished painters of France, explained how he paints his sky pictures of battles in the air, the first of the kind ever produced.

"It is a new method," he said, "and I had to study for six months and make many experiments before I found the proper way. To paint clouds from above them, instead of below, makes one aware of different values. Of course, I cannot paint while I am up there fighting, but I can see. I photograph on my brain the scenes below and around me and then when I alight and can get to my brushes I transfer that scene from my mind to the canvas."

He Bombs the Huns.

The lieutenant, who is 47 years old, and a bachelor, has been assigned to the first Group d'Escadrile de Bombardment, and has the rank of observer bombarder. He has flown over all parts of the line and has taken part in practically all the great air raids over German cities. His picture of the bombardment of Karlsruhe is one of his most striking canvases. There are 150 in all.

His friend and compatriot, Lieut. Georges Flachaire, ace of aces of the French flying corps, will arrive the latter part of the week. Lieut. Farre is accompanied on this trip by his interpreter, Theodore Converse of New York, whose parents are warm friends of the aviator painter. They are stopping at the Blackstone.

KROUPA DIVES INTO POLICE CELL

James Kroupa, chief mechanical engineer at one of the steel mills in Gary, Ind., literally broke into jail last night after he had attempted to break into his wife's home and had escaped death when the revolver his wife aimed at him failed to explode the cartridges it contained.

Police were called to the home of Mrs. Lillian Kroupa, 7337 Cottage Grove avenue. They arrested Kroupa as he was crawling through a window while Mrs. Kroupa, standing within five feet of him, pulled the trigger of the small caliber revolver she held in her hand. The panels of the front door had been broken by Kroupa, but his wife had barricaded the door with several chairs and a table. The Kroupas had been separated a year.

As Kroupa walked into the Grand Crossing station he glanced at the rear screen door of the room, assuming it opened outside. He ran, then leaped through the door, carrying the screen with him.

"You saved me from bringin' you in here," said the lockupkeeper as he picked him up from the floor near a cell door.

Much Battered Husband Accused of Beating Wife

Joseph F. Pavel of 816 Dempster street, Evanston, today is to be given a hearing before Justice Boyer on a charge of assault preferred by his wife. He was accused of beating her because she failed to have his supper ready. Pavel was much bruised in his encounter with his wife and neighbors, after looking at both, were unable to decide who had been bested in the fight.

Rumely Freed on $35,000 Bond; Newspaper Is Continued

New York, July 9.—With Dr. Edward A. Rumely, publisher of the New York Evening Mail, under arrest charged with having financed the newspaper with German money, the question as to the future ownership and management of the newspaper was in abeyance today. It will be decided in Washington at a conference tomorrow or Thursday between Henry L. Stoddard, chief bondholder of the property, Paul Block, who is said to own $50,000 worth of the stock, and A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian.

Dr. Rumely was arraigned in the federal court and on representations by his counsel that he had placed all his personal records at the disposal of the department of justice, bail was fixed at $35,000, instead of $50,000, as asked by the district attorney. The bail was furnished and Rumely was released. Shortly afterwards a federal grand jury began consideration of the case. It is said that many witnesses will be called.

Statement Arouses Interest.

Assistant United States District Attorney Harold Harper's statement in the course of Rumely proceedings to the effect that Dr. Rumely handled German money not only to defray the publication expenses of The Mail but also for "other purposes" caused much speculation. No information, however, as to what the "other purposes" referred to are was given out.

The note for $100,000 made payable to the order of Hermann Sielcken, which Dr. Rumely claims represented his personal purchase of The Mail, is in the possession of the government.

Cablegram Is Evidence.

Dr. Rumely's claim is that Sielcken, who died in Germany about two weeks after the note was signed, had acquired the paper and sold him the property, which had cost the German government, $1,361,000, for $100,000.

In connection with this phase of the case the government also has come into possession of a cablegram which was received by Kurt Reisinger, a director of the Mail company and a grandson of the late Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, a short time before Mr. Sielcken's death.

This cablegram instructed Mr. Reisinger that "if representations made to you are correct represent my interests in New York." It was signed Hermann Sielcken.

Mr. Reisinger has informed the federal authorities that he received such a telegram, but he denies having acted as the representative of Sielcken or any one else in the alleged sale. His grandmother, Mrs. Busch, who was in Germany when war was declared by this country, and who returned to the United States a few weeks ago, was mentioned by Rumely also as one of the owners of the Mail. On her arrival at Key West Mrs. Busch informed agents of the department of justice that statement was false, and that up to that time she had never heard of Rumely. Mrs. Busch, it is rumored, will be a government witness.

While waiting for his bail to be furnished Dr. Rumely made a statement to newspaper men, in which he asserted that the Mail's editorial policies, controlled wholly by himself, had been squarely behind the government, and that his return made to the enemy property custodian, would be found to be truthful in every respect.

Dr. Rumely declined to discuss his associations with former Ambassador von Bernstorff and Dr. Heinrich Albert, through whom the Mail is alleged to have been financed, but added he might say something definite in this connection within twenty-four hours.

Mr. Stoddard this afternoon issued a statement saying he did not know, at the time he disposed of the Mail stock, where Dr. Rumely obtained his money. During his negotiations with Dr. Rumely, Mr. Stoddard said, Hugo Schweitzer, representing "the German dyestuff trust" in this city, endeavored to buy the Mail on behalf of himself and other German-Americans who wanted a newspaper "to speak for German interests during the war." Mr. Stoddard told Schweitzer he could not buy the Mail for such a purpose and closed the interview.

"I had no information as to the source of Dr. Rumely's funds and no right or power to inquire into it," he said.

Paper Is Issued.

The first edition of the Evening Mail appeared about 2 p. m. Above the title spread across the page appears the following:

"Mr. Stoddard in control of the Evening Mail."

In addition this statement was printed on the front page:

"With the assent of the alien property custodian, A. Mitchell Palmer, I am, in conjunction with Mr. Paul Block, now in absolute control of the Evening Mail and propose to conduct it as a loyal, patriotic newspaper.—Henry L. Stoddard."

More Arrests Predicted.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—More than seven months' work, involving activities of the department of justice and secret service, as well as the efforts of the New York state authorities, preceded the arrest of Dr. E. A. Rumely of the New York Mail Publishing company.

Assistant Attorney General O'Brian said today the inquiry was far from closed and intimated that further arrests were to be expected.

Had Thirty Million Fund.

Evidence obtained shows that the central powers set aside a fund of $30,000,000 with which to buy American newspapers and circulate propaganda which it was hoped would end the danger of this country entering the war on the side of the allies.

This step, it was said today, was taken by Germany when the sinking of the Lusitania was planned. It was believed then by the blunderers who advised the kaiser that a propaganda campaign could be staged and carried out here which would make possible the unrestricted submarine warfare to which Germany later resorted in an attempt to cut off American supplies from the allied governments.

PENROSE SLIPS 'MICKEY FINN' IN DRY AMENDMENT

Halts Senate Discussion When He Raises Point of Order.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—When the wartime amendment to the agricultural extension bill came up in the senate today Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania promptly made a point of order against it and demanded that it should be stricken from the bill as a violation of the senate rules.

The senator did not ask an immediate rule from the chair and the point of order is now pending. As Vice President Marshall is absent, it is probable Senator Saulsbury of Delaware, a "wet," will make the ruling tomorrow. No matter which way he rules, an appeal will be taken and the question will have to be settled by a vote of the senate.

Called General Legislation.

Senator Penrose contended that the amendment violated the rule providing that no general legislation may be attached to an appropriation bill. If the chair sustains the point of order and the senate upholds the chair, the amendment will be killed immediately. If the amendment is held to be no violation of the rules, the prohibition question will be fought out on its merits.

The raising of a point of order did not take prohibition leaders by surprise, as this had been anticipated. In view of the fact that the amendment, which not only prevents the sale of distilled spirits, beer, and wine after the first of next year, but prohibits the manufacture of beer and wine after Nov. 1 next, is a substitute for the Randall prohibition amendment inserted by the house, they contend it would not be subject to a point of order.

Senatorial Views on Cheese.

Most of today's session was consumed by Senator Sherman of Illinois in riddling what he characterized as unnecessary appropriations contained in the agricultural extension bill. He criticised an item to teach the manufacture of cottage cheese.

Food Dealers Disband; Charges Are Interchanged

The Evanston Food Dealers' association gave a quavering gasp yesterday, rolled over, and died.

When it was brought into being the members pledged themselves not to remain open after 6 p. m. and to charge spendthrift housewives 5 cents for each package delivered.

Reproaches and recriminations passed back and forth over the corpse. The little dealers said the big dealers had violated the delivery agreement and the big dealers said the little fellows had violated the 6 o'clock closing agreement. In the future, worthwhile members of the Food Dealers' association will become a part of the Evanston Commercial association as the grocers' and butchers' division.

ILLINOIS CONGRESSMEN AT LARGE.

Medill McCormick and William E. Mason are the two Illinois congressmen at large, elected as such because the legislature has not been able for years to redistrict the state into the proper number of congressional districts. It gets the proper representation in congress without having the proper number of congressional districts, and it does so by electing two congressmen without districts, electing them by the vote of the entire state instead of by the vote of districts which they represent.

Mr. McCormick is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate. His place is to be filled. For this place and for Mr. Mason's seat Richard Yates and Henry R. Rathbone are two of the candidates in the Republican primaries. They are the two we mention because we believe they are the two who ought to be nominated.

Mr. Mason, we think, has deserved retirement. He has been obnoxious to political intelligence and patriotic emotion. His dissent in the question of America's participation in the war did not have the violence and malignance of La Follette's, but it was unworthy of an Illinois congressman.

We are not disposed to draw a narrow line upon a man's intellectual processes, but Mr. Mason constantly managed to go beyond lines which decent subscription to community decision and purpose place upon the ideas of a man in public office.

He raised a small egotism against national decisions and split hairs while the nation was trying to saw wood. We do not believe Illinois favors a congressman who insists upon chopping logic with a cleaver while his fellow citizens are trying to raise armies and make guns.

The point where Mr. Mason's personal or political opinions regarding American interests in the war could be presented with decency and grace was passed by him without his knowing, apparently, that he was offensive and unimportant. It seems to be possible in his case to take such snap judgment as the greater importance of other things permits in criticism of the individual official these days and to say that Illinois would be better served by other of her citizens.

Mr. Yates has not always permitted the discreet and judicious to agree unqualifiedly with him. We imagine that more which might harrow his feelings could be found in the files of THE TRIBUNE than in any other place. But Richard Yates, calmed a little by experience, we imagine, has at least the traditions of an American family and the emotions of an American citizen. His father was war governor of Illinois, and if the son may have made too much of this fact in small times, he may make a great deal valuable of it in these times.

Rathbone is a lawyer of character and ability. He has rendered invaluable patriotic service to the whole state throughout the war, giving himself devotedly to the cause and showing qualities which would be of great value to Illinois and to the natibn in congress. These two men, Yates and Rathbone, recommend themselves most highly to Republicans at the forthcoming primaries.

IN RUSSIA.

Germany is not to swallow the Russian pigeon as easily as Potsdam hoped. The appeal of the Murman coast people for help from the allies, the guerrilla warfare in Ukrainia, the burning of grain and supplies, the threat of famine, the check at Vladivostok, and now the assassination of her powerful emissary, Von Mirbach, at Moscow are vexations, if not perils. The killing of Mirbach is a rather serious incident. Prussian prestige must be maintained, but if the instructions given by the kaiser to the German expedition in China after the assassination of Von Ketteler are followed, hopes of peaceful penetration will come to an abrupt end. The Russians have been a patient people, but they will not accept frightfulness very amiably. The German steel shod boot cannot trample them into permanent submission and its brutal pressure will undo all the pro-German propaganda since the fall of Nicholas. Then there will be no crops for Germany. Then the east front will blaze forth again, if not in formal operations, at least in a guerrilla warfare almost as costly to deal with.

We must pray for more German logic. Not that we wish Russians to suffer more than need be for their eventual salvation from Prussian domination.

COL. LEWIS' CONFESSION.

It is at great personal sacrifice that Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois confesses that it was he who, in the Spanish war, fomented all the trouble about embalmed beef. Mr. Lewis is about to become a candidate for reelection to the senate, and no one realizes more than he how much it is contrary to his best interests to confess that it was he and not Theodore Roosevelt who wrote the round robin of protest against the bad beef, in flagrant violation of military discipline, and who signed all the names to it.

Mr. Roosevelt has rested under this obloquy long enough—far too long for the satisfaction of Mr. Lewis' conscience. Col. Roosevelt, a patient and uncommunicative soul, has not complained of the injustice done him and, if a word of complaint could be used regarding Col. Lewis, we must say that he has been tardy. Nevertheless, with an election coming right along, he arises in the senate and makes a clean breast of it.

There was some disposition on the part of the other senators to wonder what relevancy Col. Lewis found between his confession and the general matter under discussion, which was the disposal of the gift of $40,000 Nobel peace prize money Col. Roosevelt had turned over for public usage. Let it be understood that there need be no relevancy connecting Col. Lewis' conscience with anything. Whenever that active instrument of his moral nature stirs, the colonel speaks. He would as easily have addressed himself to a weather report or a box score of the Cubs-Giants series.

Col. Lewis might have been reminded of a moral sin by an estimate of the wheat crop, by a discussion of trench nephritis by Dr. Evans, by Mae Tinée's criticism of a movie, or by the bright sayings of children, for which happy parents are paid $1 by THE TRIBUNE. Bright sayings of children might have a very stimulating effect upon the conscience of Col. Lewis.

It was a noble thing for the colonel to do, and let us not permit ourselves to wonder just what it had to do with the occasion. He will carry the obloquy of this attempt to protect American soldiers from ptomaines and colic, and although the fabric of his future falls about his ears, he will sooner or later confess the things into which his undisciplined fervor led his tumultuous soul. If it keeps him from being reelected United States senator, he at least can return to the thistles with a clean conscience.

Now that Col. Lewis' conscience has started actively in eruption, we may expect him to relieve Thomas Jefferson of the obloquy of having written the Declaration of Independence, Abraham Lincoln of the obloquy of the emancipation proclamation, and the sparrow with his bow and arrow of the sin of shooting Cock Robin. The colonel did 'em.

THE SUFFRAGE FOR AMERICAN WOMEN.

The suffrage resolution is now pending on the senate calendar, and Senator Jones of New Mexico has announced that he will call it up after the supply bills are out of the way. It will take a majority vote to do that and the friends of the enfranchisement of American women should be marshaling their strength for this test.

Can there be any doubt of the result? Looking at the women of embattled Europe and of warfaring America, can there be any doubt of the result? We do not believe there can be.

In England women have earned enfranchisement against the conservative instinct of their race. They have earned it by a devotion and by a service which makes one of the most inspiring chapters of history, of all history. No one could look at the record of British womanhood and say they did not deserve a voice in the affairs of state, a direct share in government. If this is true of British women we do not doubt it is true of American women, as they will show unfailingly as the pressure of our need increases. Today we are relying upon women for inestimable services, from that of the nurse, whose quiet heroism lights the ways of death on the battlefield, to the even more difficult heroism of the wife or mother, who gives what is dearer than life that the nation may live. Today we are turning more and more to seek the aid of women in almost every field of effort, and we do not think congress nor the legislatures which finally are to pass upon the suffrage grant will refuse recognition of her place in any democratic system of government.

The resolution submitting the question of enfranchisement to the legislatures of the states must be passed by a two-thirds vote of congress. Thereafter three-quarters of the states, acting through their legislatures, must vote the suffrage. There are many states which thus far have refused the grant, and some of these will not change. But war is bringing home to the American people many things, and we do not think that the nation will be behind our allied democracy of England in this step toward democracy. But whatever opinion may be, the people should be permitted to pass upon this capital issue of national policy. That only is the responsibility of congress now, and we cannot believe it will be shirked or denied. Give the American states the opportunity to say whether the intelligence and character of American women are to be made directly available in the political affairs of the republic.

RECRUITING UNSKILLED LABOR.

The president has announced the establishment of a central recruiting agency for labor which after Aug. 1 will seek to control the employment of all unskilled workmen. The purpose of this agency is to prevent the confusion and waste that now exist in this branch of our industrial effort. Employers engaged in essential industries are competing with each other, and even with the government, in order to recruit labor. The workmen themselves frequently make long and expensive journeys to obtain employment that, under a different system, might be obtained near their homes.

This new agency is to be called the United States employment service of the department of labor, and it will operate in conjunction with the war labor policies board. The president has called upon all employers to refrain, after Aug. 1, from recruiting unskilled labor except through this agency. If voluntary compliance is not forthcoming, it is announced that the government will institute restrictive and mandatory measures.

The necessity for some such central agency of this kind has been obvious for a long time. It is estimated that the present competitive methods of handling the nation's man power involve a wastage of productive effort amounting from 25 to 40 per cent. We shall be very unwise if we allow this wastage to continue, in view of the pressing need for increased production of munitions and ships.

The administration has been somewhat backward in formulating an adequate labor policy, but this proposal represents a definite step in advance. The success of the new program will, of course, depend in a large measure upon the wisdom and judgment with which it is carried out, but there can be little doubt that almost any sort of centralization and control is preferable to the present haphazard and inchoate methods.

NO BACKWARD STEP AFTER THIS WAR IS OVER.

[From the Sacramento Bee.]

What shall we do with our army after this war is over?

As THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE well says:

"It is important to know now what we are building—a temporary shelter in storm or a permanent protection against all storms?"

If, after this war is over, our army is to be disintegrated and dismissed, and we are some years from now to front a similar condition to that which confronted us at the time we entered upon this war with Germany, then all the lessons of the immediate past and the throbbing present will have been learned in vain.

The United States cannot afford to go backward in this matter. It must push on. It must become a strong nation—not return to be a weak one. It must be prepared at all times for all things that may come.

It cannot do so without compulsory military training and universal military service.

And this is not autocracy. It is democracy. It is placing the burden equally upon all, not as at present forcing some to do their duty while others shirk.

In a country such as ours, dedicated to the creed that all men are created equal; in a country where the people rule, this will not lead to militarism, but just the contrary.

The universal military service of Switzerland has not driven her to militarism. She is today a republic whose democracy is at once the marvel of the world and its model.

PIPPA PASSES THE GOOSEBERRIES.

[From the Carthage, Ill., Republican.]

"Country Lassie" presented the meal tub with a generous portion of wild gooseberries. The gift brought to our office in our noisy, busy plant, more than the vision of delectable gooseberry conserve and the gratification of the loving thought that prompted the gift, for it took us on the magic carpet of desire to the green fields and sunny pastures of the country side, from which this gift came. It brought the music of laughter and visiting of the foraging party seeking with courageous hands to wrest from the prickly defense of the bushes, the tart harvest; it brought a whiff of heavenly perfume from off a blooming clover field, over which the melodious notes of the meadow lark, the hum of bees, and ripple of butterflies hovered all day; it brought the sound of the reaper and the lowing of kine, and a reassuring knowledge of the earth's abundance. And we knew why Pippa, passing sang

God's in his heaven,

GUFFLE FOR GOLFERS.

For the benefit of golfers who depend on this department exclusively for their tips on the game, we have engaged Mr. Donald MacBawbee, the famous professional at Prairie Dog, as first aid to the helpless, and we feel safe in promising that he will add delightfully to the complications of the sport.

Mr. MacBawbee is 5 feet 11⅝, and carries the conventional clubs, with the addition of two implements which he calls a soakum and a pushum. The first is a bludgeon of wood, and is employed for dispatching the ball from the tee; the second is an iron for push shots. The grip of this iron is tapered to a point at the end, so that when the hands are pushed forward, which Mr. MacBawbee claims is the proper way to make the shot, the chance of the hands slipping is reduced to an irreducible minimum.

The Prairie Dog pro is committed to heavy clubs, and consequently he prefers lignum vitae to the conventional hickory. Concerning the length of the implements he has very decided opinions. No golfer, he says, should attempt to wield a club taller than himself or shorter than his golf bag. A happy medium, he suggests, will prove most satisfactory.

A MEMBER of the Garfield Park Town and Country club informs us that the favorite golf stick on those links is a ploughum.

SOME WAR DISEASES—TRENCH JAUNDICE.

TRENCH jaundice is not a new disease. Under the name, Weil's disease, it has been known for a long time, but the experiences of the war have lifted it from the shelf of heard of but never seen disease to an every day affair with the regimental and army hospital surgeons.

Trench jaundice generally starts with chills and fever. During this stage there may be some bowel disturbance, headache, and muscle pains. This stage lasts about six days. The second stage lasts about a week. In this stage jaundice appears. The jaundice is not very deep. The weakness is prominent in this stage.

While the third stage, which begins about the fourteenth day, is called the convalescent stage, it is characterised by a return of the fever.

These are the symptoms of the more severe cases. The milder cases present symptoms that do not differ much from the mild cases of catarrhal jaundice which are so frequently encountered in all parts of the country.

It is quite possible that troops have always had trench fever, but they did not attract attention so long as they had typhoid and smallpox to plague them. But it is also probable that the present armies have more of it than any previous army has had.

It has been found that trench jaundice is due to a spirocheta. This spiral organism abounds in the blood during the first two stages of the disease. It gets into the various organs of the body. It is voided with the urine. The natural host of the parasite is the ordinary brown rat. A large percentage of the wild rats in Japan, various parts of Europe, New York, Nashville, and other parts of the world have been found to be infected with this spirochete.

In the first place, this now well established fact means that troops living in trenches are especially subject to trench jaundice. In the second place, it means that milk trench jaundice is probably rather widely prevalent in this country. it has been called jaundice, catarrhal jaundice, malarial fever, and bilious remittent fever.

This is the second disease known to be spread by ordinary wild rats—plague being the first. A third is commonly known as rat bite disease.

Trench jaundice generally runs its course and ends in spontaneous cure, But its course can be cut short by the use of serum or arsphenamine. This war may teach us how to diagnose Weil's disease and how to cure it. It may cause us to interest ourselves in the suppression of rats and mice.

ONLY A MENTAL TWIST.

H. writes: "This may seem a trivial question, but it is a source of great worry. I am a woman of 50, going through the menopause. I have developed an almost unconquerable taste for raw coffee and for cigarets. Being staid, middle aged, and ordinary, I cannot indulge such tastes. Can you explain such an idiosyncrasy or suggest a remedy?"

REPLY.

I do not think it can be explained on any physical basis. It is merely one of those mental twists that sometimes appear during the change of life.

OVERFED BABY.

S. K. writes: "What is the cause of babies having eczema? Could you suggest some good remedy for a five month old child?"

REPLY.

Your baby is being overfed. The most frequent cause of eczema in babies is eating milk that is too rich in fat. Feed less. If the milk is too rich weaken it. Vaseline applied to the scalp helps somewhat.

A BABY'S DIET.

M. S. H. writes: "If it be possible, will you answer in your column to the following [baby 10 months old, takes 35 ounces milk plus 5 ounces barley gruel in day, one-half orange, zwieback, 5 pounds 10 ounces at birth. 17½ pounds now: [1] What vegetables may she have? [2] In what quantity? [3] Between meals or as part of meal with reduction of milk [she takes 7½ ounces at a feeding]? [4] Can her stomach hold more than 7½ ounces?

REPLY.

1. She may take a strained vegetable soup. Occasionally she may take about a teaspoonful of mashed potato with butter or gravy. Occasionally she may have some finely chopped spinach—a teaspoonful or two.
2. At 10 months she must not take enough of any of these to particularly modify the balance of the diet.
3. Continue milk, gruel, zwieback, and fruit juice as practically the entire diet for two months yet.
4. Could probably go to 9 ounces.

CHLORINE IN WATER.

J. F. W. writes: "Will you kindly explain why chlorine is used in our water supply as reported? Medical authorities say that it exercises a corrosive action upon organic tissues, irritating violently the nostrils, trachea, and lungs, and that it spontaneously burns various material."

REPLY.

Chlorine is used in the water to kill typhoid, dysentery and other disease-producing bacteria. The proportion used is 1.5 parts per million. In this strength chlorine solution has no corrosive or irritating action on anything.

BILIOUSNESS.

Hudson writes: Please tell me if anything besides a careful diet will relieve a bilious condition. Are wormwood and lemons any help?

REPLY.

Biliousness results from constipation. Exercise more, eat less and establish proper bowel habits and your biliousness will disappear. Persons who play golf, ride horseback or take other daily exercises seldom complain of biliousness. Light eaters and especially those who take but little meat rarely complain of it. Wormwood is of no service. Lemons are of service just as other fruits and vegetables are.

TRYING TO COMPREHEND U. S. HUSTLE

BY C. N. WHEELER.

LONDON, June 23.—The amazing rapidity with which American troops have been brought to Europe in enormous numbers since the Germans started the big drive of March is puzzling the high-brow critics of the London press. They can't understand it, apparently, and are at a loss to account for the superb achievement. It seemingly has not occurred to some of them that the American and British navies, plus American organization and hustle, might be reasonably set down as the proper explanation.

It would seem, however, that this does not satisfy the crowd, which must have everything of a big nature explained by the learned critics whose principal business is to diagram daily the world's unusual news.

So it comes about that in one of the leading Sunday papers today much good space is utilized by one of the high-brows in weird speculations as to what it all means. That the troops have poured into Europe at a rate thought humanly impossible a few months ago is admitted. That there have been practically no casualties in this stupendous transportation feat is admitted. That the steady stream of khaki-clad youths still is flowing in in what seems an endless flood of American fighters is admitted. The facts are not sufficient.

There must be some great hidden mystery in it. So we have one learned guess today that it may be Germany is playing another sinister game in not molesting the transports from America, relying on cutting off the food supply with a big submarine campaign after the millions of troops are landed and can't get back.

The suggestion is thrown out that possibly Germany is cooking up a big starvation scheme with which to destroy, or attempt to destroy, the American army.

The fact that valuable newspaper space is given over to the printing of such a guess or intimation illustrates to what extremes the fetish of "expert criticism" on all phases of the war is carried in London.

Competent naval authorities perhaps could explain the brilliant record in a few words by simply suggesting that the troops have come in great numbers in spite of Germany and her submarines, and that the record might be construed by the crowd on the street as an indication that the submarine menace, while yet a menace, is not what it once was. It may mark the beginning of the end of unrestricted U-boat activities, although obviously it will be impossible to remove the submarine entirely from a chance shot or render it wholly obsolete so long as thousands of ships ply the high seas daily, many of which are sailing vessels and ships of slow speed.

But London is simply dumfounded by the record. It beats anything in this line ever before achieved by any nation, and because America has done it there needs must be something very mysterious about it. If one were permitted to tell the number of American troops that sailed out into the Atlantic headed for Europe at the very hour the submarine recently was sinking Norwegian sailing vessels along the American coast it probably would be taken with a grain of salt by the show-me Londoners.

But every day the plain fact is being impressed that a new world record has been established in sea transport of troops. Even in the Boer war England, without the submarine to worry about, transported a little more than 200,000 troops to South Africa and considered it a large undertaking, which it no doubt was. Japan had the best record up to the present when she landed something like 1,000,000 troops for the storming of Port Arthur in the Russian-Japanese war. There were no submarines then, but a powerful Russian fleet to cope with. That has been held by war critics since to have been one of the world high events.

But now they are viewing the transport of almost incredible numbers 4,000 miles across the ocean, and not only that but the transportation over the same seas at the same time of millions and millions of pounds of foodstuffs with which not only to sustain the troops but the civilian populations of England, France, and Italy.

On one point all the critics are agreed—namely: the American navy has made very good. At a time when tonnage was believed to be disappearing from the oceans tonnage has seemed to come from everywhere, and, barring a few comparatively light losses, the freighters have come through unscathed in enormous numbers also.

And now London learns that it is only the beginning; that on July 4 America really gets going in good style, and from then on will put more ships into the water in one week than Germany can sink in a month.

All this makes London marvel. Incidentally, it is causing some alarm to the Tory and conservative elements, who already are beginning to think of trade routes and freight carrying bottoms after the war. While they are appreciative to the bottom of their hearts for the great American record, they are wondering if their own government realizes what it all will mean after the war. Some are perturbed lest the close of the war will see the shipping of the oceans being carried in American bottoms and the British empire relegated to a second class maritime power. Which is not a wild dream at all. If the war lasts another year the United States will be building more merchant ships (and quite a number of warships besides) than all the rest of the world. And the United States will be in a better position than any other world power to take charge of the sea commerce for all the belligerents during the reconstruction period.

That is to say, the prestige of the United States on the high seas is going up every day on this side of the Atlantic, and, whereas a little while back there was a disposition in some quarters to exaggerate America's promises as partially boasting, there is now sinking in the dead certainty that at last the states have struck their stride and the boundless resources back home render their possibilities practically limitless.

It is no secret, however, in English official circles that there is no worrying over what the United States may do after the war or what her position may be with respect to maritime matters. Official England is mighty thankful for what the American navy is doing and is not at all jealous of that record.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

As but limited space can be given letters in this department, writers must confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Unless they give us their full names and addresses their letters will not be considered. No manuscript will be returned unless the writer sends postage for that purpose.

[The following letter was received by THE TRIBUNE and forwarded to Mr. Garland, whose reply appears below.]

MR. GARLAND EXPLAINS.

Osage, Ia., June 15.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In Hamlin Garland's latest book, "A Son of the Middle Border," on page 7, one may read these words: Writing of his father's enlistment for the civil war, he comments: "Therefore he went away to join Grant's army at Vicksburg. What folly! What sacrifice! Like a thousand others he deserted wife and children for an abstraction—a mere sentiment. For a striped silken rag he put his life in peril.

"For $13 per month he marched away and fought, while his plow rusted in the shed and his harvest called to him in vain."

We who knew Hamlin's father attributed higher motive to him than fighting "for $13 per month." A. E. S.

Tannersville, N. Y.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Out of the many thousands who have read "A Son of the Middle Border," only five have written to me concerning the passage quoted by your correspondent. Dr. Holmes proved that it was not safe to be as funny as you can, and in this case it appears that it is not safe to be even mildly ironical.

To any one who knows my rampant Americanism, or who reads my book understandingly, there can be no question of the respect and love I feel for those men who in the days of the civil war gave their lives in defense of an abstract principle. My whole book is filled with the respect and love of a loyal son for a soldier sire. It is incredible that any one should mistake my meaning.

La Crosse, my father's county town, was a nest of "copperheads" in 1863. "Brick" Pomeroy had filled the region with secession sympathy and many of my father's neighbors were openly contemptuous of his patriotism. There were "pacifists" and "conscientious objectors" in Wisconsin in those days just as there are now, and it was with these facts in mind that I penned the ironic lines which your correspondent has called in question. The comment should have been in quotation marks, but in proofreading the manuscript they were dropped out. They have been restored and the passage, which will, I hope, be perfectly plain to even the hastiest reader, now runs as follows:

"'What sacrifice! What folly!' said his pacifist neighbors. 'To leave your wife and children for an idea—a mere sentiment—to put your life in peril for a striped silken rag—' But he went! For $13 a month he marched and fought while his plow rusted in the shed and his cattle called to him from their stalls."

In a certain sense the protest of the few who thought they detected in these lines a disloyal sentiment is heartening. It argues a watchful patriotism, an awakened consciousness of national honor for which I am grateful, even if now and again some supersensitive sentinel raises a false alarm.

With thanks for your kindness in permitting me to clear up this point in my book, I am, faithfully yours,

HAMLIN GARLAND.

A VOICE FROM CUBA.

OMAJA, Cuba, June 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I do not pretend to know what conditions are on the traction lines in Chicago at present, but from past experience I wish to state that it appears that your reader, R. H. W. (issue of May 30), needs a little enlightenment upon the subject of which he attempts to speak. I will not attempt to do it here, but if the gentleman who spoke his mind would attempt this work for a week or two I honestly believe he would look at this business differently.

DANA W. KERR.

ALL RIGHT, GIVE US SOMETHING DEEP.

Chicago, July 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your cartoons in section two under the heading "The Tiny Tribune" are very interesting, but after reading numerous articles in the Voice of the People (small people) I would suggest that you call this column "Tiny Tribune" owing to the frequent contributions from tiny minds with tiny ideas.

W. J. MOFFAT.

REFORMING THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Chicago, July 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—You have advocated the elimination of hard goods. I contend that your end is virtually accomplished now. If it is agreed that distilled liquors are "on their way," it is then a question of the best way to prevent the intemperate drinking of beer and wine. I still insist that the abolition of treating will accomplish this. I have sold liquors for twenty-two years. In all that time I have never known a wine or beer drinker who was a closet drunkard. The men who in the privacy of their apartments get drunk are gin and whisky drinkers. The fox hunting English and Irish squires who drank themselves to death were men who used distilled liquors. A great many of these foreign gentlemen regard the man who orders beer as a sort of a mollycoddle. They think his place is the ice cream parlor and not a barroom. Let us have beer and wine, abolish treating, and close the book.

JOHN W. MANKELL.

OUR NEGRO SOLDIERS.

Chicago, July 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There have been so many times when the Negroes of Chicago have felt that THE TRIBUNE was their enemy and not their friend that it is a pleasure to be able to write a friendly letter at this time.

The article relative to the Eighth regiment by Floyd Gibbons comes at the right time, and your editorial on the laxity of local exemption boards in the south is very timely. Some of us have looked with much concern upon the seeming inefficiency or indifference exercised in choosing men for the selective draft of southern boards, because we believe that Negroes will make the best possible soldiers if they are wisely selected and given a fair chance.

It is highly desirable that we have an opportunity to put our best men forward in the fighting line, not only for their own good, but for the safety and prestige of our American army. We know that men who are physically fit in every way are available in numbers sufficient to meet any demand, and that there is no necessity for loading up the army with men who are unfit for most forms of home service, much less for active military duty. "YOU ARE A LIAR!" CRIES MOSES AT DIVORCE TRIAL

Piqued as Lawyer Turns Spotlight on Nights with Sued Woman.

By the domestic tribulations of the ...ear old rich bachelor. Abroad he ...ediates beneath the bright lights ...f the ballroom or graces the shining ...mask at the festive dinner party. ...ut at home the cunning of no fem...ine hand camouflages the gaps in his ...earing socks and when rents appear in ...clothes his unaccustomed digits needs ...must wrestle with the tricky thread ...and needle.

Such at least was the case of Moses ...Meyers, wealthy Chicago bachelor ...broker, who was named by Edward M. ...Andrews as co-respondent in Andrews' ...divorce suit against his wife, Kath...erine. Meyers told of his domestic ...trials on cross examination yesterday ...before Judge Pinckney's court.

Very Exasperated.

Meyers grew exasperated in the telling. Maybe is was the memory of ...laundry pricks on his aforesaid digits ...as he mended the rents in the clothes. ...Maybe is was something else. But of ...his exasperation there was no doubt.

"I say that you are a liar," he finally yelled at the attorney for Mr. ...Andrews, who had grilled him unmercifully regarding his conduct during ...the three years that he lived in Mrs. ...Andrews' apartment—she was then ...Mrs. Elliott—on East Forty-sixth ...street. Meyers admitted living there ...for the three years from 1902 to 1905, ...but he denied that their relations were ...loyal; denied he had ever picked out ...the wall paper or held midnight conferences with Mrs. Elliott, she in her ...nightgown and he in his bathrobe, and ...denied that he had ever been introduced as her cousin. This was in contradiction of the testimony of witnesses who appeared Monday.

Only One Privilege.

Mrs. Elliott certainly failed to show ...genuinely interest in Cousin Moses' welfare, if she did call him her cousin. ...The only comfort of home that he enjoyed, according to his testimony, was ...the privilege of gazing across the breakfast table at Mrs. Elliott's pretty face, just like a regular married man ...might do.

The bachelor broker had testified that he never picked out the wall paper for Mrs. Elliott, nor had he ever done her marketing.

"Who darned your socks?" demanded Attorney Weymouth Kirkland.

"Nobody," replied Meyers, plaintively.

"Who mended your underwear?"

"I did it myself when there was any mending to be done," snapped the bachelor, getting red about the collar.

"Who served your breakfast?"

"I don't know. The maid, I suppose," said Meyers.

No Attention to Maids.

"Give us the name of a single maid who was employed at Mrs. Elliott's home while you lived there," demanded the attorney.

"Well, I don't know the names of them," said Meyers. "I never pay any attention to the maids."

"You gazed at Mrs. Elliott across the breakfast table every morning, didn't you?" asked the attorney.

"I frequently met her at breakfast."

"How was she dressed at breakfast?"

"She was respectably dressed, in a refined manner."

"You knew there were lots of nights when you and Mrs. Elliott were the only occupants of that flat?" demanded the attorney.

"Liar!"

"I say that you are a liar," yelled Cousin Moses. "I don't know it."

Cousin Moses jumped to his feet and started to leave the witness stand. The judge reprimanded him for his remark, and Mrs. Andrews' attorneys refused to intercede in his behalf. He was ordered to sit down again and to answer questions courteously.

Meyers said that when Mrs. Lindquist, the owner of the apartment, testified that he had been known as Mrs. Elliott's cousin, she "must have been mistaken." Later, Mrs. Andrews, taking the stand, denied that she had ever called him her cousin.

Meyers was asked about the time that he remained all night at the Andrews home at Daytona Beach, Fla., during the absence of Mr. Andrews. He said that he remained because it was raining, but admitted that, although the Andrewses had three automobiles, no one suggested that he be driven to the station.

"Having stayed in the same apartment with her for three years, you saw nothing wrong in staying all night in her husband's home?" Meyers was asked. He replied that he saw nothing wrong in it.

"Who showed you to your room?"

"Mrs. Andrews," admitted Meyers.

"Who gave you your pajamas, or night gown, or whatever you wore?" Meyers replied they were on the bed when he entered the room.

Mrs. Andrews' Story.

Mrs. Andrews' testimony consisted of a categorical denial of the testimony of witnesses against her. She denied emphatically that she had once been ill for a week with an illness that necessitated poultices being applied to certain parts of her body every fifteen minutes. On Monday, Mrs. Maria Anderson, a maid, had declared Mrs. Andrews was ill in this manner, and that she had nursed the sick woman in the daytime and that Meyers acted as night nurse.

Mrs. Andrews said that while she lived at the Forty-sixth street apartment she was engaged to be married to two men, one a Mr. Burries, the other a Mr. Gloor. Attorneys for Mr. Andrews indicated they would inquire closely into this when the cross-examination of Mrs. Andrews is begun today.

DEAD PATIENT BRUISED; INQUIRY

Bruises and discolorations on the head and face of Edward Ryan, a 70 year old patient at the Dunning State Hospital for the Insane, who was found dead in bed Sunday night, led to the opening of a coroner's investigation yesterday. Mrs. Mary Ryan, the widow, who lives at 322 South Whipple street, testified that on a previous occasion when she had visited her husband he was suffering from bruises.

HARRISON TO RUN FOR MAYOR AS NONPARTISAN?

Clash Between Him and Hoyne Ties Up Slate of "Antis."

Carter H. Harrison and Senator James Hamilton Lewis are due to arrive in Chicago this morning. Upon their coming, apparently, depends the strength of the Democratic county ticket that will be put up against the regular or Sullivan ticket that was named Saturday.

Here Is Situation.

This appears to be the situation within the anti-Sullivan Democratic ranks upon the basis of information that comes from the elements that are being combined in opposition to the Sullivan forces:

It is well understood that State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne will be a candidate for mayor as a Democrat.

It is equally well understood that former Mayor Harrison will be a candidate for mayor, not in the Democratic primaries, but as a nonpartisan candidate.

It is now known that the failure of the peace overtures made between the Hoyne men and the regulars, with the county ticket in the making, was due largely to declination of the Sullivan Democrats to tie up to State's Attorney Hoyne for mayor.

Lewis to Make Decision.

Senator Lewis is now expected to cast the decisive vote as to whether it shall be peace or war, so far as the Democratic primaries are concerned. His advice, according to the insiders at the Hotel Morrison headquarters, will determine largely the immediate course of former Gov. Dunne and William L. O'Connell. The Dunne-O'Connell Democrats have secured no recognition whatever in the makeup of the regular county slate.

Harrison to Keep Silence.

Former Mayor Harrison, as suggested by his recognized friends and political allies, could have the last word with respect to a primary fight. In the position with respect to the mayoralty that he is represented as holding—which is that he will be a nonpartisan candidate even if Mr. Hoyne is the Democratic nominee—his old-time friends on the job say that he will withhold any advice or comment. It is understood that the former mayor departed from New York yesterday and may arrive in Chicago this morning.

Pending the coming of Senator Lewis and former Mayor Harrison, nothing whatever has been decided by the anti-Sullivan Democrats as to a county ticket. There isn't even a tentative slate, and there will be none until tonight at the earliest, the insiders allege.

The three battling Republican factions directed organization attention last night to securing signatures to the necessary primary petitions that must be filed Saturday.

DEMOCRATS PICK 7 FOR NEW YORK GOVERNOR RACE

Syracuse, N. Y., July 9.—[Special.]—William Church Osborn, who has volunteered to go into the Democratic primaries this fall and fight William R. Hearst to a finish, received more votes when the committee of forty-two met here today than any other candidate whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for governor.

Five formal ballots were taken. Neither in the informal nor in the formal balloting did Mr. Hearst receive a single vote.

On the final ballot the vote was divided as follows: William Church Osborn of Putnam, 9; Mayor Harry C. Walker of Binghamton, 8; James W. Gerard, 7; Alfred E. Smith, 6; William H. Edwards, 3; Charles B. Alexander, 3; Congressman George R. Lunn of Schenectady, 1.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. COMMITTEEMEN BACK NEWBERRY

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 9.—[Special.]—Truman H. Newberry of Detroit is the choice of the Michigan Republican state central committee for the United States senatorship, according to sentiment expressed here today at their conference. The committeemen set Sept. 26 as the date for the Republican state convention, which will be held in Grand Rapids.

The Democratic invitation to unite on Henry Ford as a bipartisan candidate was completely ignored.

WATER WAGON ENTERED IN RACE TO DEFEAT FORD

Osborn's Record as 'Dry' Factor in Senatorial Contest.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Lansing, Mich., July 9.—[Special.]—The water wagon is racing the "tin lizs," in a manner of speaking, in Michigan's senatorial sweepstakes. The demon rum was chased out of the state May 1 and the gin mills and dram shops were turned into soft drink fountains and coffee counters.

Just now the authorities are fighting over again the Toledo war of 1835, when Michigan and Ohio went into battle over the boundary line and congress restored peace by giving Michigan the upper peninsula. This time it is a war against the bootleggers and hootch smugglers. The mounted constabulary is on patrol against the bottle. At the depot here the other night a policeman arrested a passenger because he caught a whiff of liquor on his breath and took him to the station for carrying concealed contraband—it was concealed inside.

Osborn the Dry Leader.

The drys give credit to Chase S. Osborn for driving in the sprinkler. Back in 1911, in his inaugural message as governor, Osborn came out for a bone dry state. At that time the Sahara idea was not so popular as it is today and a fine yell went up. They still speak of that message here. Osborn, who has a penchant for unusual words, bowled the liquor men over by saying a saloonkeeper was nothing but a "saprophyte." It sent them hurrying to the dictionary to find if he had handed them a brickbat or a bouquet, and when their quest for higher education had been satisfied they yelled all the louder.

Two years ago Michigan adopted its bone dry constitutional amendment by 69,000 majority, showing the strength of the drys, and the chief platform campaigner was Osborn, who is now leading the active fight against Henry Ford for senator. It's a certainty that the dry vote is sure to cut quite a figure in the contest.

Investigator Reports.

Grant M. Hudson, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, who, in common with most of the anti-saloon leaders in other states, knows politics even better than most of the politicians themselves, has just returned from a tour of the counties in the upper peninsula and the west and southwest parts of the state. He has made special inquiry into political conditions. One reason for the success of the Anti-Saloon league is the fact that it has always been on the jump after advance information on political tendencies.

"I found that Chase Osborn is drawing strength from several distinct factors," said Mr. Hudson. "In the first place, there is the reflective part of the electorate that is weighing the merits of the candidates and will vote according to the qualifications they find. Osborn is a cosmopolite who has studied world-wide problems in foreign countries. He is equipped, not only on national affairs, but on international questions. In the reconstruction period his training, experience, and ability would be invaluable in the United States senate. Mr. Newberry is equipped and experienced on national questions.

Ahead of His Times.

"The second factor for Osborn is the dry vote, the voters who regard prohibition as the great thing. Osborn was the chief instrument in making Michigan dry. As governor he was five years in advance of his times in advocating the abolition of the dramshop. In the 1916 fight that made Michigan dry it was Osborn who led the fighting.

"Another factor is one which the Democrats have supposed would be solid for Ford, the men who are riding around in them. But wherever I go I find these men are weighing the mischief Ford wrought with his propaganda against preparedness. They are seeing how Ford's influence, his peace at any price preachments, the clamorings of the Ford advertisements that it was a war of capitalists and money bags, all this in the period before we got into the war, prolonged it by delaying the formulation of public sentiment in America. It is becoming realized that up to the time Germany forced war upon us, Ford did not know what the democracies of the world were fighting for.

"A fourth factor is labor, which is not forgetting that it was Osborn as governor who called the state legislature together in special session and forced through the workmen's compensation law."

55 per cent of the output of the seven big Maxwell plants is war work!

Every one of those plants is doing its patriotic duty—100 per cent.

We are frank to say we believe that is equally true of our competitors—we have yet to learn of a single shirker in this industry.

If there is anything more Uncle Sam desires done, we will tackle that too.

Meantime, and for the very reasons set forth above, we deplore the loose statements of panic-preaching publicists throughout the country.

These would close down the third largest industry in America on the grounds that it is a "non essential" industry.

No other industry is doing so much outside its regular sphere—doing it so willingly, doing it so rapidly and doing it so honestly as is this very motor car industry.

For a ship builder to make a few more ships; or for an ordnance plant to make more guns is only to develop their normal business.

But for a motor car factory to make ships entire and in part—and guns—and shells—and fuses—and caterpillar tractors—and mine anchors—and airplane motors, wings and other parts—that is doing things.

This industry is doing all that and more.

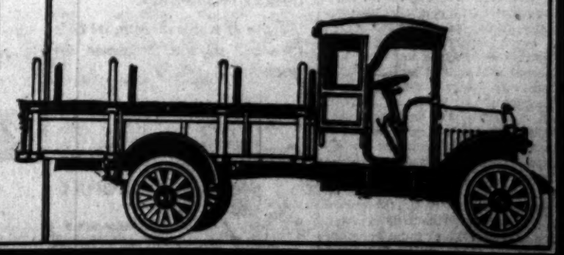
Detroit, the very center of the motor car industry—an inland city and one where, in normal times, we had no war industry—now is doing more war work than any other city in America.

And in our regular line we are also helping more than any other class of business men to solve the transportation problems at home and abroad—for we not only transport a very large percentage of our own raw material and finished product on its own wheels, but every truck—yes, and every passenger car too—helps by thousands of tons per year in carrying, formerly done by the railroads.

Loose talk is harmful at any time—it is particularly serious just now.

Let other industries do their part—do a tithe of what the motor car industry is doing—and they will be going some.

Meantime your own transportation problem, accentuated as it is by the war activities and the war prosperity of the country, can best be solved by an efficient, economical, reliable Maxwell Motor Truck.



URGES PROTECTION OF BUSINESS IN FRAMING REVENUE LAW

MUST SAFEGUARD OUR PROSPERITY, FARWELL WARNS

Chicago Merchant Writes Views on New War Tax Legislation.

Fourth of a series of articles on the new war tax bill which is engaging the attention of congress. Another article by Samuel Gompers will appear in an early issue of "The Tribune."

BY JOHN V. FARWELL.
[Chicago Merchant.]

Without all the information which the treasury department now has as to the workings of the present revenue law, it would be presumptuous for any individual to try to put forward a complete and definite plan for raising the additional revenue needed to win the war.

There are certain general principles, however, which must be followed, if we are to keep the country in such a prosperous condition that it will be possible to keep on collecting taxes from corporations, partnerships, and individuals.

Large Reserve Essential.

First, it is absolutely essential to the public, not private, interest that a large reserve be kept in the hands of all manufacturing and commercial institution as an exemption allowance before any heavy flat tax, like the English war profits tax, is laid on business.

Second, that taxes should not be too heavy during the period of adjustment to war conditions, or during the coming period of readjustment to times of peace, as these are always times of uncertainty and probably of smaller profit or income to business and individuals than times like the present, when the whole country is practically adjusted to war conditions, and to the idea that the war may continue for some length of time.

Larger Taxes in Order.

It is, therefore, much safer and surer for revenue purposes to impose larger taxes now, while these conditions continue, than to make them lighter now with the inevitable result that they must be greater in the uncertain post-war periods.

If we follow this plan, our country will be in a far better economic condition after the war than any of our international competitors, where the wartime taxes have been lighter and where the post-war taxes and interest charges will be very heavy. The lighter our burden then, the greater our opportunity for a profitable world business.

It is quite evident the industries of the country has borne the recently paid taxes of last year without any great hardship, and in my opinion they will pay the larger taxes for the year 1918 without injury to general credit and future prosperity, if the first principle announced above is strictly adhered to.

Conditions have changed materially since a year ago. It is now evident that we should and must raise something like $8,000,000,000 from taxation. To accomplish this, some improvements in the old law and some new methods of raising this additional revenue can be suggested.

Safeguard Production.

When the first war revenue bill was being considered it was almost universally conceded that the problem before congress and the country was to raise the necessary money with the least possible disturbance to regular business. Under the conditions then existing that statement was probably true. Today when we are in the thick of the fight and are the main economic reliance of the allies and getting to be a more important military factor every day, we shall have to restate the case.

Today we must raise the money so as to interfere as little as possible with the production and transportation of materials necessary to win the war, bearing in mind, of course, that business and industry must be kept in a sound condition for any shock that may occur when the war is over. It is not only a question of finding the requisite overwhelming man power within a given time, which means the quicker the better, but also of producing ordnance and quartermasters' supplies and a wide range of essential war materials within a given time.

Estimate Is $24,000,000,000.

If we must raise in the coming fiscal year, say, $24,000,000,000, as Secretary McAdoo estimates, we might assume roughly that $6,000,000,000 is for the regular old time government expenses, plus salaries of the army and navy and others engaged in the war business; that $6,000,000,000 is for loans to the allies, and $12,000,000,000 is to be used for our own war materials.

As the proceeds of loans to the allies are practically all being expended in this country for supplies, we would have $18,000,000,000 to be raised for the purchase of war materials needed in the coming year.

Problem of Production.

The real problem, however, is not that of raising $18,000,000,000 by taxes and loans, but rather that of producing $18,000,000,000 of proper materials in that limited time. It is physically possible and it may be comparatively easy for the government to obtain that credit, but unless we turn our attention to proper industrial organization and speed up our industries, it may be physically impossible to get that amount of supplies produced and transported within that period.

Suppose we discover that our present machinery and labor, as now organized, can make and transport only $12,000,000,000 within a year, of what use is it to the government to accumulate $18,000,000,000 from taxes and bond sales? We must imagine the country, with all its industries, as a huge war machine. To function properly and speed up without delay, each industry and individual must be made to fit into its place in the quickest possible time. Mr. Hoover and all those in the food regulation department are helping to do it; the War Industries board and the shipping board are assisting; the draft and labor boards are doing their part; and so are many other agencies like the Red Cross, the Young Men's Christian association, and others.

Savings Must Pay Bills.

A revenue bill can be drawn as to be an added factor in producing the same result. It would be a most irretrievable mistake to pass a bill which would tend to reduce production; it would be a greater error to pass one which would not in every way possible stimulate savings. All economists and financial leaders have agreed that the war must be paid for eventually out of savings, and the people are beginning to learn the same lesson. In drawing this bill the country must not lose sight of this point, even for a minute.

As this is so important, I might, as a first proposition, suggest or perhaps emphasize a savings tax plan which is already in operation in France and which is in process of operation in England. I should call it a tax on war extravagances. It hits the greatest economic vice of the American people through a tax on the retail price of certain articles sold above certain fixed price.

Tax Top Price Purchaser.

The purchaser of the article above the price is supposed to be indulging in war extravagance. In England the tax is 16 2-3 per cent, but the list of articles has not yet been determined, a committe having that work in hand. The French list comprises seventy-seven articles, on which the war tax is 10 per cent. For instance, women's shoes above 40 francs, or $8, are taxed; men's shoes above 50 francs, or, say, $10, are taxed; a woman's street costume above 250 francs, perhaps $50, is taxed; a man's suit above 200 francs, say $40, is taxed.

The following are some of the articles included in the list: Children's underwear, over 20 francs; men's and women's underwear, over 40 francs; furs, over 100 francs; gloves, over 8 francs per pair; table cloths, over 60 francs; trunks, over 100 francs; watches, over 50 francs; photographs, over 50 francs a dozen; chinaware and table service for twelve persons, over 200 francs; bedroom and dining room sets of furniture, over 1,500 francs. All grand pianos are called luxuries and taxed heavily and upright pianos are taxed as extravagances when costing over 1,20 francs.

Luxurious Necessities.

The idea in regard to this tax is that while these articles are not in themselves luxuries, but rather necessities, they become extravagances above these fixed prices, and should, therefore, be taxed. If any one wants to indulge in luxuries let him pay the tax. He has nobody's sympathy.

It seems to me there could be no better and more necessary tax provided than this, because, first, it would hit those who could apparently afford to pay; second, it would tend to increase production by concentrating our machinery on fewer articles; third, it would stimulate savings, which could and would be used to buy Liberty bonds and pay taxes.

Advantage Over Income Tax.

It is said that a big personal income tax would accomplish the same result, by reducing the amount we would have left for expenditures. Theoretically this is true, and, when we get used to it, it would probably do fairly well, but the practical psychology of the case tells us a different story. The income tax is payable every 15th of June, and a year is a long way off to the average citizen. To say an income tax would produce the same amount of savings as a tax on extravagance, like the one suggested, is like saying people will economize just as much if they can buy on a year's time, as when they have to pay cash as they go. This, of course, is nonsense. While the income might be the same, we all know it is human nature to spend less money when you have to consider the extra expense by paying cash at the time you make the purchase.

That is where the tax on extravagances differs from the income tax. It probably would produce about the same amount of money to the government, but in addition would help to increase the production of necessities and stimulate savings. Even if it did not produce as large an amount of revenue it would stop the buying of expensive things. It will help us to win the war, because the savings would come every day, without being noticed by any individual, and could be paid out in buying thrift stamps and Liberty bonds, without any hardship.

The American people are proverbially the most extravagant on the face of the globe. The French are the most thrifty. If they find such a tax effective in France, how much more do we need it?

Will Promote Efficiency.

Such a tax would tend to put each individual into a place in the great industrial machine where he and she could do his or her part effectually. It is right in line with the "work or fight" order. Each one would become a real help in speeding up production of essential materials, because by buying nontaxed articles, on account of the great difference in price, they would concentrate labor and production on these articles. Each citizen becomes automatically an important cog in one of the big wheels used to make the machine run smoothly and effectively. Congress should be urged to take action along these lines.

I also believe in a very heavy tax on some articles of general consumption, like tea, coffee, sugar and salt. This has been a very good source of revenue in England, and makes every one, rich or poor, feel they are doing their part in paying for the war.

The present tax on luxuries, such as jewelry, should be increased from 3 per cent to, say, 20 per cent, and the list should be somewhat enlarged.

In my judgment, it is much better to tax rather heavily a few articles than to tax a great number very lightly.

Collection at Source.

It would probably be easier to collect all these taxes at the source—that is, at the point of production or importation. In that way production or importation would be regulated and decreased, which is the object to be attained.

While the tax on extravagances is collected at the point of consumption in France, we must remember France is a much smaller country, and it is much easier to collect such a tax honestly there than it would be in this country. It would be better to collect here at the factory, the factory tax price being made with reference to the corresponding retail price, above which it was intended to have the tax burden apply. The tax would in this case be passed along from factory to consumer. This method would lessen production, which is more desirable than to have the goods made and then to lessen their consumption.

Income and Profits Taxes.

The great bulk of the additional revenue, however, will undoubtedly have to come from increased income taxes and some form of excess or war profits tax. Incomes in England from $2,000 to $400,000 or $500,000 are taxed much more heavily than in this country, whereas from $500,000 up the tax is approximately the same. The flat or normal war tax should be doubled, and the surtax between the amounts mentioned above should be considerably increased. There should be no difference made between earned and unearned incomes. All should be taxed alike.

While it would, of course, be burdensome to increase the sliding scale of rates of the present excess profits tax, I think the business men of the country would be very glad indeed to bear that burden, and so do their part in paying the war expenses. The scale might be raised so that the rate in what is called the last bracket would be as high as 80 per cent.

Satisfactory to 80 Per Cent.

Secretary McAdoo has claimed that in some respects and in many cases this tax has not worked out equitably. This is, of course, true, but on very good authority I have learned that it has been very satisfactory in 80 per cent of the cases. In a letter to Mr. Kitchin, Secretary McAdoo refers, I suppose, to this 20 per cent, as he mentions the fact that corporations with swollen capital and huge war profits have escaped.

Under these circumstances the remedy would be to give power to the executive authorities to reduce the swollen capital to the approximate amount used by like concerns doing the same amount of business. Nearly every line of business has a very well defined ratio between capital employed and sales or turn over. Some businesses require as large a capital as the sales of the business would amount to in a year. Others may be able to do within one year a business of ten or twenty times the amount of their capital. Finding out the average of every business, it would be very easy for the executive authorities to bring into the limelight those with relatively swollen capital and reduce them accordingly.

Capital Adjustments.

The idea would be not to attempt to adjust all to an exact average but to allow, say, a normal variation as shown by 70 per cent of the cases in a given industry, and then adjust the two extremes to some place within that range. The concern which had been overconservative in pre-war times, in writing off its assets, should, on proof established by it, have its capitalization increased to some place within the limits prescribed by the authorities. The rule should work both ways.

This is no new principle, as the executive authorities are already allowed to give a corporation, if its pre-war record is subnormal, the same amount of exemption as representative concerns in the same line, and are also already empowered in section 210 to fix the capitalization of a corporation, in case the secretary of the treasury is unable to ascertain it in a satisfactory way.

This power, however, is very indefinite, and has to be stretched to meet the situation described above. It is much better to have that section amended so as to make the provison clear and to furnish a litlte more leeway in the method of ascertaining the proper amount of capitalization. The plan might not be applicable to every case of this kind, but it certainly would to most of them. The exact method should not be written into the law but left to the executive authorities to determine.

Would Reach Every One.

Secretary McAdoo has recommended, as a remedy, what he calls a war profits tax, which will prevent such concerns from escaping the excess profits tax. That might not, however, be the case where a concern with swollen capital made a large sum of money before the war and is still making about the same amount. Under this plan it might not pay any war profits tax at all; and if it made 9 per cent on its overcapitalization, both before and after the war, it would not pay any excess profits tax either. If, however, the swollen capital is properly reduced, by some such method as the one suggested, to an amount recognized in that business as necessary, it cannot escape paying its amount of taxation.

A war profits tax, with a heavy flat rate, would, of course, open up more inequalities than the present excess profits tax law, as the higher the rate the greater the inequalities are sure to be.

Business Exemptions.

If such a tax is finally considered by congress to be wise, it would be necessary to give a minimum exemption of, say, 12½ per cent on all capital invested before the tax should apply. It would then give a living return, to all partnerships and corporations, just as a fair minimum wage, or individual exemption gives a living chance to the individual who has a small wage or income. All are equally entitled to live before they are heavily taxed.

This opens up the very important question on all war tax legislation. There may become people who believe that war tax laws can be drawn which will be equitable on all cases, and that such laws should be rigidly enforced. In my judgment, such a task is impossible.

We will probably get average justice out of a law which is passed, but the average will not help the people at the two extremes, that is those who are taxed entirely too much and those who may be taxed entirely too little. There will always be many of these exceptional cases. As I said, I have it on good authority that the excess profit tax has worked well on 80 per cent of the cases, which is certainly an excellent record, but there are still those within the 20 per cent to be considered.

Boards Fix Averages.

The people of England recognizing that exact justice under a rigid law is impossible, have established boards of referees, to take up cases at each extreme and bring them down or up to some kind of a fair average.

If we wish to obtain justice, we must follow their example and give the same latitude to executive authorities, who, with all the testimony at hand, have so far acted with discretion and fairness. These authorities should be represented, at least for the busy times of the year, in other parts of the country, the southwest, the middle west, the Rocky Mountain region, and the Pacific slope. Washington is accessible to the east and southeast, but a taxpayer or his attorney should not be obliged to travel way across the continent so as to have the benefit of a personal presentation of his case. It is a discrimination both against a section of the country and against smaller taxpayers. All decisions should be made in Washington. This general provision is fundamental.

Some better provision must also be made to take care of amortization of capital assets which have come into being wholly or partly because of the war and which will be wholly or partly useless after the war is over.

Suggests Deductions.

Going to another phase of the law, I would suggest two additional deductions to be allowed corporations: first, they should be allowed to deduct the full interest paid, instead of the limited amount now provided under the present law.

Interest is an expense of business, just like any other expense. Great unfairness is now done to certain kinds of corporations. For instance, many companies with comparatively small capital are in the kind of business where they borrow considerably during the course of the year, on staple collateral, so that their interest paid is a large amount during the year. At the end of the year they often are in shape to liquidate all such indebtedness. The present law only allows them a deduction equal to the amount of their capital, plus one-half of the indebtedness shown at the end of the year. If they show no indebtedness at all, because they have paid everything up, they would be allowed interest on an amount equal to their capital stock, whereas the interest paid may have been three or four times that amount. It also makes it advantageous for a concern to owe a great deal of money at the end of the fiscal year, rather than to reduce its indebtedness as much as possible.

This is not in public interest. On the other hand, the change suggested is fair to all.

Another suggestion would be to include the indebtedness in the capital invested, taking the capital stock and the average of the indebtedness during the year as indicating the amount of capital invested during the year. It makes no difference whether the capital employed in the business comes under the heading of capital stock or is in the shape of bonds or any other form of indebtedness—the total is the real capital invested.

A second form of deduction suggested would be to allow corporations to deduct the amount of their contributions to organized charitable and other institutions, under the same provision now applied to individuals, except that I would make the list of such deductions say 3 to 5 per cent of the net income, instead of the large amount of 15 per cent allowed to individuals. In my judgment, the limit should not be anything like as large as that allowed individuals, because corporations have not the same right to give away their money that individuals have.

Corporation Gifts.

Stockholders have probably different ideas to where they would like to have their money go. During war times, however, there are certain contributions, such as those to the Red Cross, the Young Men's Christian association, Knights of Columbus, and various relief organizations helping the distressed countries of Europe, in regard to which no sane and patriotic person can have any doubt. Corporations are asked and expected to subscribe to such funds and they do so gladly, believing these organizations in their way are doing as much to win the war as the army and navy. It is certainly unjust that corporations are now penalized by heavy taxation when they give to such cases.

The amount paid for such expenses as group life insurance, where employes' families are the beneficiaries should also come under this head or be deductible as a regular expense of doing business. It is practically an addition to employes' salaries by the amount of the premiums paid.

Is it not also against the public interest that bequests to educational, charitable and religious institutions should be taxed? As many state inheritance laws exempt them on the ground of the welfare of the state, I believe the United States should do the same. The combination of state and national inheritance taxes may in some cases of large estates reduce large legacies to nominal amounts. This should be changed.

There is one kind of taxation, suggested by many, which should not be given the least consideration; that is a general tax on sales or graduated tax on bank checks. The principle applying to both is the same, the result unjust and dangerous.

For example, one kind of business, like a grain company, has a very large turnover, and makes, say, 1 to 3 per cent on its sales; another, like the jewelry business, makes, say, 10 to 20 per cent on sales. A tax of 1 per cent on turnover, as suggested by some people, would take all or a large percentage of the profits of the former, and very little of the latter. Likewise, a graduated tax on bank checks, which is in effect a tax on payments for purchases made, is subject to the same objection. Brokers, for instance, who make payments running into millions, where the gross profit is ⅛ of 1 per cent, would find their profits more than wiped out by such a tax. Of course, a small stamp tax on every check, no matter what the amount, would not be objectionable, except that it would tend to decrease the use of checks and increase the use of cash, the same objection applying still more to a graduated tax than to a nominal flat tax.

Must Maintain Prosperity.

Whatever the government does, one fundamental fact must never be forgotten—that a sufficient reserve out of all profits must be retained in the hands of every business, so as to make the basis of our prosperity solid and unassailable. We must realize that many profits made at present are paper profits, that the losses, when the war ends, will, in many cases, be very great, and that the surplus left must be large enough to take care of these losses without interfering with the continued payment of reasonable dividends.

The spirit shown by both labor and capital, by those who fight abroad and those who work at home, is certainly remarkable. All are eager to do their part and work or fight or pay without hesitation or complaint. We have now, as never before, a united country determined to win and to pay for the war in the shortest possible time.

RIGHEIMER AND FUNKHOUSER TILT ON CITY POLITICS

Major Says Mayor Forced Politicians' Choices on His Bureau.

Having completed his testimony on direct examination, Second Deputy Funkhouser yesterday was subjected to a cross examination heralded as "searching."

But the major showed that he had a little heat of his own stored up for use in an emergency, and some of his replies brought smiles to the faces of the spectators. Occasionally the members of the civil service commission themselves showed signs of enjoyment over tilts between the defendant and Frank S. Righeimer, assistant corporation counsel.

Good Men Removed.

One of the liveliest encounters occurred when, during a review of the history of the morals inspection, Maj. Funkhouser said that early in 1915—when Mayor Thompson was inaugurated—the power to appoint his own investigators was taken from him. His own experienced men were removed.

Q—Why were they removed?

A—I'll tell you why they were removed, if you want me to. Do you want me to answer that?

Q—Yes. Answer it.

A—To make room for politicians.

Q—Were politicians appointed?

A—Yes. One of them ran a crap game down on the south side—a man named Batcheller.

Q—Did you ever protest against the employment of these politicians?

A—Emphatically, and to the chief.

Q—Did you ever write a letter, go on record as protesting?

A—No. Because it was very strongly hinted for me not to do so.

His Own Men.

Mr. Righeimer then went on to the employment of these "political" investigators by the major's own men when Chief Schuettler was appointed. He asked if they were not recommended by politicians, but this was denied. Maj. Funkhouser said that one man was recommended by a member of the state legislature who had been a personal friend for years, but that he did not look upon him as a politician.

"When is a politician not a politician?" demanded Mr. Righeimer, but received no answer during the laugh that followed.

"I'm not going to attempt to answer questions like that," said the witness on another point. "You know it is impossible for me to remember trifling details of that sort about things that happened several years ago. I'm simply going to say that I don't remember."

The Secret Pypers.

There was a lively row when attorneys for Maj. Funkhouser tried to bring out the contents of a document known as the "missing report" because Acting Chief Alcock testified he couldn't find it in the second deputy's files. The charge was that it was another case of "shadowing private citizens without justification."

"What were the circumstances connected with the making of that report?" asked Attorney Vincent D. Wyman.

Attorney Righeimer objected.

"The only possible object," he said, "is to drag private citizens and their affairs into this hearing."

The other side insisted that the acting chief had made the charge and that they intended to justify it, but Mr. Righeimer and the commission showed an eager willingness to omit the contents of the report.

"The acting chief's statement was not followed up by any evidence," said President Frazier, "so his statement made no impression on the commission. It will be given no value in our consideration of the case."

The Report.

This was considered a victory for Maj. Funkhouser, but his attorneys are thought to believe the gain would have been much greater if they had been permitted to bring out all the facts in connection with the report. It relates to an attorney who holds a position of authority in the publishing business and Maj. Funkhouser was ready to testify that his office was attempting to determine the extent of the man's participation in the attack on the moving picture censorship ordinance before the city council.

The hearing will be resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with Maj. Funkhouser still under cross examination.

WOMAN LEADERS BACK FUNKHOUSER

MISS JANE ADDAMS, Miss Harriet E. Vittum, and Mrs. Edith R. McDowell yesterday issued a formal statement to members of the Woman's City club in connection with the trial of Second Deputy Funkhouser. The three were appointed by the board of directors of the organization to act as a special committee in the matter. The statement follows:

Those who remember watching the progress of the police reorganization ordinance through council committees and through the council itself to final passage in December, 1912, remember the many discussions relative to the establishment within the department of the new office known as the office of second deputy superintendent of police.

The plan was to divide the work of the police department between two bureaus, the active bureau, under the supervision of the first deputy superintendent of police, and the clerical, mechanical, and inspection bureau, under the second deputy superintendent of police.

In addition to specifying that the second deputy superintendent shall be responsible for care and custody of departmental property, supervision of departmental records, inspection of personnel of the department, and the instruction of members of the department, the ordinance specifically placed upon the second deputy superintendent the responsibility for ascertaining and recording of departmental efficiency, the receipt and investigation of all complaints of citizens regarding members of the police force the supervision of the strict enforcement of all laws and ordinances pertaining to all matters affecting public morals, and the censoring of moving pictures and public performances of all kinds.

It was in the last three phases of the work of the police department that the members of the Woman's City club were particularly interested. They believed the establishment of such a bureau as that contemplated by the reorganization ordinance would prove of great value in cleaning up the old vice districts, as its inspectors could obtain evidence difficult for the regular police officers to secure, and it would also serve as a check upon the active bureau.

The ordinance had been framed after a careful investigation of police affairs by Maj. James Miles, then head of the efficiency department in the office of the city civil service commission, and after many sessions of the council committee on police, fire, and civil service and many conferences of that committee with interested citizens. When the ordinance was finally recommended by the committee on police, fire, and civil service for passage by the city council it had the hearty indorsement of the Woman's City club and other civic bodies.

The sources and type of opposition to the ordinance but confirmed the opinion of those interested that its passage was greatly to be desired, and the Woman's City club did what it could to aid in its passage.

Early in the year 1913 civil service examinations were held for the offices of the first and second deputy superintendents of police, and it was a great gratification to many public minded citizens that Mr. Herman Schuettler, a man whom the city knew and for whom it has great respect, received the appointment as first deputy superintendent. When it was announced by the civil service commission that Maj. M. L. C. Funkhouser had qualified as second deputy superintendent the civic organizations watched eagerly to see what manner of official he would prove to be.

During the five years that Maj. Funkhouser has filled the position of second deputy members of the Woman's City club and several of its committees have worked closely with him, and have had opportunity to observe his work and its results in the city. There has been a steady decrease in the evidences of commercialized vice and in the dangers of vicious dance halls and like institutions.

From time to time the second deputy's powers have been curtailed for political or other reasons, and each time this has occurred evidences of new life in vice conditions have been apparent.

During the first two years of the life of the department there was built up under the supervision of Maj. Funkhouser what generally was conceded to be the best motion picture censorship in the country. During the last three years his powers in this particular were curtailed and the censorship must now be rebuilt to its former high standard.

Evidence gathered during the five years of Maj. Funkhouser's service have convinced most thinking men and women that he has been a good public servant whose offices make for the welfare of Chicago.

Maj. Funkhouser is now on trial before the city civil service commission on charges preferred by the acting general superintendent of police. The members of the committee have no desire to prejudge the case, but the charges are not very direct or specific and thus far the prosecution has not been successful in proving its case. It looks to many as if the charges are not against Maj. Funkhouser but against his bureau. It is not the first time efforts have been made to abolish the bureau, which does not seem to be popular with the present administration. Every year when the city's budget has been built an effort has been made by the administration to persuade the finance committee to curtail or eliminate its appropriation for the office of second deputy superintendent.

The case before the civil service commission now is not so much Maj. Funkhouser's case as it is the people's case. Do the people want the office of second deputy superintendent of police abolished? Do the people want good men discouraged from going into public service because of the danger of persecution for political or other sinister reasons? The people must say what they want.

Members of the Woman's City club—every one—and of other civic bodies should attend the hearing as often as possible; should follow it closely in the papers, and unless the prosecution proves very clearly the charges it has made, should make it plain that they will not tolerate such persecution as this case seems to represent.

Mayor Mitchel gave to New York a fearless, constructive administration and was defeated by Tammany.

Maj. Funkhouser has given Chicago a fearless, constructive administration of his department. How shall he be rewarded?

U. S. Gets All Evidence on 'Mickey Finn' Waiters

Indictment of waiters and officials of the Waiters' union and of a number of waiters for the alleged drugging of patrons of restaurants and hotels with "Micky Finn" powder today may be followed by federal action against a number of men. This was learned yesterday, when Assistant State's Attorney Nicholas Michels said he will turn over a transcript of the testimony taken before the Cook County grand jury Monday to the federal authorities at the government's request. According to Michels this will be done, because it is believed in some instances I. W. W. propaganda was responsible for the administering of the powders and because several army officers were given the drug in their food in loop restaurants.

PROBES WORK OF STUDENTS; M.D.'S GONE INTO WAR

Lying-In Dispensary Records Taken by State; Mixup Explained.

The war's demand on physicians for army service has resulted in an inquiry by the state department of education and registration into reports that students and newly graduated doctors not yet licensed are doing work which Illinois laws permit only to physicians.

This was disclosed yesterday when Inspector J. J. Conroy of the department of education and registration took the records of the Chicago Lying-in hospital dispensary, 1336 Newberry avenue, to make an investigation.

The dispensary of the Lying-in hospital was established to provide expectant mothers from impoverished homes with competent medical attention at little or no cost.

The war has reduced the available physicians to a point where medical students in their fourth year and graduates of medical schools who have not yet been licensed have been handling maternity cases.

Talks of Inquiry.

Inspector Conroy was unwilling to predict what the outcome of the case would be.

"We are simply investigating," he said. "It appears that since April 16 students, without the assistance of a licensed physician, have delivered 357 children of poor families in their homes in the neighborhood of the dispensary. These students pay $15 for a two weeks' course at the hospital, I am informed, and have been in the habit of charging fees ranging from $3 to $20 for cases they have treated."

Dr. Joseph B. De Lee, chief of staff of the Chicago Lying-in hospital, said of the matter:

"We thought it better for advanced students to deliver the children than to have midwives do it," declared Dr. De Lee. "We can't get doctors to do the work, for so many physicians have gone to war that those who remain are swamped with calls. The students are those who have practically completed their course and are competent.

True of Other Hospitals.

"What is true of the Lying-in hospital and dispensary is true of practically every hospital in Chicago. Doctors cannot be obtained and students have had to do much of the work. It is true that this is a technical violation of the law, but if the law were enforced in this case we should have to close our doors. The best we can do—and we are trying to arrange that—is to have a regular doctor sent out in an automobile to supervise a number of cases daily and to give advice to the students.

"Of course there is no profit in operating the hospital. Were it not for the gifts of generous Chicago people we would have to suspend. It has cost me over $100,000 personally."

Crippled by War.

Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, until recently treasurer of the Lying-in board, said:

"Our hospital and the dispensary have the finest record of its kind in the world. No other hospital has handled so many cases with so low a death rate. Of course war conditions have seriously crippled the staff for the time being, but to close the hospital would be a very serious thing."

Mrs. R. P. Lamont of Evanston, present treasurer, said:

"In spite of the handicap under which the hospital is now operated, due to so many physicians and nurses going to war, we know the institution is still doing a wonderful work."

EXPERTS POINT FORGERY SIGNS IN LAST KING WILL

Signatures Drawn, Overworked, or Written Over, Says One.

Letters written by Gaston B. Means to his brother and father-in-law and letters from his father-in-law to him were introduced in evidence yesterday in the James C. King will hearing before Judge Henry Horner by A. Reichmann, attorney for the Northern Trust company. These referred to important documents and the affairs of the King and Melvin families. Handwriting experts also were placed on the stand.

Charles L. Gary, paying teller of the Merchants Loan and Trust company for thirty years, was a witness. He said he had handled many checks and documents bearing the signatures of James C. King and Byron L. Smith. He said he examined the signatures on the second will, and his opinion of them was that they were not genuine.

Study of Signatures.

The next person and the last to testify was Albert Osborn, handwriting expert of New York City. He stated that after examining the signatures of Mr. King, Mr. Smith, and Dr. Addison S. Melvin he believes them to be forgeries. He was asked by Mr. Reichmann his reason for asserting the signatures were not genuine. He said there was a hesitancy about the lines, as if they had been drawn, and in some instances overworked or written over, and that this was discovered by the aid of a microscope. Before his testimony was finished the court was adjourned and he will resume the stand today.

Of letters read by Mr. Reichmann one was from W. R. Patterson of Oak Park, father-in-law of Means, written in July, 1916.

This was a business letter, but in one place it said: "I suggest that you examine the paper of any important documents for watermarks."

Reason of Watermark.

Outside of the court it was explained that before a document is forged the forger will usually look for a watermark, because in some cases it has been discovered that the paper upon which a signature is forged was manufactured years after the date written upon it by the forger.

Another letter written in July, 1917, from Patterson to Means was that Mrs. King needed a diversion, and they were going to take her for an automobile tour through the mountains, as "she might rock the boat."

In the summer of 1916 Gaston B. Means sent a letter from New York to his brother Afton in Chicago.

This letter told Afton Means to take all the mail for the Melvins or Kings, pack it separately and mail it addressed personally to him in New York.

Mrs. Mary C. Melvin testified the other day that some of her mail was opened, and she believed the Northern Trust company did it.

The testimony of Mrs. Anna Robinson, mother of Maude King, will be taken this morning in the Virginia Hotel, where she lives, because she is too ill to go to court.

Japanese Business Men View City's Industries

Chicago entertained an unofficial Japanese commercial mission yesterday. Nine Nipponese business men and manufacturers spent the day inspecting institutions. Eventually they may buy machinery and raw material for their own concerns, they said.

Included in the party were Yozo Sawada, printer and publisher of Osaka, and his secretary, M. Shimaya; G. Okumi and S. Todai, exporters; T. Kawade, pharmacist; H. Koyama, paper dealer; C. Kojima, manufacturer of tin cans; T. Kobayashi, match manufacturer; U. Takata, paper dealer; T. Wada, dealer in oxygen, and S. Nakamura, a printer.

Another letter written in July, 1917, from Patterson to Means was that Mrs. King needed a diversion, and they were

WIFE NO. 2 BAWLS HIM OUT WHEN HE'S WITH NO. 3

If you should happen to be taking the air from the front seat atop a motor bus with wife No. 3 at your side and wife No. 2 should happen to "spot" you from the rear and cry out, "There's my ex-husband! You'd better pay up that mortgage or I'll foreclose," you wouldn't think it was "very nice," would you? Henry Weber, wealthy Rogers Park real estate man, did not think it was when his former wife, Mrs. Meta Marie Weber, did so.

Weber narrated the incident yesterday in Judge Tuthill's court in connection with the $35,000 breach of promise suit brought against him by Mrs. Weber No. 2. And yet, he told the court, he had not allowed it to spoil their friendship.

"We are just as good friends as ever," he said. "I am quite willing to be friends, but live with her—no! I positively refuse. She has such a temper that neither man, woman, nor child could do that.

"When our marriage was annulled," continued Weber, "I paid the attorneys' fees, amounting to $1,000. I let her set her own figure as to the amount of money due her from real estate in my possession. Though she had invested only $2,000, I gave her mortgages for $10,000, her lawyers' appraisement. I even paid her $35 for a coat she asserted she had lost in our house."

State Asylums' Patients in Need of Caretakers

The welfare of dependents of the state in correctional institutions, insane asylums, and homes for defectives is seriously engendered, according to a statement by Gov. Lowden yesterday, because of the large number of enlistments by doctors and trained attendants.

"To keep our institutions going we must have men and women to do the work," Gov. Lowden said. "It must be made known that those who enter the institution service of the state will serve their country precisely as well and as usefully as though they enlisted in the army, the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., or the Y. W. C. A.

"The situation is alarming and we must have the coöperation of the public if we are to keep the institutions going."

BRIDGES NOT TO BE PAINTED.

Most of the city's bridges need painting, but because of the lack of funds they will not be attended to this year. City Bridge Engineer Pihlfeldt declared yesterday that his request for $160,000 for painting the structures had been turned down.

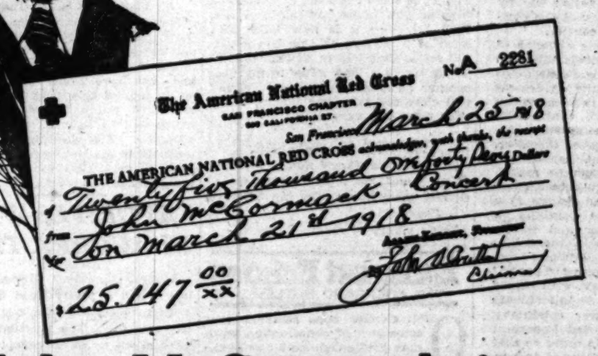
Handsome Rotogravure Pictures of John McCormack

In Pictorial Review for August are two pages of handsome rotogravure pictures of John McCormack ready to be removed and framed. They're in the softest tints imaginable and would cost 50 cents in an art store



How John McCormack is doing his bit

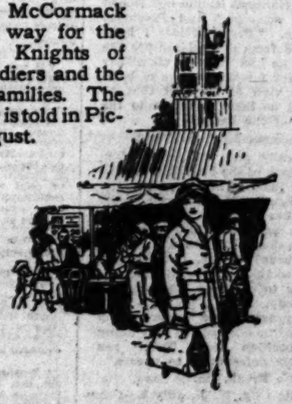
TWENTY-FIVE thousand dollars for one concert! A hundred thousand dollars for one song!

Big figures—but no bigger than the big heart of this much-loved Irish singer.

Read the story of the wonderful ways in which John McCormack is helping to win the war. It reveals an entirely new side of the world-famous singer.

Feel for yourself something of the throb that fathers, mothers, sweethearts, feel when this golden-voiced tenor sings.

From New York to California and back again, John McCormack has been singing his way for the Red Cross, for the Knights of Columbus, for the soldiers and the sailors and for their families. The whole wonderful story is told in Pictorial Review for August.



Don't miss Dorothy Canfield's appealing story of the little Kansas girl who gave her all to go to France.

A little sallow-faced, homely thing—what brought her from a small town in Kansas to France? She went alone to do her simple bit.

Read "A Little Kansas Leaven." It will touch you and bring home to you an entirely new sense of the help that even the humblest of us can give.

This story of the Great War is a true story, based on actual facts. It has brought the tears to the eyes of everyone who has read it.

TENER QUITS COMMISSION BECAUSE OF SCOTT PERRY CASE

HE'S THROUGH, SO WHY WORRY, JOHNSON SAYS

No Chance for Break Between Majors, Garry Holds.

New York, July 9.—President Tener of the National league in a letter sent today to the club owners of his circuit severed diplomatic relations, so far as he is concerned, with the American league and refused to act longer as a member of the national commission, which for fifteen years has governed organized baseball.

The reason for Tener's act, he states, is the refusal of the Philadelphia American league club to surrender Pitcher Scott Perry to the Boston National league club, in accordance with a decision by the commission awarding the pitcher to the Braves.

In this decision Chairman Herrmann and President Tener, National league representatives on the commission, concurred. President Johnson of the American league, the only representative of that league on the commission, dissented.

Tener's Swan Song.

Manager Mack of the Athletics, who is part owner of that club, obtained a court injunction restraining the commission from enforcing its order. President Tener's open letter to his league follows:

On the 13th of last month the national commission, after careful consideration of all the evidence, made decision in what is known as the Scott Perry case, resulting in the awarding of that player to the Boston club of this league.

As soon as the president of the American league had knowledge of the finding he advised the commission as follows: "Under no circumstance or conditions will Perry be turned over to the Boston club." Shortly thereafter the Philadelphia club of the American league took the case to the courts of Cleveland and asked for and received an order restraining the commission from putting its decision into effect and setting the date of July 20 for a final hearing of the case.

Under the terms of the national agreement the ruling in any case brought before it in which it has jurisdiction is final.

Says Agreement Is Violated.

The case above referred to is probably the first instance where a major league club has violated its agreement in baseball law by appealing the decision of the commission to the civil courts.

In my opinion, the defiance of our laws by the Philadelphia club of the American league constitutes such a breach of the agreement and good faith that this league can no longer, with honor, continue its representative on the national commission. I beg leave, therefore, to advise you that hereafter I will give no attention or consideration to any cases submitted to which the American league is a party. We cannot continue to maintain our honor and self-respect by dealing with those who consider our agreements and baseball law as mere "scraps of paper."

Baseball finds itself, with regard to its business, in an unfortunate position, due to war conditions; nevertheless it is most important to keep our house in order so that when business is adjusted to normal conditions, it may be prepared for its share of prosperity, and that with honor.

Ban Johnson's Comeback.

President Ban Johnson of the American league, replying to the statement of John K. Tener, president of the National league, that he would have no further dealings with the national baseball commission in any cases in which the American league is a party, said last night that he feared no break in the relations with the National league, as he understood President Tener would shortly resign.

"The contemplated resignation of Gov. Tener from the presidency of the National league occasioned me no surprise," said President Johnson. "From advices I have received from several sources the course he has taken is absolutely necessary for the welfare of baseball in view of the fact that he devoted so little attention to the affairs of the game.

Declares Mack Is Right.

"Morally and technically Manager Mack of the Philadelphia club can be justified in the position he has taken in the Perry case. Gov. Tener has on one or two occasions been a party to decisions of the commission that seemed unfair and absurd to me, but I never accepted that as an excuse for declining to serve as a member of that body.

"I presume the present body will find no difficulty in ably filling the position Gov. Tener has formally determined to vacate."

No Break, Garry Says.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati, who with President Tener represents the National league on the national baseball commission, today said he did not believe the controversy over the Perry case would cause the disruption of the relations between the National and American leagues.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

APRES LA GUERRE.

This war, it makes no hit with me—
I'm not a profiteer;
I'd offer no objection if they wound it up this year,
And yet the thought of peace is sort of worrying, because
I don't know how I'll be supposed to treat my male in-laws.

For instance, there's the party whom
I learned to know as Frank,
Who stepped right out and wished himself into a captain's rank;
Now heretofore, I've always been just equals with this chap.
Après la guerre I wonder if he'll want me to say "Cap."

When Wilhelm's seconds end it all by tossing in the towel,
Will "Ensign" be expected by the bird I knew as Howell?
Shall I be asked to "Lieut." the gent who used to be plain Kitch,
And "Admiral" or "Captain" Bill (He's not decided which)?

When Germany's defeated, and the brothers of me spouse
And the husbands of me sis-in-laws come calling at me house,
Will they expect humility and deference, these guys?
Well, p'rhaps they will, and also, p'rhaps they'll get a big surprise.

Well I think I have told you all I know about myself realy I am at sea

Exhaust Echoes
by SHEPPARD BUTLER

ONE slender hope remains that some sort of construction work may yet be done on a few of the more important "trunk line" motor roads in Illinois during the war. Such bids as have been offered by contractors were rejected last week because of the excessive costs they involved. In a statement issued yesterday, however, the state highway department suggests that an investigation be made to determine whether the Lincoln and Dixie highways and other main routes are important enough in wartime to warrant the state's going ahead without the expected aid from federal sources.

The statement, signed by Thomas G. Vennum, acting director of the department of public works; S. E. Bradt, superintendent of highways, and Clifford Older, chief highway engineer, explains some of the unprecedented difficulties faced by would-be road builders nowadays.

* * *

"It was hoped by the department," it says, "that we would be able to improve during 1918 all of the earth sections on the federal aid roads for which funds are available, leaving the gravel and macadam sections to be used in their present condition until the following year. This would have given a good road usable every day in the year throughout the entire length of those highways in Illinois. These roads would have been of great economic value as an aid to transportation inasmuch as they would have connected important centers of production of both agricultural and manufactured products.

"When bids were received it was found there were no bidders on a number of sections. On a number of other sections bids appeared excessive even under existing conditions. This would make it impossible to put the roads in good condition throughout their entire length and would place the work in the class of fragmentary and scattered sections the improvement of which is discouraged by the federal authorities.

* *

"Because of the uncertainties of the situation brought about by war conditions no blame can be attached to contractors. Contractors are obliged to take into consideration many things over which they have no control, among which are the following:

"The liability of a wide variation in the cost of labor; possible difficulty of obtaining labor at any price; impossibility of determining the cost of materials; difficulties likely to be encountered in transportation because of shortage of cars; possibility of further advance in freight rates.

"In view of the foregoing it was deemed best to take the action indicated. It was recommended, however, that an investigation me made in conjunction with the federal authorities to determine whether these federal aid roads be considered of sufficient importance for the movement of fuel, crops, munitions, and other war materials to warrant their construction by the state itself."

DUKE SURE HE'LL BEAT M'GILLIVRAY FOR SWIM HONORS

Kahanamoku and Jackie Training Diligently for 3 Races.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Although he will be handicapped by a cooler climate and fresh water, Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian swimmer, holder of the world's records for the fifty and 100 yard swims, is confident he will beat Perry McGillivray of the Great Lakes Naval Training station in the three races which will feature the Chicago Athletic association patriotic water carnival in the Lincoln park lagoon on Saturday and Sunday.

The only race which Duke is not sure he will win is the 220 yard event. The Hawaiian knows that Perry will be at his best over this distance, but he asserted McGillivray will have to swim the century under :55 and the fifty yard contest under :25 to win. Duke's records in these events are :53 and :23, respectively.

Perry at His Best.

Despite the cold weather, McGillivray is training every day in the basin at the station. Chief Yeoman Harry Hazelhurst, in charge of swimming at the station, will not announce the times Perry has been making, but he did say the bluejacket is swimming the fastest of his career.

Although the interest will center around Kahanamoku and McGillivray, Owen Merrick, manager of the Hawaiian swimmers, believes Clarence Lane, another of the visiting team, will make a strong bid for honors in the fifty yard event. Merrick said that Lane has beaten Duke several times in short races this year.

The course in the Lincoln park lagoon was officially laid out yesterday by George Donahue, former University of Illinois man, who is chief engineer of Lincoln park, and Park Superintendent John Cannon. Steel cables will be stretched across the lagoon to denote the finish of the various races. All events will start from a scow which will be anchored in the north end of the lagoon.

Finish Near High Bridge.

A starting platform will be built eighteen inches from the water in order to conform to rules. Contestants will swim south in all races and the finishes will be as close to the high bridge as possible.

The Hawaiians attended the Cubs-Giants ball game yesterday. As Charley Hollocher, the Cub shortstop, is known by all of them, having played in the coast league when the visitors were swimming in San Francisco and other coast towns, they were disappointed because Charley lost.

Visit Great Lakes Today.

The visitors will be the guests of the Great Lakes Naval Training station today. The party will be taken to the station in C. A. A. automobiles and will have lunch with the jackies in one of the mess halls. They will then watch the weekly review, which will be followed by the boxing contests. The Hawaiians will be introduced to the jackies from the boxing ring, as will McGillivray, the swimming idol of the station.

Garry Herrmann to Blame for Tener Case, Mack Says

Philadelphia, Pa., July 9.—[Special.]—"President Tener," said Connie Mack tonight, "claims we have not abided by the decision of the National commission. The fact that the commission was wrong and operated against the interests of the Athletic club is not considered.

"I have always liked Gov. Tener personally, but if he quits the National commission or resigns as president of the National league he has only August Herrmann, chairman of the National commission, to blame. Herrmann has botched the Perry case from beginning to end. He knows this. We are prepared to show where Herrmann has made his own rules. We are all supposed to follow the letter and spirit of the National agreement. Herrmann hasn't done this."

PACING MARE IN FEATURE WIN AT NORTH RANDALL

Cleveland, O., July 9.—With the exception of the 2:12 pace, each event on today's Grand Circuit card at North Randall was captured in straight heats, with honors divided between favorites and outsiders. Another large crowd was in attendance, despite the raw, threatening weather, and with no outstanding attraction.

The 2:12 pace caused the biggest upset of the afternoon. After Margaret Margrave had taken the first heat, this mare was forced to succumb in the second to Grace Elder, which paid $417 for a $2 pari-mutuel ticket. However, Margaret Margrave captured the third and deciding heat.

In the 2:04 pace Hal Boy, the other successful favorite, had things his own way.

Ottumwa, Ia., July 9.—Lieut. Walter B. Schafer of Ottumwa, former Chicago university football star, who was wounded and taken prisoner by the Germans on April 21, is alive and improving in health, according to information received last night by his parents. The news came in a cable from Paris which stated that two searchers reported that through questioning German prisoners it was found that Lieut. WOODS AND WATERS

BY LARRY ST. JOHN.

TAKE A FLY ROD ALONG.

WE were talking recently with a conductor on a train popular with fishermen going up north. "Are casting rods longer than they used to be?" he asked. We pondered a moment and then dug up this nugget of Sherlock-like deduction. "No. Casting rods are about the same length as before, but more anglers are packing fly rods than formerly." We think that's the answer.

The bait caster who goes angling without a fly rod is missing lots of sport. Not only is bass fly fishing about the "thrillingest" fishing there is, but often, when fishing a lake, you see the rock bass, blue gills, and other small fishes having a field day on the surface with hatching insects.

Sometimes these fishes rise boldly to the fly and almost any time that they are in reasonably shallow water they can be induced to strike a spinner and fly. We use a tiny [illegible] or nickle spinner, about number 0 or 00, and a number ten trout fly. When they are feeding on minnows, a small doctor fly behind a small nickel spinner is a killer; at other times we use a coachman fly with a gold spinner. You can go further than that with the fly rod—put a minnow or worm below a small Colorado spinner and you will often have a little three ring circus of your own.

Are You Getting 100% Efficiency Out of Your Gillette?

WE want to help you to do this: we want to help you enjoy all the velvet smoothness and comfort that is a rightful part of the Gillette shave!

It's a "Get-Together" proposition—a sort of Gillette "Old Home Week."

Even though you are fully satisfied with the results you are getting, there may be more in the Gillette Razor than you ever got out of it.

There is something rather wonderful in it, or the Gillette would not be so much the greatest razor success the world has ever known.

You may be sure there is something unusual about a razor that meets every day every sort of shaving problem in every part of the world—every kind of face, type of beard, or texture of skin.

The man who says his shaving problem is individual and peculiar—and that the Gillette is not the shave for him—may think he is right, but the evidence is against him!

He has not caught the simple knack of using the Gillette. Ten million other men have, and he could do it in two minutes if he would try.

NOW, if you are an old Gillette user, this is what we want you to do:

Take your Gillette to the window where the light is good and carefully look it over.

You remember those times you knocked the razor off the shelf or dropped it on the bathroom floor! The teeth may have sprung a trifle. Or the guard may have been bent. Or the screw-holes may have been worn by long use, so that they allow the razor blade too much "play," or throw the blade out of perfect alignment.

You may be shaving every morning with just such a razor—and you may believe it's all right.

But we know that if it has been injured by accident or by wear you're not getting 100% efficiency out of your Gillette.

ANOTHER thing, you may have got into the careless habit of leaving your razor undried just as you used it.

There may be some little knack of holding the razor that would improve your shave.

Now this is Gillette Service Week. Our Service Experts are right here in town—direct from headquarters.

The stores are all showing the latest new models in Gillette Razors and Shaving Sets.

The experts and the merchants are ready to discuss Gillette Razors, Blades, or Shaving Methods.

This is the time to make sure you have the Gillette knack.

It's a little thing—but it makes a lot of difference in the shave.

IF you can't have a personal word with our Service Expert, however, try this suggestion tomorrow morning.

Hold the razor naturally and easily, and tilt the handle so you can just feel the blade engage the beard.

(Here's where some men make a mistake. They tilt the handle up or down too much and make a scraper of a Gillette, instead of a razor.)

Keep the edge of the blade as nearly flat against the skin as you possibly can. Then shave with short, slanting strokes.

MOST men get the best results by screwing the blade tight down to the guard. But if you want an extra-close shave, just unscrew the handle a part turn to loosen the edge a trifle from the guard.

Millions of men, who have caught this knack, know the real "range" of the Gillette.

Wherever men go, the Gillette goes with them—and No Stropping, No Honing. They need it in their business—no matter what that business may be.

The Meaning of Gillette Service

The Gillette Service Experts and all Gillette dealers want to be of service to every Gillette user.

They will show you that little knack of the Gillette Shave—how to prepare the face for shaving; the correct angle stroke; the adjustment for a light or a close shave.

Bring in your Gillette, have it looked over. It may be damaged, bent, out of alignment—they may make some valuable suggestions or put your razor in shape free of charge.

Try this when you shave tomorrow morning. Lather the beard thoroughly, and rub well in—that's essential with any shave.

Put in a new blade and screw the handle down tight. Then if you want a specially close shave, unscrew the handle a part turn.

Hold the razor naturally and easily, and tilt the handle so you can just feel the blade engage the beard.

(Here's where some men make a mistake. They tilt the handle up or down too much and make a scraper of a Gillette instead of a razor.)

Then shave with short, slanting strokes. It doesn't require any brute force to shave with a Gillette—the razor does the work.

Keep the edge of the blade as nearly flat against the skin as you can. Any man will catch the knack of using his Gillette in one or two shaves so he won't feel the slightest pull. In fact, when the Gillette is properly used the beard slips off without your knowing it.

The all-important thing is to lather well, and to hold the razor easily, with the handle tilted so the blade just engages the beard.

THORPE SLAPS HOMER THAT BEATS CUBS IN THE TENTH, 7-6

GIANTS UPSET SIX RUN LEAD OF MITCHELLS

Hop on Vaughn for 3 Runs in 7th, 3 More in 8th.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

With a lead of six runs at the end of six innings in the final game of the series with New York yesterday, the pacemaking Cubs grew a bit too chesty, perceiving which the Giants hopped them hard, tied up the score in the seventh and eighth, and won out in the tenth, 7 to 6.

Peter Vaughn, who blanked McGraw's men in twelve innings at the beginning of the series, came back and had an easy triumph over Fred Anderson in his grasp when the battle was half over. The Cubs, with the aid of passes, bone plays, and errors, peeled off five runs in the fifth. Previous to that the pitching had been air tight on both sides and not a run had scored.

Little Hippo Should Be Proud.

Vaughn, who had added his name to the sacrifice hit column in the fifth, broke into the base hit column in the sixth with a timely drive which sent home Chicago's sixth run. Having taught Little Hippo at home to find daddy's name in the box scores already, Big Hippo went out and stole a base to please the kid, and raced along to second on the bad throw to catch him.

That feat proved Vaughn's undoing. The Giants got to him for three runs in the seventh on clean, sizzling hitting, then repeated in the eighth with three more, which tied up the count. Phil Douglas had to come to daddy's rescue in that furious round with one out, one Giant on, and the score tied. Phil stopped them there, although only half warmed up, then went back to the bull pen and completed his prepping. He staved off the inevitable until the tenth, then a home run by Jim Thorpe into the left field bleachers put the kibosh on the day's work.

Indian Jim Also Triples.

The bats of Fletcher, Thorpe, and Zimmerman were chiefly responsible for the upset. A skull play in which Deal and Vaughn shared honors and a very wild pitch materially aided the visitors' bats. Thorpe contributed a three base hit, to the discomfiture of some folks, besides his home run. Zimmerman's efforts included a sacrifice hit, a single, and a double, in addition to a phenomenal stop of a base hit by Merkle, which might have tied the score in the last half of the tenth. Fletcher made two singles and was on the way to be scored by the bats of his successors each time.

Nothing was doing for four innings and a half, during which each team made only two hits. Anderson blew up in the fifth and passed Zeider and Killefer with nobody out. Vaughn bunted and Anderson threw to third without a chance to get anybody. Bases full; nobody out. Then Flack, Hollocher, and Mann singled, and a wild throw by Sicking, trying for a double play, gave the Cubs five runs.

Deal opened the sixth with a single, was sacrificed ahead by Zeider and scored on Vaughn's single. This tickled Jim so that he stole second and wound up on third base after they had corraled the bad throw. Flack rolled out.

Giants Cut Loose.

Whereupon Fletcher opened on Vaughn with a single in the seventh. Thorpe whacked a triple to right and Zim hit a sacrifice fly to Mann. Two runs in with one out. Holke doubled to left and scored on McCarty's single. But the Cubs still were three to the good, so nobody worried.

With one out in the eighth Wilhoit and Fletcher peeled off noisy singles. Thorpe slapped a hot one back at Vaughn, who knocked it down bravely, recovered and threw the ball to Deal in plenty of time to have forced Wilhoit at third, except for the fact Deal was several yards off third base, expecting Vaughn to make the play to first base.

That filled the corners. Vaughn emptied two of them with a wild pitch which let in Wilhoit and Fletcher, and sent Thorpe to third, from where Zim scored him with a single. Douglas was called to the rescue there and retired the side with the score knotted.

Thorpe Drives Into Seats.

Anderson gave way to a pinchless hitter in the ninth and Causey pitched two shutout rounds against the Cubs. Thorpe settled the scrap with a drive high over Mann's head into the left field seats in the tenth.

Notes

•Boston today.

Considerable anti-climax—and that goes both ways.

The Braves are here for a five game series, including a double header tomorrow.

Rain tried to crab the doings before they started and butted in several times during the scrap, but not enough to do any harm.

Deal made three of the nine Cub hits, getting his third one with two out in the tenth. Wortman was put on to run for him and tried to steal second, but was thrown out.

Young was out of the Giant lineup nursing a lame ankle acquired in Monday's double header. Wilhoit went to left and Thorpe to right to fill the vacancy. When Vaughn was replaced by Douglas McGraw sent Doyle to take Sicking's place.

The Cubs took three out of the five games from the Giants and increased their lead to five games. That would have been good cause for celebration but for the sloppy finish yesterday. In other words, if the Giants had trimmed the Cubs cleanly in the final scrap, there would have been no cause for grumps.

The Cubs threw away a run in the seventh. Hollocher walked. Mann missed an attempt to bunt and Hollocher was picked off first by McCarty. For fear the folks would think he could not sacrifice, Mann bunted anyway with nobody on and was thrown out. Merkle followed with a double, on which Hollocher or Mann could have scored from any place.

CUBS GET CLARKE TO AID KILLEFER BEHIND THE BAT

Tom Clarke, former catcher for Cincinnati and more recently with the New York Yankees, has been signed for the Cubs and will report shortly. Clarke was a free agent when picked up. Neither Cincinnati nor the Yankees needed Tom in the spring and he was farmed to Rochester of the International league, which team could not afford to pay all of his salary when the Yankees withdrew their option, so he was released. Bernard Hungling, recalled by the Cubs from the defunct Southern association, will go to Rochester.

Owners of Cards Raise $15,000; Need $60,000

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—At a meeting of stockholders of the St. Louis Nationals tonight, $15,000 was raised towards the payment of $60,000 of notes that must be met by the club July 15. Of the latter amount $40,000 is due Mrs. Helen H. Britton, from whom the team was purchased for $350,000, of which amount $185,000 has already been paid. J. C. Jones, a stockholder, said he believed the $60,000 would be raised by July 15. If it is not, he said, the team will revert to Mrs. Britton.

LEAGUES TO HOLD STAG.

Arrangements are being made for a big stag to be given some time in the near future by the Amateur Managers, the City, and Intercity leagues. The date has not yet been set, but a committee has been appointed consisting of Al Tearney, Gus Henricks, Nearl Kelley, Charles Weil, John Byrne, John Lowery, James Ryan, J. L. Undem, George McGurn, A. C. Hemmons, Nick Bosco, and Bert Fairchild.

AERO NINE CLAIMS FORFEIT.

The baseball team representing A. C. McClurg & Co., which was scheduled to meet the nine of Aero Squadron No 816, stationed on Ohio street, in Grant park yesterday, failed to appear and the aero squadron claimed the contest by default and asserted the booksellers are afraid to play them.

RED SOX TAKE 1 TO 0 GAME FROM INDIANS IN TWELVE INNINGS

Boston, Mass., July 9.—Boston strengthened its hold on the lead by defeating Cleveland, 1 to 0, in twelve innings. With one out in the twelfth Scott doubled over Speaker's head. Truesdale, batting for Stansbury, bounded to Bagby and Scott was run down, but Truesdale reached second on the play and scored on Mayer's single to left.

Bush and Bagby each allowed eight hits. It was the second extra inning 1 to 0 game of the series, and the other two games were won or lost by one run margins. Scott's playing featured. Score:

Philadelphia, Pa., July 9.—Gregg held Detroit safe in the first game today and the Athletics won, 3 to 1, by bunching hits on Boland. In the second game the Tigers batted Perry hard in the fourth and fifth, winning, 5 to 4. Curry, an infielder formerly with the Philadelphia Nationals, played with Detroit and drove in three runs by doubling with the bases filled in the second game. Ensigns Play Two Games at Chicago Heights Today

The ball team of the ensigns' school at the Municipal pier will play two games at Chicago Heights today. The sailors and the local semi-pro team will meet at 3 o'clock and then play a twilight affair as 6:15. Pfeffer and Steinbrecher for the first game and McWeeney and O'Connell will be the batteries for the jackie team. The new sailor band from the pier will make the trip to Chicago Heights.

GIANTS CALL HURLER HUBBELL.

Joplin, Mo., July 9.—Pitcher William Hubbell was ordered to report to the New York Nationals at Pittsburgh in a message today from Manager McGraw. Hubbell is owned by the Giants, but was sent to Kansas City this year and later to Joplin of the Western league.

Sox Split Even with Yanks and Call Themselves Lucky

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—After struggling for four and a half hours on the eastern front today the White Sox procured an even break with the enemy and seemed contented. A year ago they would have been disappointed unless they won both, but it's different now. New York downed them in the first combat, a nip and tuck affair, 6 to 4. The Sox copped the second in ten rounds, 4 to 3, after being almost annihilated in the ninth.

An attempt at strategy by Col. Rowland went amiss in the first game, or the Sox might have had a glorious day. Dave Danforth had been sent to the slab to battle with Ray Caldwell, and Dave had the better of the fight for six innings and was just getting warmed up. However, at the end of that time the count was knotted at three apiece, because Dave's mates had kicked in a couple of runs for New York.

Sends Cicotte to Slab.

When the Sox went out in their half of the seventh and scored a fourth tally Rowland crossed Col. Huggins by yanking Danforth and sending the veteran gunner, Eddie Cicotte, to the firing line, Eddie's job being to make that one run lead stand good to the finish.

But Col. Huggins made some rapid changes in his ranks and attacked Cicotte with such ardor that in the remaining two innings his men drove out five hits, which sent three men home.

Joe Benz Wins Second Game.

For the second contest Joe Benz was chosen to oppose "Slim" Love. Before it was over he had opposed Robinson and Finneran, too, but Joe stuck to the machine gun and poured round after round into Huggins' forces until victory rewarded him in the tenth.

Some splendid field work by Risberg aided him. Charley poled in two runs and was responsible largely for the winning one in the tenth, when he lined a two bagger to the right wall after one was out. J. Collins produced the punch that sent him home. Benz himself contributed strongly in the attack, getting two singles and a double in four times up.

Close Shave for Butcher Joe.

For eight innings the Yankees could do little with the mixture of spitters, curves, hoppers, and lobs that Benz was handing out. Only one run had been counted when Huggins' men made their ninth inning assault, but something went wrong and in a jiffy not only was the score tied, but the Sox had to turn a whale of a play to escape defeat.

Baker led off with a sizzler to Risberg, who knocked it down and pawed it around before shooting to Benz, who covered, but Baker was safe. Pratt skied, but this Pipp person slammed safely to right and Baker went to third. He scored while McMullin was throwing out Bodie, then Miller singled to center, scoring Pipp and tying the count.

Liebold's Play Saves Day.

Miller took second on the throw, and an instant later Walters singled to left. Only by a speedy and perfect play by Liebold was defeat staved off. Nemo dashed in, came up cleanly with the ball, and popped it to Jacobs in time to nail Miller at home.

Right after that came Risberg's double and J. Collins' single, and the game was won, Benz setting 'em down three in a row in the last half.

NOTES

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—One game tomorrow will wind up the series here.

There were more than 12,000 fans present today, and they were even noisier than the gang of Saturday.

In order to split even on the series the Sox will have to win tomorrow, the Yankees having won three of the five played.

It is likely Cicotte will be sent to the rubber, with Russell held in reserve. Mogridge is slated to hurl for New York.

No word came from Gandil, who is in Cleveland, where his wife is ill, but the manager isn't worrying with Risberg covering first nicely.

Ping Bodie tried to make a homer of his drive to the fence in right center in the fourth of the first game, but a rattling relay to the plate by Buck Weaver, who had run away over in that direction, cut him down.

Jacobs almost won wrist watches for the whole team in the sixth of the second game when he poled a drive at a signboard making that offer. Bodie was playing deep and got the ball, which would have hit the sign.

Benz was in good shape for the game today, not having been in a combat since July 4. He had five days' rest, including the two days he spent here Sunday, he being left at the hotel while the others went to New Haven.

Murphy almost knocked Caldwell out literally in the fifth with a liner right at his head. Ray ducked and threw up one hand, and the ball whizzed over so close that it knocked his cap off. Even then Pratt got in front of it and robbed Eddie of a hit.

In the sixth "Slim" Love got something in his eye in running from first to second and the game had to be stopped. No one was tall enough to give aid until "Slim" got on his knees, whereupon the combined strength of Umpire Owens, Eddie Collins, and Buck Weaver removed the debris.

JACK HEINEN JOINS NAVY.

Jack Heinen, local heavyweight boxer, has enlisted in the navy and will report at the Great Lakes Naval Training station this morning. He will have to put in the usual two weeks in detention camp before being assigned to one of the regiments.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—Although Brooklyn got twelve hits for a total of twenty bases, the visitors could not connect at the right time, while St. Louis hit Cheney opportunely, and aided by five wild pitches, won, 6 to 4, for an even split on the series. Score:

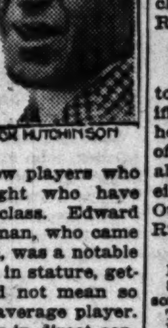
Maj. Cassatt's Garbage Wins Race at Aqueduct

New York, July 9.—Maj. Edward B. Cassatt's Garbage won a three horse race at Aqueduct today. Bearing the patriotic insignia of Old Glory, the aptly but ignominiously named son of Aeronaut and Trash took the lead for the mile and a sixteenth trip directly after the start and lasted to win easily by a length from W. D. Althouse's Bar of Phoenix and G. P. Winfrey's Airman. The Upton handicap at a mile was the feature of an off day card and went to Richard T. Wilson's imported Corn Tassel, which carried top weight of 116 pounds and won easily by a length and a half from John Leonard's Assume, with Wood Trap third.

JOCK'S TIPS to GOLFERS

BY JOCK HUTCHINSON.
[Glen View Golf Club.]

IN a recent double header at Cleveland, Ty Cobb of Detroit made seven singles in nine times at bat. He was timing his hitting and not trying to knock the cover off the ball. Correct timing cuts just as much figure in golf.



JOCK HUTCHINSON

I have played in four ball matches in which all the men were long hitters, but one of the quartet was getting a trifle longer ball than the others. On another day another player would have the edge. It was simply the result of better timing.

There have been a few players who hit with all their might who have risen to championship class. Edward Ray, the burly Englishman, who came over with Harry Vardon, was a notable example. Being a giant in stature, getting into the rough did not mean so much to him as to the average player. His forceful method was in direct contrast to that of Vardon, who accomplished better results, apparently, with far less effort.

Unless in a desperate situation, few leading players use all the force at their command.

To the beginner I strongly advocate starting somewhat under speed until some control of the swing has been developed and then injecting more pace into the clubhead.

It may be a little annoying to have your opponent outdrive you, but you are in a far better position a little behind him on the fairway than even with him but in the rough.

William C. Fownes Jr. of Pittsburgh, former national amateur champion, is a good example of a high class golfer who plays within himself. He is content to play well within his power regardless of what his opponent is doing.

Don't try to knock the cover off the ball.

KID GOLFER SETS RECORD.

Des Moines, Ia., July 9.—Robert McKee, 16 year old golfer of Grand View club, Des Moines, made low score in the first eighteen holes, qualifying round championship flight, at the opening of the state tourney yesterday. He made the round in 72, one stroke below the amateur record for the course.

MOONLIGHT GOLF WITH LANTERNS AT EXMOOR CLUB

Nicholas Wins "Twilight" Event; Miss Lukens Captures Honors.

The sunset tournament at the Exmoor Golf club yesterday developed a moonlight finish, with the last of the field of thirty holing in on the eighteenth at 9:35 p. m. For the latter part of the home round the players were escorted by lantern bearers, and they had to have a squad of three ahead of the field and two behind to act as retrievers for the balls, which could not be seen in flight.

R. Nicholas won the event, which was at eighteen holes, medal play, handicap. He received the medal for his card of 43—43—86—12—74. B. L. Eldridge was second with 39—39—78—2—76. Nicholas finished the last three holes in par, although it was 'way after dark.

Miss Lukens Ridge Winner.

Miss Corella Lukens of the Edgewater club captured low gross honors at the Ridge Country club yesterday with a score of 50—99—149 for twenty-seven holes in one of the most successful one-day golf tournaments for women held this season. Miss Helen Fickler of Ridge took low net honors in the morning nine hole round with a score of 48. The best low net score for the day was made by Miss S. M. Richards of Windsor, who turned in a score of 140. Mrs. H. D. Fargo of Flossmoor had low gross in the morning round.

The tournament was under the supervision of Mrs. Henry Hathaway, chairman of the women's committee of Ridge.

Mrs. Mix Wins Putting Contest.

Play in the afternoon was confined to deciding the four flights which qualified in the morning and a thirty-six hole putting contest. Mrs. H. A. Mix of Ridge won the latter with a remarkable score of 77. Prizes for ninth and eighteenth places went to Mrs. C. F. Ott of Wheaton and Mrs. A. D. White, Ridge.

The winners in match play were:

First flight—Mrs. C. O. Gillette, Ridge.
Second flight—Miss Gladys Curtain, Windsor.
Third flight—Mrs. T. D. Payne, Windsor.
Fourth flight—Mrs. J. C. Pfersdorf, Olympia Fields.

The low gross consolation was won by Mrs. Sackett of Wheaton.

The annual tournament of the Mystic Golf association will be played this afternoon at Wheaton Country club. The field is expected to be an imposing one, and a full list of events has been scheduled.

Dentists Play Next Wednesday.

The third monthly meeting of the Chicago Dental Golf club will be held at Ridgemoor Golf club next Wednesday. The final thirty-six holes for the Reliance and Fair cups will be played, starting in the morning. Other forenoon events include the early rounds for other trophies.

Miss Carolyn Lee Breaks Kansas City Golf Record

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—A new course record for women was established in the women's fourth annual Missouri state championship golf tournament when Miss Carolyn Lee of the Hillcrest club played the first nine holes in 47, and came in with a 40 for and 87 in the opening round of the championship flight. It was the first time a woman player ever turned in a 40 for the nine holes, and Miss Lee's score was five under bogey for women for the eighteen holes.

LOOP THEATERS TO REOPEN FIGHT ON SCALPING LAW

Dunne Phones Ettelson Plan for Injunction Against City.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson received word yesterday that owners of some of the larger downtown theaters are preparing to renew the court fight against the "anti-scalping" ordinance.

Under the provisions of the ordinance the theater owner agrees to the automatic revocation of his theater license in the event of proof that he was in collusion with "scalpers" for the purpose of charging the public a higher price for theater tickets than that printed on the tickets.

No licenses have been issued under this ordinance as yet, because the owners of the Cort theater carried their protest against the ordinance to the Supreme court, which, however, recently has upheld the measure.

Hears of Move.

"The theater owners were granted a five day extension of time in which to take out licenses," said Mr. Ettelson. "Edward F. Dunne, one of the theater attorneys, telephoned me today that some of the larger theater owners are considering making an application for a writ of injunction against the city.

"The Supreme court has passed on the ordinance and we cannot allow any further extension of time in which to take out licenses. The licenses must be taken out or the theaters will be prosecuted for operating without licenses."

Between the city and federal authorities, "scalpers" and the theaters which knowingly deal with them have been given considerable trouble. The federal authorities have seized the books and other records of the principal "scalpers" on the charge that they have failed to make proper income tax returns.

Let Profits Rest.

It also has been stated, but not confirmed in any official way, that the theater owners, although dealing with "scalpers," have not taken any of their profits recently, as this would be a check against the theaters and would be evidence that they violated the provisions of the "anti-scalping" ordinance.

A week ago the theater owners agreed to take out licenses under the ordinance, but under protest. According to Mr. Dunne's statement to Mr. Ettelson this attitude has changed.

Dr. Clemenson's Pardon Plea Meets Opposition

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—Isaiah Clemenson, aged father of Dr. Haldane Clemenson, serving a life sentence for the murder of his wife in Chicago, appeared before the division of pardons and paroles here today and asked that Dr. Clemenson be freed, so that he might care for his children. The application for commutation of sentence was opposed by Samuel B. King, brother of the slain Mrs. Clemenson.

BOY SEEKING JOB SHOT BY FARMER?

The West Chicago avenue police are investigating the story of Stanley Lasota, 13 years old, 1055 North Paulina street, who wanted to do his bit by working on a farm, but said he was shot in the thigh after being chased away by a farmer near Dunning.

The boy's father, Charles Lasota, a mechanic, asked the police to take the boy to the county hospital. According to the father and Joseph Henke, 13 years old, 1086 North Paulina street, who was with the Lasota boy at the time, they boarded a street car to the city limits, then walked in search of employment.

The two applied at a farm and the farmer, who spoke with a German accent, said he would not employ "a couple of Poles."

The boys walked down the road and later Henke heard a "whizzing" noise, he says, and Lasota began to limp. Later they learned he had been wounded. The bullet was from a twenty-two caliber rifle.

Collins, dramatic critic of the Chicago Evening Post, and William R. Collins. Arrangemepts for the funeral await the return to the city of the former, who was on a fishing trip in Wisconsin when Mrs. Collins' death occurred suddenly. 100 TRAIN WRECK DEAD, INCLUDING SOME SOLDIERS

Nashville, Tenn., July 9.—At least 100 persons, most of them Negroes, were killed and as many more injured, a score seriously, in a head-on collision today between two passenger trains on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway at Dutchman's Bend, five miles from this city.

Most of the killed and injured were on a local train from Nashville which carried several coaches full of workmen going to a nearby powder plant. The other train was an express from Memphis and the west, and after the two engines had reared and fallen beside the track, the heavy coaches of the express plowed through the baggage car on the accommodation train and demolished two other coaches.

Among the killed were several soldiers and sailors, including Private John P. Hussey of Ullin, Ill.; Wilson B. Harris of the naval reserves, whose address was not known, and a member of the marine corps named Alexander, whose address also could not be ascertained.

FIND FOUR MORE COLUMBIA DEAD; LIST REACHES 84

Peoria, Ill., July 9.—With the recovery of four more bodies today the death list of the steamer Columbia disaster was increased to eighty-four. At least eight more bodies, possibly as many as fifteen, are still in the water. The bodies recovered today were those of Harry Brown, Pekin; Jerry Chiollis, a Greek, Pekin; Rudolph Poebel, aged 14, Pekin, and George Schuster, Kingston. Three of the four bodies were found floating in the water.

The federal board of inquiry will go to Pekin tomorrow to take testimony. The board will hear the evidence of a number of persons who were on the top deck when the steamer is said to have rammed the shore. Thomas Miller, it is said, will testify that the boat began to submerge as soon as it began backing away. It is claimed paint is on the willows grazed by the boat.

E. E. Black, state's attorney of Tazewell county, today declared that he would conduct an exhaustive probe independent of the federal investigation, the result of which will be first announced to Washington.

ITALIAN MOTHERS

Greet Sisters of America Who Have Sent Sons to Take Part in Fight for Freedom.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—Count V. Macchi Di Cellere, Italian ambassador, today transmitted to President Wilson a message of greeting sent by mothers of Italian combatants to American mothers upon the arrival in Italy of the first American troops.

In authorizing the publicaton of the message President Wilson expressed the belief "that it will be received with the deepest interest and appreciation by the mothers of our soldiers." The message follows:

"In the day in which Rome, all Italy, exultant, welcomes and acclaims your generous sons, the mothers of the Italian combatants send a fraternal, auspicious greeting to the American mothers, and united with them by the same throb of patriotc and maternal love they hail the valor of their sons, the final victory, the triumph of civilization."

MITCHEL'S BODY REACHES HOME; GOTHAM MOURNS

New York, July 9.—The body of Maj. John Purroy Mitchel, army aviator killed in Louisiana while flying in training for service in France, was brought home today to a city which mourns in memory of him, its former mayor. A great throng stood silently in the railroad station as the casket, draped in the national colors, was borne from the train.

Escorted by ten motorcycle policemen and accompanied by intimate friends the body was removed to the home of the major's mother, Mrs. James Mitchel. There it will remain until taken tomorrow to the city hall, where it will lie in state until Thursday.

Among the many tributes which will make the funeral one of the greatest demonstrations ever offered by New York will be that paid by three squadrons of American aviators from the Hempstead field. The aviators, twenty in number, will drop roses on the coffin of the former mayor as it passes up Fifth avenue from city hall to St. Patrick's cathedral Thursday afternoon.

HEARING OF GAS EVIDENCE ENDS; SUIT ON TRIAL

Expert Tells of Big War Profits on the By-Products.

With the taking of testimony before the state public utilities commission on the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company's application for a 30 per cent increase in rates ended last night, a new controvertial action got under way during the day. The seven year old fight to recover for Chicago consumers the $18,000,000 in alleged overcharges was called for trial before Judge Oscar M. Carlson in the Circuit court.

Prospects that the court fight will drag through the summer months was indicated by statements of attorneys, who declared that a master in chancery will probably hear evidence as to the valuation of the company's property. Evidence introduced yesterday in the case was merely preliminary to an attempt to prove by the company that the provisions of the 1911 ordinance were unjust.

Profits from By-Products.

The day's windup of testimony before the utility commission on the rate increase application was replete with interest. Switching from the sensational testimony of the day previous when the commission's gas expert, A. S. B. Little, testified physical property of the gas company is worth but $47,436,888, or less than half of the figure set by engineers employed by the company, evidence was given as to extraordinary profits from by-products resulting from the war and new ventures in which the company has been engaged.

One sensation of the day came when George C. Lowell, engineer in charge of construction for the gas company, stated that the new coal gas plant, to have a capacity of 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas and which two years ago, it was announced, would cost $10,000,000, would cost $60,000,000 if built now.

Would Put in Unit.

"Do you favor building the plant now?" Donald R. Richberg, representing the city, asked the witness.

"I consider it wise, in view of the prevailing high price of byproducts, to put in one-fourth unit," said Mr. Lowell.

"What would that cost?"

"About $15,000,000."

"But that is up more than 400 per cent over costs of two years ago," suggested Mr. Richberg.

"I know it, but I consider it would be a good move. A dozen other companies are going ahead putting in plants now and consider that they are exercising good judgment.

Mr. Lowell told of exceptional "war profits" of the gas company from by-products obtained from "scrubbing" the gas furnished to consumers, among them being toluol, bensol, naphtha, and sulphur.

Offspring of War Brides.

Here are a few of the "war brides" offsprings he paraded into the limelight with their performances.

Two "scrubbing" plants at Twenty-second and Division streets, respectively, costing together $450,000, from March 1, 1917, to Dec. 31, earned gross profits of $756,263 and net profits of $661,382.

Two others, costing the same amount, operated only in the five months prior to May 31, 1918, earned gross profits of $544,311 and net profits of $481,503.

The first two named plants "washed" 1,040,000,000 feet of gas, extracting 2,340,363 gallons of crude toluol, and the latter two in five months "scrubbed" 4,861,000,000 feet, extracting 544,311 gallons of the much needed explosives product.

Bensol, now being "scrubbed" and then reinjected into the gas by a vapor process along with solvent naphtha, because of lack of a ready market, may be saved and placed on the market to compete with gasoline for motor use. France has offered the gas company a five year contract for its entire bensol output to be used in motor fuel in Paris.

War Plant Profitable.

A new refining plant, costing $500,000, was opened on July 1 by the gas company for refining light oils, which will return an estimated profit of $15,000 per month, $182,600 per year, exclusive of "several thousand dollars a month" from by-products.

Experiments are now under way at the One Hundred and Tenth street plant looking forward to the reclamation of sulphur from oxide contained in coal gas received from the By-Products company. Some sulphur has already been produced, he testified, and this is a new project originating with the gas company.

Figures Are Given.

Another outstanding feature of the day was the submitting of figures by Mr. Little, the commission's gas expert, as to rates he believed to be available in event the commission denies the 30 per cent increase asked. The compilation, giving his figures, present figures and those asked by the gas company, follow:

	Present rate per 1,000 cubic feet.	Gas Co. Asks.	Little figures.
Primary rate	.70	.91	.90
Secondary rate	.55	.82½	.75
Tertiary rate	.40	.55	.60

"I'm not advocating these rates; merely suggesting them as an adjustment if the commission sees fit to grant the 30 per cent increase," he said, when Mr. Richberg asked him if his figures did not throw the burden of the increase upon the small consumer. "I have tried to adjust the rates so they will be stretched to the limit and yet keep the business for the company. An unjustifiable increase in rates might decrease the business and again affect profits."

He admitted that legal charges were higher here than at any other point in the country, amounting to one-half of 1 per cent per 1,000 cubic feet of gas manufactured, while in other cities it ranges from one-tenth of 1 per cent to three-tenths of 1 per cent. He attributed this to continued litigation.

More Gas Needed.

On questioning by Bostius Sullivan, representing the gas company, he said that during the next twelve months the demand for gas will be much greater owing to lack of fuel and that more gas must be produced. The gas company continues to have a hard time obtaining coke and other gas making coal, the quality being received being of such low grade that the ash content runs as high as 20 per cent, and it has been necessary to run plants usually closed in the summer in order to fill normal demands.

The testimony of Mr. Lowell closed all testimony to be offered in the hearing. Late in the week an agreement will be entered into as to when arguments will be heard. It is expected that a decision will be rendered before Aug. 1 so as to make any rate changes decided upon effective as of that date.

INTERNED

Admits Sympathy with Germany and Is Ordered Held.

Miss Marie Klein

About 6,500 women in Chicago are liable to internment as German enemy aliens, and the government has the names and addresses of all of them. They are women who registered in June and failed to call at their respective police stations for their registration cards.

Under the law they can be picked up and placed in an internment camp without trial. The most offenders, according to John J. Bradley, United States marshal, are in the Sheffield avenue district. The women are advised to go to their police stations at once and get their cards. Otherwise they may get into trouble.

Miss Marie Klein, a trained nurse, 824 Center street, was held for internment yesterday. Until her arrest she was employed in the new contagious diseases hospital. When brought before Francis Borrelli, assistant United States district attorney, she said:

"I was born in Germany, my sympathies are with Germany, and I'm perfectly willing to be interned."

"We are perfectly willing to intern you," agreed Mr. Borrelli, so it was arranged to the satisfaction of all concerned. Marshal Bradley wired for authority from Washington. She is the first woman to be interned in Chicago.

EX-WIFE 'SINKS' U-BOAT NEMESIS AND EXTRA WIFE

Deceived in Her Patriotic Offer, She Adopts Ruthlessness.

Marguerite Krohn, 9947 Avenue M, South Chicago, 22 years old, is a combination of patriot, self-reliant young woman, and sleuthess.

As patriot she was perfectly willing to let Friend Husband Henry E. Krohn, 26, join the navy, which he told her he wanted to do to help his country, while she knitted for the Red Cross.

As an example of self-reliant young feminine Americanism, she told Henry she could support herself and little Marguerite, their 3 year old daughter, while he was fighting subs on the raging main.

But she shone particularly as sleuthess, when she ascertained that Henry had taken unto himself to wife Christina Smith, and when, knowing this, she promptly landed Henry in durance vile.

Who Is Yon Female?

The plot began to unfold several weeks ago. Then, so avers Marguerite, Henry told her of his patriotic aspirations.

First act ends with Marguerite bidding him godspeed and telling him of her ability to keep the home fires burning. At curtain Henry bids her a fond adieu.

Act 2 opens and ends on a South Chicago thoroughfare, where Marguerite, not having heard from her "jackie" spouse, is promenading. She sees Henry, and on his arm another fair one. This is a thrilling scene. The dialogue goes thusly:

Marguerite (as Henry and the girl enter, Henry in civilian garb)—Ha! Who have we here? Henry, as I live. I thought you were in the navy. And why not alone? Who is yon female?

Henry—Heavens, me wife—that is, me ex-wife! Well, Madame X, when you told me you didn't need me and could get along without me I was peeved. So I took unto myself a regular wife, and here she is.

(Exit Henry and Wife No. 2, while Marguerite cries "R-r-r-evenge!")

Three Days Elapse.

Three days elapse, during which Marguerite makes a hurried journey to Crown Point, Ind., guided by a hunch that Henry hied there to wed.

Act 3, and last, Scene 1. South Chicago police station. Time, yesterday. Enter Marguerite, with letter from Howard Kemp, J. P., of Crown Point, testifying that on July 5 he married Henry E. Krohn and Christina Smith of Chicago. Demands warrant for Henry's arrest. Granted by Judge Prindiville.

Scene 2. Henry arrested at Chicago Shipbuilding company, where he works, and taken to police station, where he protests he thought he had a right to marry Christina when Marguerite said she could get along without him.

The epilogue will be produced later in the courts.

Married Her Beauty, Says Woman Who Sues Dentist

Mrs. Rose Davidson, 1334 West Fourteenth street, was good looking and had several gold teeth which she was proud of until she met Dr. E. Z. Zipperman, a dentist at 1401 South Halsted street, she testified yesterday in the Superor court, where she is seeking $25,000 to repay her for the loss of her beauty and damage to the teeth he treated.

"Dr. Zipperman told me I would be still better looking if I allowed him to take out the gold fillings and replace them with porcelain," she testified. "He worked on my teeth until they became loose, and then my face broke out and my good looks vanished."

Judge Gridley will hear the dentist's story today.

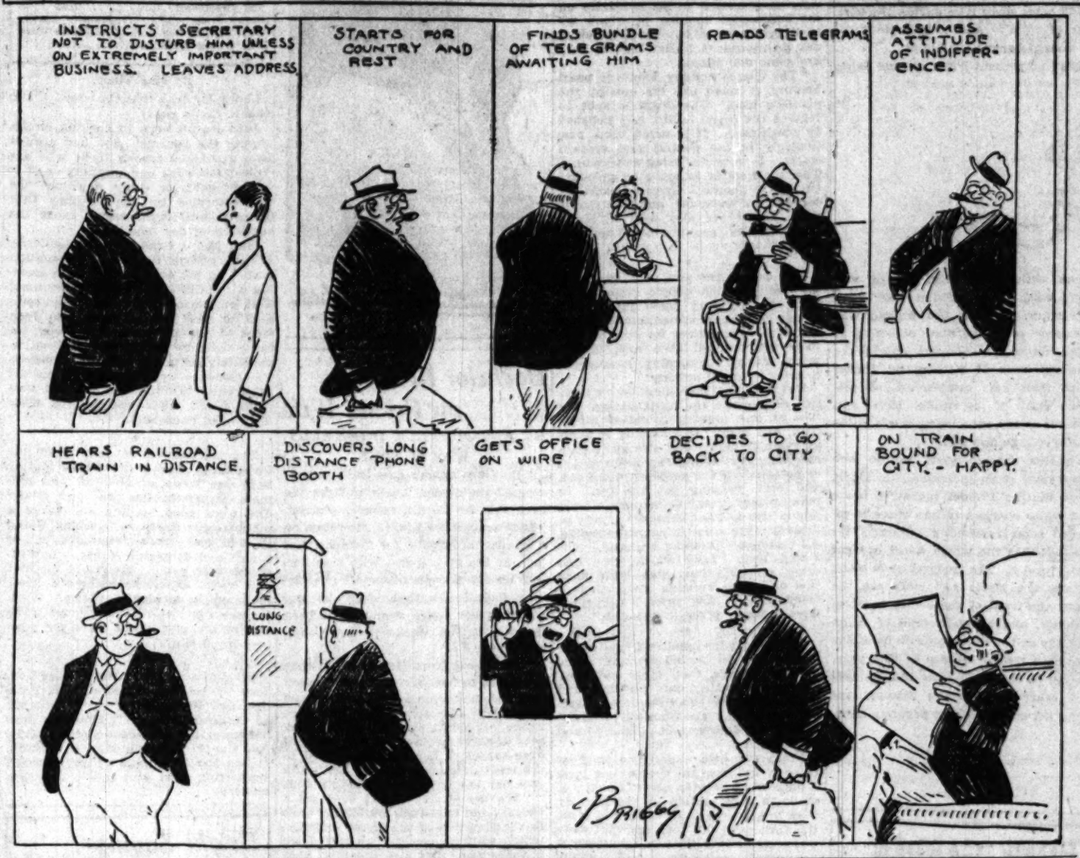
Sues Motor Bus Co.; Tree Limb Hits Him in Eye

E. N. Aslan, recently from Paris, France, who is stopping at the Edgewater Beach hotel, brought suit yesterday in Superior court against the Chicago Motor Bus company for $25,000. He alleges that while riding downtown on the bus the driver ran too close to a tree and a branch hit him in the eye. Ever since, he claims, he has been in the care of an oculist. Suit was brought by Attorney Louis Brandes, and it is the first of its kind in Chicago.

Stay Stops Hanging of Earl Dear Until October

Earl Dear, who was to have been hanged in the county jail Friday for the murder of Rudolph Wolfe, chauffeur for Dr. Philip Schuyler Doane, has been granted a stay until the October term of the Illinois Supreme court.

MOVIE OF A BUSINESS MAN ENJOYING A REST IN THE COUNTRY



MARVELOUS CURE IS "OREMUS" FOR SUNDAY THIRST

"Dr." Klemens S. Ramashauski, who recently bought a drug store outfit, he says, for $12 at 1718 South Halsted street, is in trouble with the law. "Dr." Ramashauski's slip came when in treating a 6-month-old baby he left a bottle of his "Oremus," which is said to contain 65 per cent alcohol, prescribed some calomel and collected $2 from Stanley Drokas, the baby's father, at 620 West Eighteenth street.

"Dr." Ramashauski yesterday was locked up at the Maxwell street station charged with a violation of section 22 of the Illinois medical practice act—i. e., dispensing medical advice and "medicine" without a physician's license.

According to the police, "Dr." Ramashauski has acquired quite a fortune on the west side with his "Oremus" preparations. Samples of these were confiscated in a raid on his "drug store" in Halsted street. His remedy for lost appetite contains 70 per cent alcohol, according to the label. His neighbors declare this is much in demand on Sunday.

Another remedy is labeled "for diseases of the lungs and stomach, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis, and also relieves pain." The alcoholic ingredient is 65 per cent of the mixture, which retails for 70 cents a bottle.

The "Dr.'s" arrest came when a neighbor of the Drokas family called up the police and declared the "Dr." was treating the infant, although he was not a physician. A policeman was sent over, but the "Dr." had collected the $2 and departed. He was found later at his "drug store" and locked up while an investigation was made.

While the "Dr." was in duress his children, Charles, 13; Vito, 9, and Annie, 8, were dispensing "Oremus," etc., in the store.

Federal Grand Jury to Delve in Aero Scandal

Post-Grad School for Negro Medics Chartered

Provident hospital yesterday took out a charter for a post-graduate medical school for Negro doctors.

SHRAPNEL

A service flag of thirteen stars was unfurled yesterday by the weighing department of the Chicago board of trade.

The eleven thousandth man to be enlisted at the recruiting office of the Great Lakes Naval station since April 2, 1917, was enrolled Monday, according to an announcement by Ensign W. I. Danny, in charge.

One hundred members of the jackies' band will play at a concert at Garfield park tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Enlistments in the army and navy on the board of trade are continuing at a rapid rate. Twenty-three new stars were added yesterday. Only members, their sons, or employés are eligible to get their names on the honor roll. It is estimated the board has 1,800 men in service.

DIES AS HE AIDS KIN IN TROUBLE

While waiting to sign a bond for his son-in-law, locked up at the Chicago avenue station on a charge of burglary, Julius Zuckerman, 59, senior member of J. Zuckerman & Co., furriers, 115 South Dearborn street, died of heart disease in Judge S. H. Trude's chambers in the city hall last night.

J. W. Nichols, the son-in-law, was charged with having broken into a store owned by Morris W. Zuckerman, 666 North Clark street, a brother-in-law.

Zuckerman lived at 800 South Ashland boulevard. Nichols lives at 852 Newport avenue.

Woman Sues for $25,000; Saw Him 5 Times a Week

He called on her five times a week for six weeks. Not content, he called her on the telephone five times a day in between times. Moreover, he called her affectionate and endearing terms not specifically mentioned and then concluded by proposing.

All these evidences of a common manly emotion are alleged by Mrs. Marie Kratsert, 600 York place, as the basis of her $25,000 breach of promise suit against Frederick P. McNaughton, which opened in Judge Hugo Pam's court yesterday. The jury was completed during the day, and this morning the taking of testimony will begin.

WOMAN'S BODY BURIED IN LIME; MYSTERY EBBS

The upper part of the body of a woman, buried in quick lime in the basement of an old frame structure at 418 Milwaukee avenue, was unearthed yesterday by two sewer diggers, who were tapping the main for a new pipe extension.

Only the skull, bones of the upper arm, and part of the lower, and two miscellaneous sockets were found in the remnants of an old tin wash boiler full of quick lime. Quick lime had also been packed around the outside of the boiler. With the bones were buried two women's shoes, both for the left foot, a heavy rasp, half a chisel, four buttons, and some cloth.

Dr. Edward Niles and Dr. Jack Jones, ambulance doctors at West Chicago avenue police station, after careful examination, voiced the theory that the bones may have been buried by a medical student who had taken them from a medical school laboratory for home study. They pointed out that all skin and tissue had been washed from the bones, probably by boiling water, as is the custom in medical schools.

Lieut. W. L. Malone said the bones have been buried from five to ten years. Sergt. Chris T. Hughes and Patrolmen A. J. Howley and William Madden worked till late last night, digging and sifting the dirt for additional evidence. The basement in which the bones were found is in an Italian neighborhood.

Policed Beauty Dealer Wants to Enjoin Lavin

Mrs. Mary Long, proprietor of a cosmetic shop at 623 South Dearborn street, yesterday filed a petition for an injunction against Capt. P. J. Lavin, alleging that he has ruined her business by stationing a Negro policeman in front of the place and frightening her customers away. She asked that he be compelled to let her alone. The policeman, Mrs. Long alleges, asked each prospective customer if he knew the reputation of her place.

Dentist on 2 Weeks' Outing Takes Crown Point Bride

Dr. Victor E. Lager, a dentist, 852 Barry avenue, yesterday obtained a license at Crown Point, Ind., to marry Miss Freida M. Stein. Mrs. Magdelina Lager, with whom the doctor made his home, said he left for a two weeks' vacation last Monday.

LIBERTY

Washerwoman Granted Divorce After Fight with Husband Over Bond.

A LIBERTY bond was the cause of a divorce granted in Judge Guerin's court yesterday to Mrs. Anna Schuetz, 2417 Seminary avenue. Mrs. Schuetz alleges that when she wished to purchase a bond of the third Liberty loan with money which she had earned as a washerwoman, her husband, Joseph Schuetz, a barber, administered a beating, finally consenting to the purchase of the bond on condition that it be made in his name.

Three marriages made in Crown Point split on the shoals of divorce yesterday. A decree was granted n Judge Guerin's court to Helen Riggan Parker from William Macbeth Parker, 601 Diversey parkway, on the ground of drunkenness, and another to Edna Julia Peters from Robert Elmer Peters, 5041 Kimbark avenue, on the ground of marriage within a year of a previous divorce. Both matches were elopements. B. F. Hoyt filed a bill for divorce from his wife, Nancy Allen Hoyt. The Hoyts also were married in Crown Point.

Friday and Saturday are to be bargain days in Judge Guerin's court. Seventy-five divorce cases are scheduled for Friday morning and afternoon and Saturday morning, twenty-five each half day.

2 DEAD; THEORY: POISONED CHEESE

The possibility that Milo and Mary Andreotti, aged 6 and 4 years, respectively, who died yesterday at the Michael Reese hospital, were poisoned by cheese, is being investigated by the coroner's office.

Joseph Andreotti, father of the two dead children, purchased the cheese from Fred Halle, a butter and cheese merchant on Randolph street. Samples of the cheese sold by Halle have been turned over to Coroner's Chemist William D. McNally for examination as to the possibility of poisonous contents, as has a portion of the dish of rice and cheese from which the two children ate.

The mother and oldest child are still in a serious condition.

The Andreotti family lives at 2329 West Twenty-fourth street. The father is a member of the firm of Komarek & Andreotti, commission merchants at 823 West Randolph street.

MULVIHILL PLUM FROM 'SOLID SIX' LEADS TO FIGHT

Big Fee for Lawyer Is Opposed by Czarnecki and Loeb.

William F. Mulvihill, an assistant city corporation counsel, was awarded a choice "plum" at yesterday's meeting of the school board. Resolutions were adopted by the "solid six" giving Mr. Mulvihill 30 per cent of all delinquent tax collections made by him.

Jacob M. Loeb and Anthony Czarnecki, leaders of the minority, talked until they were hoarse trying to get some information as to the details of the arrangement leading to the employment of Mr. Mulvihill, who never has appeared before the board or any of its committees to explain his proposition, Mr. Czarnecki said.

Czarnecki Plan Fails.

Mr. Czarnecki tried to have the resolutions amended to have the school board, city and county law departments and the state's attorney collect the taxes. The "solid six" overrode him.

"Why can't the board's own attorneys do this work?" asked Mr. Czarnecki.

"We would spend a lot of money and would have to have extra help. A general survey would have to be made. It would cost a lot," said Charles R. Francis, attorney for the board.

"Then will some one tell me how Mr. Mulvihill is financially able to spend this money?" said Mr. Czarnecki.

Mr. Czarnecki said after the session that he had received information that a company had been organized to finance the Mulvihill deal, and that Mr. Mulvihill was given the job because of his political affiliations with the city hall machine. Mr. Mulvihill was once the city hall candidate for aiderman in the Seventh ward, and one of the editorial writers for the Republican, the city hall weekly.

No Returns Assured.

"The Mulvihill resolution is a blanket affair," said Mr. Czarnecki. "It does not say what this proposition will cost the board or what it will get back. This never has been done before. The community ought to be able to collect taxes through the regular channels without having to pay a commission of 30 per cent to anybody for collections."

"The real purpose of this resolution is to create a job for Mr. Mulvihill," said Mr. Loeb, during the session. "This is a pernicious measure and will saddle a lot of expense on the taxpayers."

President Davis shut off Mr. Loeb's talk. The former then made a speech by asking why the taxes had not been collected in the regular way.

Reference Is Sought.

Mr. Czarnecki sought to have the Mulvihill resolution referred back to the finance committee, so that the compensation could be definitely ascertained. He asked that a maximum on his fee be placed. He was voted down on this, Loeb, Gannon, and himself being the only supporters of his proposition.

Mr. Mulvihill could not be reached last night to explain whether he was backed by a company organized for the purpose of making a large fee in collections.

VOTE MRS. UNGER OUT OF RELIEF EXECUTIVE BODY

At a meeting of the regularly constituted executive committee of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth field artillery ("Reilly's Bucks") war relief organization yesterday afternoon a resolution was adopted peremptorily removing Mrs. Athalie H. Unger as secretary.

Those present were Mrs. Francis C. Farwell, Mrs. Arthur Rogers, E. D. Hulbert, Jacob M. Dickinson, H. W. Hunter, A. W. Underwood, A. Volney Foster, and J. H. Whiting.

The reason given for the action is that "the executive committee can no longer conduct the association in harmony with Mrs. Unger."

A demand was also made on Mrs. Unger to turn over all records, papers, correspondence and the physical property of the body which she has in her possession.

At a gathering of adherents of Mrs. Unger in the Hotel La Salle last Sunday steps were taken to incorporate an independent organization to do relief work for the soldiers of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth. A resolution was also adopted asking the resignation of four members of the executive committee, including Mrs. Farwell, B. W. Hunter, and A. W. Underwood.

19 Year Old Boy's Auto Kills Child Going to Movies

Sophie Kaptan, 6 years old, 622 Blue Island avenue, was fatally hurt last night by an automobile at Jackson boulevard and Halsted street, in the presence of her parents, two small brothers, and a sister, while they were on their way to a motion picture show. James B. Boorman Jr., 2516 Central street, Evanston, 19 years old, who was driving his father's car, is being held.

City Can Regulate "Dry" Cabarets, Opinion Holds

"Dry" cabarets can be regulated by the city, an opinion from the law department holds. It was given yesterday to the city council committee on home defense which is investigating a plan for regulating the "dry" places, which run all night, as well as amending the anti-cabaret ordinance.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK. — [Special Correspondence.]—In after years we expect to hear something like this: "O, yes, she's that very eccentric woman. She didn't wear navy blue during the summer of 1918!" And then there won't be a single argument heard.

Just at present Fifth avenue fairly rocks with navy blue. Those who don't wear navy taffetas wear navy and white foulards; the woman who cherishes some spiritual objection to crêpe de chine concedes charmeuse. And all sorts of women, no matter what their age, complexion, or previous state of servitude, have succumbed to the everlasting combination of navy serge and silk.

In this present state we do welcome some stern individualistic touch. Here in this Premet model of black and white checked taffeta there is afforded some refreshing authority for the fact that the whole world has not turned navy. The underskirt is black taffeta; the girdle and cuffs are the same; the front of the bodice is white organdy, and a double fold of white organdy at the neck reminds us of the fact that taffeta dresses of this year, as well as shantung suits and foulards and other irresponsive fabrics, are being set off with these organdy frills.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—1. Please tell me how to transplant brake ferns from the woods. I have trouble in getting all their roots. 2. Mention just a few wild flowers that I could plant in my garden.—Miss S. N.

A.—1. The common brake or bracken (Pteris aquilina, or more recently Pteridium aquilinum) is best transplanted during the second half of April, when the crosiers show but are still uncurled. Take only 8-10 inches of the younger end of the root stock, with a little soil adhering, and transplant to partial or entire shade, slightly deeper than it grew before. The soil condition should be as nearly that of the original location as possible. Water well after planting and maintain moisture through the growing season. Do not cultivate, but let it alone, except perhaps to give it a little leaf mulch in winter. It may also be transplanted in July and August, but all fronds must then be cut off before proceeding as in April. 2. Transplant any wild flower found that appeals to you. Only lift it with a ball of earth, do not disturb the roots unnecessarily, reproduce as nearly as feasible the natural conditions to which it is accustomed, and water well after planting.

Q.—Kindly tell me 1. What is the best method of planting Golden Bantam sweet corn to obtain the greatest yield from a small space? 2. Should suckers or side sprouts be cut away from Golden Bantam as from larger varieties? 3. What is the latest planting time for Golden Bantam to be safe from early frost?—E. W. K.

A.—1. Plant singly, 1½-2½ inches deep (the greater depth for light, sandy soil), eight inches apart in the row, sixteen inches between rows. 2. Yes, remove them at the bottom by a side pull. 3. In this vicinity, July 20.

Q.—Some of the fruits of my tomato plants, the largest about half grown, have a round blight or rot about the size of a quarter dollar on the flower side. Not all the fruits of a given plant are affected. The plants themselves are strong and apparently healthy. Is there any remedy for this?—E. L. L.

A.—This is "blossom-end rot," a very destructive disease, for which the cause, preventive, and remedy are as yet unknown. Remove and destroy all affected fruits and burn the vines after harvest. Correct, sanitary gardening makes for healthy plants and clean fruit. Prune and train the vines as advocated in article No. 107, June 19; practice fall spading or plowing, rotate crops, use seed from healthy fields, and cultivate the soil for aeration and for destruction of weeds.

United Daughters of Confederacy Endow Hospital Bed

A bed in the American military hospital at Neuilly, France, will be endowed by the Illinois division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy as a result of a reception and card party in the Auditorium hotel yesterday afternoon at which the remainder of the fund necessary for the endowment, $600, was contributed.

The order has contributed extensively to other war work and Red Cross, Liberty loan bonds, and war savings stamps and the endowment of the bed in the American hospital in France is the concluding feature of the work for the last year.

Mrs. Walter J. Warder of 6815 Sheridan road was chairman of the afternoon and the chapters, with their presidents, assisting were:

Mrs. W. E. Angier, Chicago chapter.
Mrs. F. G. Rolfe, Stonewall chapter.
Mrs. A. Q. Simpson, Semmes chapter.
Mrs. A. B. B. Harris, Southern Woman's club, an affiliated organization.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Real American Food.

"Use more hominy; it is a real American food," says United States food leaflet No. 19. This is a thing I believe Americans are doing. A wealth of recently acquired recipes shows that hominy is used in a great variety of ways, and the prize recipes have contained some particularly fine examples of its use.

The government recipes for some time have seemed to me indefinite on the subject of hominy, of which we now have four sorts, one of which is not mentioned in leaflet 19, but here are some definitions:

"The coarse hominy, samp or pearl hominy, is much like the hominy the pioneers used. The grain is split to remove the germ, hulled, and polished by machinery. It is much used, particularly in the central and eastern states. It is worth using everywhere. The fine hominy is made by grinding the coarse hominy. Grits are excellent served as a vegetable, much as rice is used. Grits are also used in many parts of the country as breakfast food."

The convenient and palatable hominy flakes which people have seized upon quickly and made into lovely things are not here mentioned. Other and even older names for hominy perhaps are cracked corn and, in the south, always big hominy, in contrast to grits or small hominy.

But the leaflet does mention lye hominy, or what in the northeastern portion of our country is called hulled corn, and says: "Lye hominy is made at home by many, and also made commercially, by boiling the grain in lye or potash until the germ will come out, and then washing out the lye. In many places it may be bought in bulk, and is also sold and canned. It may be dried for future use or canned at home. All varieties of hominy are good, nourishing food. Like wheat, rice, and other cereals, they give both body fuel and body building material at a comparatively low price. Let them have a larger place in the diet."

The recipes for hominy dishes in the leaflet are for boiled hominy grits, hominy muffins, corn meal and hominy bread, hominy date pudding, and fruit scallop for small hominy. Those for big hominy are hominy turnover, scalloped hominy, and hominy and bean cakes.

From my own experience in New Orleans and from the Creole cook book I judge that greater use of hominy is made in that section of the country than in any other. In writing of grits, the authors of this book say that without grits no breakfast in Louisiana is considered complete. And, again, "whether rich or poor, there are few Creole families in New Orleans who sit to breakfast without a good dish of grits or hominy."

Of hominy, as distinguished from grits, it says: "Hominy is called by the Creoles the older sister of grits. It was the Indians around Louisiana who first taught the use of hominy. They used to take all the dried Indian corn and thrash it until all the yellow, hardened outer germ or hull came off, the grain being left white. Then they would bring the large, whitened grain into the city to sell."

Any one interested in this splendid and most palatable of cereals should read what more it says in that book. Recipes for cooking both sorts of hominy are on the packages and the country is full of them.

MEETINGS

Events Scheduled in Chicago Today and Tonight.

Morrison hotel, 8 p. m.—Capt. William H. Stayton will speak at a mass-meeting of Chicagoans under the auspices of the Chicago section of the Navy League of the United States.

MARY PICKFORD

Bachelor Reveries on Friend Wife

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

WAS IT YOU?

"Is it any wonder men leave home?" queried the cynical bachelor from the back seat of his six cylinder chariot. "Ride around the boulevard system on a Sunday afternoon, for instance, and look at the way friend wife gets herself up for the occasion. If she had ever looked like that when he was courting her there would have been many courtless weeks in her young career.

"Anywhere from fifty to 100 pounds are added to her 'girlish figger,' which fact she makes no attempt to hide of a Sunday afternoon when she goes riding, spreading out all over the back seat (if there are two of her filling it over capacity), her head enveloped in the most unbecoming thing her wardrobe has to offer, and a dress to match.

"Wonder if she doesn't ever get a hunch from husband's wandering gaze in the direction of the street and that which walketh smartly up and down it that—well, that e'en the tired business man has an eye out for that which is fair and good to look upon.

"If I had that wife of Jones'," he mused, "But then I haven't and he's sorry for me because I haven't any one to love and to work for, and to dress up pretty.

"So, what's the use?"

Lucky for Jean that she could! Could what? Could cook!

Jean wasn't born in cooking circles—quite the reverse! She had always been numbered among those who are cooked for until one morning—and it was probably a rainy morning—she was informed by her attorney that financial misfortune would cause the cessation of her income.

Jean had a head on her shoulders. Several efforts to obtain a situation garbed in the garments of Jean meeting with failure, she made up her mind that employers preferred their servants to look like servants. So Jean went to the Salvation Army and became suddenly Swedish and almost immediately got a job with the Bonners. The Bonners wrote, but could and did apparently nothing else, as the new maid found when she entered their disheveled household.

The adventures of Jean with the Swedish hired man, the Widow Morley with her troop of children and animals, Henrietta the cow, and finally Ted were good reading and make a picture quite worth while seeing. Going back to Ted—he's a young man, son of a rich and dyspeptic father, who's afflicted with ennui. He is not the sort you would expect to become a hired man on a moment's notice. This, however, is just what happened. The rest of the plot better leave for your own unraveling.

I don't think that "How Could You, Jean" is as well suited to Miss Pickford as "Stella Maris" or "Amarilly of Clothesline Alley." But this does not mean it is not a good picture. It is. And the children will enjoy it, I think. It has the advantage of an excellent supporting cast and much beautiful scenery.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 in thrift stamps for each children saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

The teacher of a certain primary grade had a large nose and was proportionately sensitive about it. Mary loved this teacher much and when her portion of clay was handed her to mold whatever she chose on this special occasion she said, with devotional fervor: "O, I shall model my teacher!"

John, who sat next to her and had a grievance against the teacher, said in high disgust: "Huh, it will take all your clay to make her nose"

One warm day, when Helen knew that there was lemonade on ice and that this lemonade was being saved for expected guests, she tried in every way to persuade her mother to allow her to sample it. Finally she begged thus: "O, mamma, please give me just enough lemonade to take away my quench."

Clarence had just passed his sixth birthday and his aunt, of whom he was fond and who was also his godmother, said to him: "Why didn't you send me a postal to remind me of your birthday, as I told you to do?"

Clarence replied: "Well, it isn't too late yet."

F. S.

Robert's mother was anxiously awaiting her eldest daughter's return from school that she might pay a call. As her daughter did not return home at the usual time she became impatient and, noticing this, Robert said: "You can go, mamma, I'll keep the home fires burning."

WOMEN IN WARTIME

Plans are at last taking shape for the opening of the new recreation pavilion for soldiers and sailors, which will be formally dedicated on Saturday in Grant park. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, who is in charge of the entertainment committee for the opening, held a meeting of her committee yesterday, where the general program was decided upon.

The building is not yet completed, and until it is it has been decided that the Sunday entertainment for the boys must be given in some theater. The Studebaker has been chosen for the first one which will take place a week from Sunday.

The ceremonies whereby the pavilion will be dedicated will start at 3 p. m. with a parade, which will make a circle of the platform and pass before the boxes of the hostess committee of the War Recreation board and the south park commissioners. French as well as American colors will fly from the flag poles in honor of the visiting French aviators and the exhibit of Lieut. Henri Ferre's paintings, which are to be shown July 12 to 21 at the Art institute for the benefit of children of aviators killed in the war and for the work of the American Fund for French Wounded. A dance will be held in the evening on the outdoor platform, which will be finished by Saturday. Later it is hoped that outdoor "movies" can be shown here

Mrs. James V. Watson, field secretary of the food for France fund, will organize the Negroes of the state during the next few weeks in behalf of the emergency and personal work which is being carried on among the sick and wounded civilians and refugees of France and the allied countries through the bureau of public health in Paris.

"Many Negro people feel a keen desire to have a share in the big work the food for France fund is doing 'over there,' and have expressed their willingness to coöperate with the state committee," said Mrs. Watson.

A general meeting will be called for this purpose early next week in the rooms of the information headquarters, 434 First National Bank building.

Yesterday was home made cake and pie day at the shop, 29 South Wabash avenue, in charge of Mrs. Joseph Harris and Miss Helen Lackaye, assisted by Mrs. William Denison Morris and Mrs. Louise Favor, who took charge of the tearoom. Individual lemon cream pies were the day's specialty and were donated by Mrs. George K. Spoor. Today the shop is in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Stonehill of Glencoe and Mrs. Robert J. Slater of Evanston.

Lieut. Harold Homan, a young Chicago aviator, member of the Lafayette Escadrille, and now home on sick leave wearing the Croix de Guerre and two "wounded" stripes, was the principal attraction yesterday at a dramatic tea given by the Illinois Women's Press association at the Cordon club. Other guest included Mrs. Ida McGlone Gibson, who has also just returned from the front; Miss May Robson, and Miss Edith Ellis.

The department of instruction in surgical dressings of Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, has moved from room 601 Tower building to room 414 Garland building, 58 East Washington street.

Owing to the curtailed quotas, the International Federation of Catholic Alumnæ, Red Cross auxiliary 356, announces the following hours to be observed: Daily except Saturday from 11 until 5:30; Monday and Thursday evenings until 9 o'clock, at the Red Cross shop, 20 East Jackson boulevard.

Illinois Centennial to Be Celebrated by Methodists

The Illinois centennial will be made one of the big features of the Forty-ninth annual Desplaines camp meeting which opens tonight. It is planned to raise a huge service flag bearing nearly 4,000 stars on Friday, which will be devoted entirely to centennial celebrations. The early Illinois history of itinerant Methodist preachers and circuit riders of the early scattered hamlets and villages of 100 years ago will be related by former Gov. Charles S. Deneen in a speech Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Besides the erection of several new cottages, the camp grounds have been vastly improved by the elimination of the old and dangerous well water system and by the extension of the city water mains from Desplaines. Any danger from disease because of bad water is thus done away with. In addition to these improvements five comfort stations, having rest rooms connected with them, have been erected.

The large crowds of picnickers carrying their lunches will be accommodated at the hotel and in the parks as usual.

Every afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, the hour known as the amusement hour, the entertainment committee will furnish some interesting type of diversion in the form of camp fires, "woodsing" parties, andd social gatherings.

During the entire session the Epworth league will furnish entertainment in the form of music and picnic diversions, such as races and games, during the period of recess between the meetings. A jackie band from the Great Lakes Training station will play at the Epworth league session on the last Saturday of the camp.

Food Drive Successful.

The second day of the food conservation drive from the headquarters at 28 South Wabash avenue was if possible more successful than the first. The trip to the Ghetto with the truck kitchens was postponed until today, but "Henry," the popular chef of the demonstration kitchen, baked 10,000 "Brownies," the wheatless, sugarless, eggless, milkless, butterless conservation cookies which have made fragrant the air of Wabash avenue before, and a push cart brigade peddled these delicacies throughout the loop, as they had previously disposed of the Liberty potato chips.

Miss Marjorie Edwards was one of the Brownie girls, assisted by a number of others from the north side. Lectures were given at the station by Mrs. Alfred Hope, who spoke on "New Uses of Bread Crumbs" [NOT bread pudding], and by Dean E. H. Van Norman, who urged the use of milk as a food.

Home for Trainmen Kin.

Plans for the location in Chicago of a home for aged and indigent wives, sisters and mothers of railway trainmen were discussed at a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary Booster Club of Illinois, Order of Railway Trainmen, in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

The meeting was attended by representatives from the forty-six lodges in Illinois and was for the purpose of devising ways and means to raise a large proportion of the fund of $70,000 required for the establishment of the home.

In the evening a program was given at a meeting in the Masonic temple, with soldiers and sailors on furlough participating in military maneuvers and drill work, which was supplemented by an address by John O'Keefe, superintendent and manager of the railway trainmen's home in Highland Park.

AT THE MAJESTIC

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

Mr. Lackaye's unparalleled mustachios rear themselves at the Majestic this week in sable and glossy grandeur, as is their imposing wont. Have you ever noted the upper lip of Mr. Lackaye as it appears in the varieties—all gleaming and unguent, its pointed decor a sinister enframement for his Olympian, vaudeville scorn? If you have not, you should see it in "The Ferret," for there it is at its oiliest. It is assigned therein to the sleek visage of a Broadway star, who, asked to dine with one of his admirers, discovers that his host's wife is the evil woman who once wronged him in the far west.

Desiring to expose the deleterious person, Mr. Lackaye adapts his mimetic genius to a counterfeit assassination, and, pretending to murder her husband, tricks her into an admission that she is a vampire. Mr. Lackaye is seen in this drama in the faultless evening attire of a prosperous player-man, dining contemptuously with the dinner-coat set. He is regal, sententious, and graceful with his gat; and loud are the cheers which greet him in vaudeville. Louder, one suspects, than they would be elsewhere.

Others at the Majestic:

The Mystic Hanson Trio—Mr. Hanson executes frequent feats of legerdemain to an obbligato of gloomy puns.

Three Hickey Brothers—In somersaults, neck spins, nose dives and song. Cyril, the elder, is made up as a middle-west gargoyle, and is comic.

Thomas Patricola and Rubby Myer—An onerous clown engaged in feeble repartee with a personable female auxiliary who dances bare-legged.

The Amoros—Muscular Parisiennes whose accomplishments include painful dislocations of the anatomy and other diversions of the boulevards.

Bert Fitzgibbon—The mad cane and hatter of vaudeville. One of his songs is named "Lips That Touch a Cigaroot Shall Never Rest Beneath This Snoot."

Strassel's Animals—Animals trained by Strassel.

Mollie King—A comely renegade from the nickel-shows in songs and impersonations. The young woman has a new répertoire of mimicry—George Cohan, Ethel Barrymore, Eddie Foy, and Anna Held. Young, bold, pretty, and with considerable charm.

Poor Lo Out for Riches.

The white man has nothing on the northern Michigan red man when it comes to war profiteering, according to Attorney E. R. Bliss of Chicago, brother of Gen. Tasker Bliss, who related experiences with the Indians last night at the Auditorium hotel.

"I have been buying blueberries for several years from an old Indian chief up at my summer home at $1 for a large basket, but last week he asked me $1.50 for the same quantity," said Mr. Bliss.

"I asked him if the berries were scarce, and he shook his head and said, 'No.' He also said they were not hard to gather, neither was labor scarce, and when I finally asked what was the reason for the 100 per cent increase he smiled and said, 'Heap big war on, price go up.'"

"FAUST" IN RAVINIA

The delectable Miss Muzio last night added Marguerite to her roll of impersonations in Ravinia Park and the United States: she had not previously sung the part in this country, although it was in her répertoire in Italy, in the language of the land. She was girlish and human, and as credible as the design of Gounod's opera permits, without going in for even the sane infidelities to tradition that have made a success for Geraldine Farrar in the rôle.

Vocally, the differences with Farrar were all in favor of the Ravinia diva. She managed the jewel-song without trills and without disaster, exposed an exquisite half-voice in the latter part of the garden-scene, and sang the final episode with full, rich, true, and lovely tone: this, in the prison, was the best singing, doubtless, she has so far done in the engagement. It is not the rôle through which she will hold best in the memory; but "Faust" is, perhaps, an essential item in a Ravinia season, and is, in this revival, all the better for her taking part.

Mr. Rothier gave the expected Mephisto of the French stage, with compliments to Pol Plançon and Edouard de Reszke in every gesture and inflection. Plançon's idiom is as sacred to the Gallic basso as Irving's to any English actor old enough to remember the tragedian. Rothier in this part was new to the neighborhood, although he sang it on tour last autumn for Campanini. Miss Braslau picked up Siebel in an emergency, and did well with the fragment of the rôle which survives in Ravinia's tabloid of the opera. Mr. Harrold, singing unevenly, was Faust, and Mr. Marr was Valentine. Mr. Hageman conducted.

Miss Garrison will reappear tonight as Lucia, with a newcome tenor, Salvatore Sciaretti, and the cast otherwise as on June 30. She will make her first appearance in "The Barber of Seville" on Sunday night. F. D.

U. S. CORN CROP TO BE LARGEST EVER KNOWN

Wheat Loss for June Estimated at 40,000,000 Bushels.

The small grain and corn crop aggregate 5,800,000,000 bu, including 3,160,000,000 bu corn and 2,640,000,000 bu small grains, mostly wheat and oats, as shown by the government July crop report, issued yesterday. The aggregate of all grans is 134,000,000 bu in excess of last year's final returns, but 43,000,000 bu less than the record crops in 1915.

The wheat crop is 891,000,000 bu, a loss of 40,000,000 bu last month, of which 30,000,000 bu were winter and 10,000,000 bu spring. The principal decline was in Nebraska and Kansas. The crop, however, is 557,000,000 bu, which is 5,000,000 bu above the five year average.

The spring wheat crop of 334,000,000 bu is the second largest on record and compares with 243,000,000 bu last year, while the winter wheat shows an increase of 169,000,000 bu, and is practically the second largest crop of all wheat ever raised.

Wheat Surplus Liberal.

After allowing 600,000,000 bu for consumption and seed the wheat report suggests an exportable surplus of 291,000,000 bu, against an indicated surplus last year of about 25,000,000 bu. There is practically no carry over from the old crop of 1917, supplies in farmers' hands being the lightest known, 8,383,000 bu, or 1.3 per cent of the 1917 crop. The visible supply of 554,000 bu is the lightest known, making a total of farm reserves and visible supply of 8,837,000 bu, compared with 48,000,000 bu last year, and 162,760,000 bu two years ago.

New winter wheat is moving to market and bringing 8c to 10c over the government prices. Millers pay the premium to get the wheat, which is of fine quality, and indications are that supplies of flour will be largely increased in the next sixty days.

The leading winter wheat states east of the Mississippi river have 183,117,000 bu, or 51,000,000 bu over last year. The three southwestern states have 164,000,000 bu, compared with 88,000,000 bu last year. Kansas has 91,871,000 bu, or more than double last year's.

Spring wheat in the three northwestern states promises more than an average yield at 223,623,000 bu, while last year they had 162,869,000 bu. North Dakota has fallen down slightly, owing to dry weather.

Corn Crop a Record.

Estimates of 3,160,000,000 bu corn for the United States are the largest on record and 1,000,000 bu more than harvested last year. A peculiar feature of the crop this year is the unusually high condition, 87.1, the best since 1909. Acreage is much smaller than expected, 113,835,000, as compared with 121,045,000 acres planted a year ago and 119,755,000 acres harvested last year. The condition a year ago was 81.1 and the ten year average is 83.6.

In the seven surplus corn states where the country's commercial crop is raised there is 1,733,600,000 bu, or 73,100,000 bu short of last year's harvest. Texas and the south generally have a much larger promise than last year.

Oats Yield Reduced.

Estimates on the oat crop are 1,437,000,000 bu, a reduction of 63,000,000 bu last month, due to drought and heat in the southwest and to drought in parts of the northwest and Montana at the critical stage of plant development. The estimate is 150,000,000 bu short of the record yield last year, but is the third largest crop on record. The condition was lowered from 93.2 last month to 85.5 this month. The ten year average is 84.5. Present condition is nearly 4 points under last year.

A barley crop of 230,000,000 bu is a big one, the largest on record, and slightly in excess of the yield of 1915, which was 228,851,000 bu. Last year's final was 213,952,000 bu. Drought conditions lowered the prospect 5,000,000 bu during the month, while the condition dropped nearly 6 points, bringing it down to the same as the ten year average.

Rye is a record crop, 81,600,000 bu, or over 21,000,000 bu in excess of last year.

Flaxseed promised better than last year's poor harvest, but much depends upon weather conditions of the next sixty days. Estimated yield is 15,808,000 bu, compared with 16,964,000 bu a year ago and a harvest of 8,472,000 bu last year.

Hay Crop Lighter.

Hay promises good returns, although the estimated yield is 5,000,000 tons short of last month and 1,000,000 tons below last year's.

Unfavorable weather reduced the promise for potatoes to 406,000,000 bu, compared with 451,716,000 bu a month ago and 442,536,000 bu harvested last year, which was the largest on record, and 286,953,000 bu two years ago.

Rail Associations Face Dissolution by U. S.

Continued existence of the fifty or seventy-five railroad traffic and operating associations under government control is in the balance. The expense of these organizations totaled throughout the country runs into the millions. In Chicago are maintained the headquarters of seven of these associations, Western Passenger association, Western Freight association, Trans-continental Freight and Passenger associations, Central Freight and Central Passenger associations, and the General Managers' association, which is the chief operating organization maintained by the carriers.

The expense of these organizations is borne entirely by the railroads through assessments based on the mileage of individual roads members. The chairman of the two Chicago associations, Western Passenger and Western Freight, receive, it is said, $10,000 yearly. In addition there is a staff of clerks and offices which would bring the total yearly expense of each around $40,000 or $50,000 a year. The General Managers' association is said to cost even more for its maintenance.

The associations were the result of private ownership of railroads and were organized to consider competitive rates, shipping arrangements, and passenger affairs, including all things of a competitive nature. The General Managers' association is maintained by the railroads to combat labor demands. All of the main reasons for the existence of the organizations passed with the advent of government control. The railroad administration in Washington now handles all traffic and labor questions so that there is no longer any reason for the maintenance of these expensive organizations, which were kept up under competitive conditions. The associations have lost in value since 1906, when the Hepburn law ended secret cut rates and all forms of discrimination.

The question of further continuance of the associations is now under consideration in Washington and an early ruling is expected. The headquarters of these associations are all in the Transportation building at Dearborn and Harrison streets, entire floors being occupied.

CORN FUTURES UP WITH SHORTS LEADING BUYING

Oat Traders Sell Early, Then Even Up for Crop Report.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Short sellers of coarse grains had an uncomfortable experience yesterday. They sold early, making a decline, and paid higher prices later to get their grain back. The close, while not at the extreme top, showed gains on corn of ⅛c to 1c, and oats ¼c to 1c, distant futures leading in Chicago. In the southwestern markets corn gained ⅛c to 2c on July and ¼c to 1c on distant deliveries, Kansas City July leading. Oats were ¼c to ½c higher. Oats in Minneapolis closed ⅝c to 1¼c higher, with July leading, and in Winnipeg gains were ¾c.

Provisions were hard to buy and closed at the top with gains of 5s to 7½c on lard and 12½c to 20c on short ribs, while pork was unchanged for September, the only delivery in which there was any trading.

Corn in Strong Close.

Lack of buying support was mainly responsible for a small break in corn early, but later there was free buying by strong commission houses, King-Farnum, Wagner and Lamson absorbing the surplus August in the pit, and prices advanced 2c. Local professionals who sold early spent the balance of the day in covering. Offerings were light on the way up, but enlarged at the top, and the finish was well toward the best, with July at $1.53⅝, August at $1.55⅜ and September at $1.56.

Reports of a good cash demand with prices in the sample market up 5@10c helped to create a more friendly feeling toward the buying side. Lamson Bros. were good buyers of July early, while the most effective selling was by Jackson Bros. and Colvin. Riordon-Winsor took August on the first break. Updike was an active seller of September on the bulge, while the best selling on the extreme advance was against offers.

There was considerable evening up toward the last for the government report due at the close. Receipts were 172 cars. Primary receipts were larger and shipments smaller than last year. Clearances for the day were 35,000 bu. Forecast was for generally fair, with little change in temperatures. Domestic shipping sales aggregated 60,000 bu, in addition to 40,000 bu sold to go to store. Exports were 35,000 bu, against 315,000 bu last year.

Local traders were generally bearish on oats and sold rather too freely early, making a small decline, only to see their offerings pass into the hands of strong commission houses. When shorts started to cover later offerings were light and a rally of 1⅛@1⅝c from the low point followed, with the close within ¼@⅜c of the top on the near, and at the best figure of September. July finished at 74⅝c, August at 71c, and September at 70⅛c.

Sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves on the bulge. Commission houses sold at the last, checking the upturn. Ware & Leland and Bartlett-Frazier were conspicuous buyers of August at times. Expectations of bullish government report had some effect toward the close by forcing covering.

Reports of a good seaboard demand were in circulation, but no sales were confirmed. There was 10,000 bu standard sold in store at 1½c over July. In the sample market buyers paid little attention to fluctuations in futures and secured No. 3 whites at 77½@77¾c for the bulk of sales. The country sold fair quantities of old and new oats to arrive which were hedged by sales of futures. No. 3 white were August price to ¼c over for shipment by Aug. 20.

Arrivals were 161 cars. Primary receipts were larger and shipments smaller than last year. Clearances for the day of 188,000 bu, compared with 306,000 bu last year.

First Car of New Rye.

The first car of new rye of the season arrived yesterday, graded No. 2, and sold at $1.72, or the same as the last sale of old grain. Market dull with small offerings. Milwaukee was 1@3c higher, and Minneapolis 1@2c higher. Receipts here 1 car, and in the northwest 8 cars.

Barley was quoted 2@3c higher, but offerings and demand was light. Milling grades were quoted up to $1.23 with sales at $1.15@1.19. Milwaukee was 1c higher. Receipts here 2 cars and in the northwest 24 cars.

Provisions Close at Top.

Light offerings of provisions with local traders the main sellers made it easy for commission houses to advance prices in filling a moderate number of orders. Shorts had to bid up for the scant supplies to get in. A fair business was on in all.

Higher prices for corn and hogs and a good call for pickled meats was a feature. July deliveries, 600,000 lbs lard. Shipments of lard were 786,000 lbs and cured meats 5,384,000 lbs, compared with 574,000 lbs lard and 2,147,000 lbs meats last year. Hog supplies were larger and exceeded last years. Prices follow:

COTTON TRADE NEWS

NEW YORK, July 9.—There were violent fluctuations in the cotton market today, with a sharp early break followed by equally sharp rallies during the afternoon. The general list closed steady at an advance of 20 points to a decline of 14 points, October and later deliveries being some 10 to 14 points net lower.

The official announcement as to price fixing in the goods market appeared to unsettle sentiment at the start and probably accounted for part of the early selling. There was also selling on the reports of beneficial showers in the eastern belt. The market was steadied by the appearance of trade buying and scattered covering, which became more active after the publication of the western belt forecast for fair weather and the detailed weather report showing no rain with higher temperatures in Texas.

Exports today were 2,200 bales, making 3,903,863 so far this season. Port receipts, 7,473 bales; U. S. port stocks, 1,084,755 bales. Futures:

Figures on 1917 Crop.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Final figures on the 1917 cotton crop, announced by the census bureau, place the production at 11,302,375 equivalent 500 pound bales, the smallest crop since 1909 excepting that of 1915. Sea Island production was 92,619 bales.

Notable increase in production in Arizona and California was shown, California with 57,000 bales and Arizona with 21,900 bales, both growing 13,000 bales more than the previous year.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

TRADERS construed the government report as bearish on corn, as it shows the largest crop on record. The loss of 63,000,000 bu in oats last month removes the possibility of a larger crop than last year. Some considered it bearish, but many regarded it as a standoff considering the market's action. There is a liberal carry over, and those who regard it bearish argue that the large wheat crop and possibility of a big corn crop make the supply of feed large, so that consumption is not expected to be as heavy for oats as the past year.

An unexpected advance in oats yesterday spoiled operations of a number of traders who had sold short early in the day and at one time had fair profits. There is a disposition to sell oats on all bulges on the part of the cash traders. The fact that standard oats which a few days ago sold at 5½c over July in store were only 1½c yesterday was construed as bearish by some operators.

Tightness in July corn is attributed by some to the buying of July and selling of August recently when the latter was 3c premium. They have taken in the cash grain and are holding it, they claim, and will deliver it in August. Deliveries yesterday were 12,000 bu.

Those who have been right on corn for some time past say that until the cash grain starts to decline there is no use looking for more than temporary recessions in futures. Trading in the latter of late indicates that scattered shorts in the July and some in August have evened up and replaced with sales of September. The long interest in the July is by people well in a position to pay for the cash grain in case it is delivered. The local element have been experiencing a hard time of late, having forgotten their lesson of early in the spring, and have been inclined to follow the news, overlooking the fact that with trading limited the market is very easily controlled. With outsiders generally bullish sufficient pressure cannot be placed upon the market from operators to have more than a temporary effect, and an oversold or overbought condition frequently develops.

The Snow-Bartlett-Frazier estimate on corn was only 9,000,000 bu more than the government's, and 13,000,000 bu over on oats. Goodman was only 9,000,000 bu out of line on spring wheat.

In commenting on the government report, John Inglis, the Logan & Bryan crop observer, said that the August returns would probably indicate a larger yield of winter wheat, as the July report was based on conditional returns, while next month's will show the effects of the larger yields per acre from threshing, which exceed those indicated by the condition. The report on oats was about as he expected. The crop, both in bushels and weight, will be light in the western and southwestern states, but the central and northern states should show yields about an average.

Those in close touch with the Winnipeg market say that the trade should not place too much faith in the fluctuations there as indicating crop conditions. Efforts to buy or sell 5,000 bu oats in the last few days have frequently made fluctuations of ½c or more. Spreading operations between Winnipeg and Chicago markets in consequence are difficult.

Maximum prices placed on provisions by the board of trade directors some months ago are not only for the year 1918, but extend indefinitely, and until changed by action of the directors, says Secretary J. R. Mauff.

St. Paul road's crop report says small grains in the Dakotas indicate a loss of about 35 per cent from lack of moisture. Cut worms damaged corn 20 per cent. Wisconsin crops better than previously reported. Corn doing well in all sections of Illinois, Missouri, and Wisconsin. Winter wheat and oats harvest about completed in Missouri with oats yielding 40 to 60 bu. Wheat 20 to 25 bu. Harvesting in Illinois about two weeks ahead of last year's.

An effort is being made by a number of commission men to have rates of graind advanced $2.50 to $10.00 for nonmembers, $4.00 for members, and to $5.00 for joint account trades. Meetings have been held and more are to follow. Arguments in favor of higher commission rates are the advanced cost of clerk hire and overhead expenses in general. It is also claimed that the New York stock and cotton exchanges contemplate raising their rates. Some favor higher rates, but believe $10.00 too high.

G. E. Thompson of Chicago and N. T. Burdick of Vancouver were elected to membership in the Chicago board of trade yesterday.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

SALES of 100,000 bu cash oats were made to exporters late Monday at 85c, track New York, but were canceled by the buyer early yesterday. Exporters failed to follow the advance in futures and the best bid yesterday was again 85c. Domestic shipping sales were 60,000 bu corn and 65,000 bu oats. There was 40,000 bu corn sold to go to store.

Cash wheat was in active demand in all markets. Five cars new No. 1 red sold here at $2.32, while part cars of old No. 3 and No. 4 red brought $2.22, and old No. 2 northern $2.30.

Detailed reports from Kansas City to J. E. Bennett showed exceptional high grading there, only two cars out of 238 cars sold being below No. 3. Seventy cars of No. 2 red brought $2.19½. Hard wheats there were mainly 1c higher, with prices 11@17c above the basic, while red was 1@1½c lower for the day. Mills were good buyers at St. Louis.

Shipping demand for cash corn was more active, and sample values here were unchanged to 5c higher. A few cars of low grade were said to have sold at 10c advance. St. Louis was unchanged to 3c higher, Omaha 1@3c higher, Peoria unchanged on grades and 2@5c higher on sample, and Kansas City 1c lower on white and unchanged to 1c higher on yellow and mixed. Milwaukee was firm.

Cash oats here and at Milwaukee and Peoria were unchanged, St. Louis ½c lower, Kansas City unchanged to ½c lower, and Omaha ½c higher.

The two southwestern markets received 342 cars wheat, against 29 cars a week ago and 40 cars last year. Receipts of corn at the six markets were 572 cars, and oats 408 cars.

Bids to arrive sent out from Chicago last night for new wheat follow. Government basic price is $2.26 for No. 1 hard and red:

STEEL & TUBE CO. ABSORBS MARK AND IROQUOIS

$32,000,000 Invested in Properties of Big New Independent.

Official announcement will be made today of the formation of the Steel and Tube company of America which has acquired the Mark Manufacturing company and the Iroquois Iron company and will form one of the largest and most complete independent steel companies in the west. The company will have invested in its properties $32,000,000.

A note issue to provide additional capital has been sold and will be offered today. This new merger and financing marks another step toward the amalgamation of one of the strongest independent steel groups in the West. Interested in the new company are interests identified with the By-Products Coke corporation, Pickands, Mather & Co., the Youngstown Sheet Tube company, the interests identified with Clayton Mark and the group represented by Ferdinand and Henry J. Schlessinger of Milwaukee. Further consolidation of these interests is expected.

Buy Iroquois Iron Company.

The consolidation began two years ago when these interests bought practically all of the stock of the Iroquois Iron company and it became allied with the By-Products Coke corporation in operation. A year ago the Mark organization was expanded and $6,000,000 three year notes were sold to provide working capital. Since that time $18,000,000 in cash has been put into the property. The new company will have a capacity of 750,000 tons of pig iron and 450,000 tons of finished steel annually.

It would appear that this capacity will be enlarged shortly since the building plans of the Mark company alone a year ago contemplated an annual capacity of 500,000 tons of finished steel. The new plants and improvements which the company will have when it begins business under the new name will be a 600 tons blast furnace just finished by the Mark company, a complete Bessemer plant, an open hearth steel department with a capacity of at least 250,000 tons, plate, blooming, billet, and skelp, and pipe mills and dock and harbor facilities for the largest ore vessels.

Supplied With Ore and Coke.

The company is fully supplied now with ore, coal, coke, limestone, and every material necessary to the manufacture of finished steel through its allied corporations. The By-Product Coke corporation's ovens adjoin the Mark property and supply the coke.

The Mark Manufacturing company was established in 1888 with $5,000 capital. In 1901 $50,000 capital was added. Up to June 30, 1917, more than $7,500,000 had been put back into the property from earnings. The Iroquois company recently bought the plant of the American Smelting and Refining company.

$10,000,000 SHORT TERM NOTES, CUDAHY PLAN

Following close on the heels of recent financing by other packers, Cudahy & Co., it was learned yesterday, are planning a $10,000,000 short term note issue, to be put out on an attractive basis.

President E. A. Cudahy last night admitted that a $10,000,000 flotation was under consideration, but declined to give details.

Canadian Northern to Pay Its 6 Per Cent Notes

Canadian Northern has arranged through William A. Read & Co. to pay off its $5,700,000 one year 6 per cent notes, due July 10. Payment will be made at the Canadian Bank of Commerce in New York.

TALK OF THE STREET

The market closed with some improvement in prices. Traders in United States Steel figured that since quotations for a lower range were not easily made, prices had reached a level inviting buying activity. Steel common closed at 107⅝, a gain of 1 point over Monday's final price.

The other steel issues were but moderately active. Bethlehem B stock has been under some pressure since the announcement that the corporation was planning to refund the $50,000,000 of notes maturing on Feb. 15, 1919. It should presently appear to the market that Bethlehem Steel through its head is sufficiently allied with government efforts to warrant confidence that the company will be treated fairly in the matter of profits.

There was activity in American Steel Foundries. The price advance was over 1 point, a small gain, but significant of the general inactivity of the shares. There was gossip of an extra dividend. While it is not known that the directors contemplate an increased distribution, the stock is selling at a price sufficiently low to make it readily responsive to dividend increase rumors.

The money market in the last two days has not been reassuring. The price of call funds advanced yesterday to 6½ per cent. This is ½ higher than the money committee of New York banks has been laboring to maintain. The decrease, however, of about $140,000,000 in the excess reserve of the New York associated banks, as shown in the report last Saturday, has operated to firm up the general money position.

The new Baltimore and Ohio financing should constitute an interesting test of the investment situation. Unlike the Union Pacific bond sale, it will reflect the cost of capital to carriers of medium credit and also what the railroad administration considers a fair price for the money.

MARKET TALKS OF ADVANCE IN OIL STOCKS

Buying of Independent Shares Is Called Significant.

Atlantic Refining stock showed a considerable advance yesterday, rising to 970 bid against a price of 900 last week. Without special news the strength in this stock was taken to indicate the probability of an improved market position of oil shares generally. There is market talk of a move in such shares. The basis for this view is the fact that the government has not taken action fixing prices for oil. To meet the needs of the government there are accepted prices for fuel oil, but there has been no suggestion that quotations for crude oil or gasoline should be determined by the government.

For several weeks there has been small bidding for some of the "little" oil stocks, including Oklahoma Producing and Cosden & Co. The buying, while not large, has been considered significant of growing improvement in the status of the oil company shares. A New York news agency said concerning Oklahoma Producing and Refining that for the first six months of 1918 there was a gain over the corresponding period last year. It is expected that about $2,000,000 will be shown in the semi-annual statement shortly to be issued. It is further announced that the company's well drilled to the second sand in the Osage lease, which is owned jointly with the Sinclair Gulf corporation, is maintaining its production, and the entire tract of more than 5,000 acres is regarded as proved.

Oil Increase Announced.

The Ohio Oil company announced an increase in the price of north and south Lima, Indiana, Illinois, and Princeton oils 10c each per barrel.

It is announced that there are increasing difficulties in the regular movement of gasoline on account of the priority of tank car service for government account. It is intimated that this condition may operate to effect a restriction in this class of consumption. Advices from Wyoming are to the effect that the development of field work is at a record pace, but the building of new pipe lines is urgently needed to assure an adequate marketing of production.

Continental Stock Bought.

Stock of the Continental and Commercial National bank was 264 bid yesterday. This is ex-dividend at the rate of $14 a share. Some weeks ago there was a considerable volume of absorptive buying of the shares. One of the new directors bought all that was offered. In addition to this, there has developed a general interest that although small has served to strengthen the market price.

It was announced that the text of the form of franchise with the government which will be laid before the meeting of railroad executives on next Friday contains a compromise upon the income of the carrier corporation. It is still proposed that the director general shall have power to order the companies to pay for additions and betterments, but it is specifically provided that such power shall not be exercised in a manner to prevent the payment of regular interest charges at this time existing, also sinking fund payments and expenses of keeping up the corporate organization.

A separate provision is made regarding the bearing of this power upon dividend payments, the contract declaring it to be the policy of the director general to use this power when no other reasonable means is provided by the company to reimburse the United States for expenditures not justly chargeable to the United States and not to interrupt the regular payment of dividends as heretofore made by the company.

BALDWIN PLANS HUGE PLANT IN CALUMET REGION

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—A new locomotive plant is to be built at East Chicago by the Baldwin Locomotive works on ground purchased several years ago. Specifications for the various buildings are now before structural mills and fabricating shops calling for 12,000 tons of steel. It is estimated that the plant will cost about $5,000,000, the steel work alone costing $1,200,000; equipment will probably cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

The Baldwin works already has large contracts from the government, and it is expected to be awarded an additional contract for 100 to 150 locomotives by the railroad administration, which is preparing to order 300 locomotives for domestic service. Additional large orders for motive power are also expected for export to France.

Alba B. Johnson, president of Baldwin, today in Philadelphia admitted that his company owned a site in the Calumet district, intended eventually for a large midwestern plant, but denied that anything was contemplated at present. He would not deny, however, that tentative plans were being considered.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, July 9.—The stock market showed little variation today. A quietly firm tone was maintained in giltedged and colonial securities, but increased activity was recorded in miscellaneous section, indicating public buying of oil, iron, steel, shipping, and electrical shares. South American issues were easy on the exchange situation.

Money was plentiful and discount rates were quiet. Bar silver, 48 13-16d per ounce; money, 2¾ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 3 17-32 per cent; 3 months' bills, 3 17-32 per cent.

PARIS—Trading was quiet on the bourse today. Rentes, 61 francs 50 centimes. Exchange on London, 27 francs 16 centimes. Five per cent loan, 88 francs 45 centimes.

STOCKS SWING LAZILY IN DULL SUMMER MARKET

Irregular Movements Disclose Hand of Professionals.

[New York Times Financial Review.]

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—In one of the dullest sessions which the stock exchange has gone through in many weeks stocks moved irregularly today, but with a better tone than was shown in the late hours of Monday. Numerous issues made fractional advances, but for the most part the price changes were so obviously the result of trading at the moment that they attracted little attention.

Brokers agree in saying that the present market is almost entirely professional, the statement being thus qualified to give credit for a certain amount of investment buying which has been in evidence for some time past. When traders think that they can make a turn by selling they experiment on the short side, but as a rule prices go against them when they try to realize on the declines thus effected.

Distillers Breaks.

Transactions in all stocks were limited to a few hundred shares today. One of the few spots of interest was Distillers Securities, which r affected the new move to make the country dry after July 1 next by breaking abruptly to 54⅜, from which point, however, a rally of 2⅝ points was consequently made.

Lacking other news of importance, the street was greatly interested today in the July 1 crop report of the department of agriculture.

Projects Under Discussion.

Business is at a low ebb in financial houses, but there are a number of projects under discussion which are maturing rather slowly because of the time required for obtaining approval of the capital issues committee at Washington. Bankers are inclined to believe that the state department will cooperate fully in arranging terms for the proposed extension of aid to China.

Real Estate Transfers

Real estate transfers filed for record yesterday totaled 249 in number, involving $243,822; comprising 189 in the city and 60 in the outlying townships, including 23 under the Torrens system. Transfers were as follows:

Lake View	10	West Town	46
Hyde Park	30	Leyden	1
Cicero	27	Lyons	4
South Town	9	Maine	4
Lake	35	Proviso	4
Stickney	14	Thornton	4

North Town	2	Elk Grove	1
New Trier	4	Evanston	1
Bloom	3	Hanover	1
Rogers Park	4	Niles	2
Calumet	11	Wheeling	1

A big lease of west side manufacturing building space was the most important feature of yesterday's real estate news. It covers the property at 1901-53 West Twelfth street, just east of Robey street, which has been leased by Ederheimer, Stein & Co., clothing manufacturers, from the American Cigar company for a term of years at a reported term rental of $200,000. The building, which was erected about five years ago, is two stories high, of steel and concrete construction, and is equipped with a sprinkler system, power plant, and freight elevators.

It has a frontage of 500 feet on Twelfth street with a depth of 120 feet to an alley. Ederheimer, Stein & Co. will make some alterations, installing shower baths for their employés, additional washrooms and restrooms, making it thoroughly up to date, and will centralize its various shops, now located in various parts of the city, in the building. Hart & Whetston represented both parties to the transaction.

Michigan Avenue Deal.

Edgar W. Burns has purchased from Edward J. and William H. Kelly the apartment property with 35x150 feet of ground at 5326 Michigan avenue for a reported consideration of $18,000, subject to an incumbrance of $12,000, conveying in part payment the two story stone front residence at 4825 Vincennes avenue with 25 feet of ground at a valuation of $8,000, clear. H. G. Howard & Co. were the brokers.

The forest preserve district of Cook county has acquired from Lloyd G. Spencer a tract of 64 acres in the township of Palos, at the west end of Palos Park, just south of One Hundred and Sixteenth street, for a stated consideration of $16,000, which is at the rate of $250 an acre.

$50,000 Loan.

The Liberty Furniture company has given a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company to secure a loan of $50,000, five years at 6½ per cent, secured by the leasehold interest in the property at the southeast corner of Milwaukee avenue and Paulina street, 140x100 feet, the loan being subject to a prior incumbrance of $87,000.

INSURANCE NEWS IN ALL BRANCHES EAST AND WEST

BY THOMAS R. WEDDELL.

The new plate glass insurance rates for Chicago, just promulgated by W. F. Moore of New York, the official rater, are regarded by many agents as prohibitive. In most cases the rates are two or three times what they were up to a few months ago, and in the ghetto and the Italian district the increases are even larger.

The Plate Glass Insurance exchange of Chicago held a meeting yesterday and appointed a committee of five companies to take up the rate situation. This committee consists of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity, Massachusetts Bonding, Metropolitan Casualty, New Jersey Fidelity and Plate Glass, and Ocean Accident and Guarantee. The committee will ask the companies to postpone the effective date of the new rates until the committee can prepare and submit to the companies another plan of rating in Chicago. The rates recently promulgated are effective July 1 for new business and Sept. 1 for renewals, but there is little new business just now.

The meeting was largely attended. While the Chicago local men are unanimously of the opinion that the companies must have more premiums, in view of the high prices of glass and of labor in replacements, most of them are of the opinion that this result can be secured in a manner less likely to disturb the business.

FIRE PREVENTION WORK.

Fire Marshal Gamber of Illinois has issued a review of the results of the self-inspection service inaugurated in June of last year. All owners of property where foodstuffs were stored in large quantities were urged to provide watchman service to keep out suspicious visitors and to use special diligence in fire prevention and fire protection. The total number of fires in 1917 was 14,655, as against 15,693 in the previous year. The 1917 fire losses were $12,771,574, as compared with $13,485,083 in 1916. Special attention was paid to elevators and grain warehouses, which were also given special inspection by the fire insurance companies, and there were only twenty fires in 1917, with a loss of $430,515, most of which occurred before the special inspections were made. This compared with forty-nine fires in 1916, with a loss of $1,162,094.

TO CONSIDER CREDIT EVIL.

At the quarterly meeting of the Chicago board of underwriters, to be held tomorrow, action will be taken on the proposed plan for regulating the credit evil in the fire insurance business. A special committee had recommended a plan providing for the cancellation of the policy after a specified time in case the premium was not paid. The executive committee has recommended to the quarterly meeting a substitute clause providing, as a stipulation in the policy, that if the premium is not paid on or before the 25th day of the succeeding month after issuance the policy shall be suspended and become inoperative and of no force and effect so long as the premium is unpaid. The company is relieved of liability in the interim and the policy can only be reinstated by payment of the premium to the issuing agent.

INSURANCE NOTES.

At the meeting to consider use and occupancy insurance a special committee was appointed to draft a form to which a number of other questions were referred, and another conference will be held at the Grand Pacific hotel after dinner on the evening of July 15.

The midsummer meetings of the Ohio Field club and the Ohio Fire Prevention association will be held today and tomorrow at the Hotel Victory, Put-in bay.

ALASKA.

See Her Fox Farms and Flowers—Her Glaciers and Ancient Totem Poles

The Japan current gives Alaska a summer climate like England's.

You scan the mighty peaks sparkling with ice diamonds in the glorious sunshine—the forest cathedrals fill you with a vibrant joy of living—fields of wild flowers tempt you to pluck armfuls of blossoms.

You go most comfortably on Canadian Pacific steamers threading 1,000 miles of protected passage, past mystic fjords, peaks rising sheer from the water's edge, and outpost towns which celebrate each steamer's coming.
